"Harley-

" SIR, Harley-ſtreet, 4th March, 1795.

" I had the honour to receive your favour of the 20th of December, incloſing the reſolution of the aſſembly of the 12th of the ſaid month, directing you to tranſmit to me, in the moſt acceptable manner, their unanimous thanks for my long and faithful ſervices as agent, through a period of thirty years; during which time, they do me the honour to ſay, that I diſplayed great zeal and attention to the general welfare of the country; and alſo their further thanks for my having liberally advanced, on proper occaſions, my private funds for the public uſe.

" You, my good ſir, have done more than your duty, by the very agreeable and moſt friendly mode in which you have executed the commands of the aſſembly. Conſcious of an attempt out of the power of words, I fly to you, as my only refuge, moſt earneſtly begging of you to make my thanks as acceptable to the aſſembly as you made theirs to me. I am alſo ſtill further to thank the aſſembly, for the preſent of a piece of plate of five hundred guineas value; which is made ſtill more acceptable, by their unanimous reſolution declaring, that they preſent it as a teſtimony of the high eſtimation they entertain for my long and faithful ſervices during the time I have been their agent. This ineſtimable preſent demands my warmeſt and beſt acknowledgments: But you may venture to aſſure the aſſembly, that the reſolution directed to be tranſmitted by you is dearer to me than thouſands of gold and ſilver: It has ſecured my good fame upon a ſolid foundation, and immortalized my name in the annals of Jamaica; and will do the ſame in the annals of my native country, as I have determined that a copy of it ſhall enliven the walls of the gloomy manſions of my anceſtors, in order to excite thoſe that come after me to be thus diſtinguiſhed, and, as the great lyric poet happily ſays, ſumere ſuperbiam quæſitam meritis.

" You, my good ſir, may be as profuſe as you pleaſe in my thanks to the aſſembly, without the poſſibility of exhauſting what is due to yourſelf.

" I have the honour to be, with no ſmall degree of eſteem, SIR,

" Your moſt obliged and moſt obedient humble ſervant,

" STEPHEN FULLER.

" Honourable William Blake, ſpeaker of the aſſembly, Jamaica."

Ordered, That the ſame do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

Mr. Speaker reported, that the houſe had attended his honour the lieutenant-governor in the council-chamber; and that his honour was pleaſed to make a ſpeech; of which, Mr. Speaker ſaid, he had, to prevent miſtakes, obtained a copy; and the ſame being read, was ordered to be entered, and is as follows:

" GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL,

" MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

" The urgency of public affairs has put me under the neceſſity of calling you together at a very early ſeaſon of the year.

" The unfortunate inſurrection which has taken place among the maroons of Trelawny-Town is the immediate cauſe of my now aſſembling you.

" Theſe inſurgents have committed the moſt daring acts of unprovoked rebellion.

" I have every reaſon to believe, that hoſtility has long been premeditated, and at the inſtigation of the convention of France; whoſe object it undoubtedly is, to throw this iſland into a ſtate of anarchy and confuſion.

" I have ordered the ſeveral documents to be laid before you: The evidence contained marks, in a ſtrong manner, the deſigns, the progreſs, and the expectations of the enemy, in fomenting internal commotion.

" By the bleſſing of Providence, this conſpiracy has been fruſtrated before it had ripened into maturity.

" Their plan of raiſing a rebellion might have produced a co-operation of the moſt dangerous tendency, and the early intimation we have obtained thereof is truly fortunate.

" The precipitate and inſolent conduct of the rebels gave me the advantage of acting with celerity and vigour; for, had I permitted them to gain time, and to manage the war according to their arrangements and thoſe of their ſupporters, this iſland would have been undone, and the inhabitants muſt have ſubmitted to a dominion ſimilar to that now exerciſed in ſeveral of the windward iſlands.

" The valour and conduct of his majeſty's forces have ſecured every advantage that could be attained by regular manœuvres.

" The troops now occupy a chain of poſts through the maroon diſtrict; they have ſtormed and carried their country; they have diſpoſſeſſed them of their towns, and have driven them to faſtneſſes rugged and barren, where they can ſubſiſt only as a band of robbers.

" The inſurrection has now aſſumed, in ſome degree, the form of a local diſturbance; and it will deſerve your moſt ſerious conſideration, whether ſtatutes may be ſo framed or amended as to put proper and efficient power into the hands of government, without ſubjecting the country to the ſerious inconveniences that reſult from the declaration of martial law.

" MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

" I have to lament the heavy expence incurred in conſequence of the meaſures I have been obliged to adopt: But as you have witneſſed the neceſſity of ſtriking at the root of the rebellion, ſo I truſt you will grant ſuch ſupplies as, in your wiſdom, the exigency of the ſervice may require.

" GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL,

" MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

" When you reflect, that the principles of the preſent rulers of France are to overturn every ſyſtem of government founded on ſocial order, morality, and religion, you will be aware that a degree of danger reſults to you, from the general proſperity hitherto enjoyed by this happy iſland: This they will endeavour to deſtroy, and this, I truſt, your energy and unanimity will maintain.

" Great vigilance is required, at this moment, to guard againſt the admiſſion of their dangerous ſyſtems; and every effort is neceſſary to reſiſt their pernicious conſequences, wherever they may appear.

" It is with thoſe maxims that I have entered upon the adminiſtration of Jamaica, and I now meet you with the avowal of thoſe ſentiments.

" It gives me the higheſt ſatisfaction to obſerve the ſteadineſs, the diſcipline, and the alacrity alacrity of the militia. It is with every confidence I have aſſured his majeſty, that in them he is poſſeſſed of a force which, I am decidedly of opinion, will be found equally capable of being preſented with effect to an external or an internal enemy.

" The glorious and important victory gained by lord Bridport, and the recent advantages obtained by his majeſty's fleets, aſſuredly leſſen the impending danger to this iſland; and the general aſpect of affairs, in the interior of France, may fairly lead our hopes to an honourable termination of the preſent war.

" In calling to your recollection the many bleſſings which we have enjoyed under the illuſtrious houſe of Hanover, you will receive with every ſentiment of joy the accounts of the ſolemnization of the marriage of his royal highneſs the prince of Wales with the princeſs Caroline of Brunſwick; and I congratulate you on an event ſo intereſting to his majeſty's domeſtic happineſs, and to the welfare of his people."

A motion being made, that a committee be appointed to prepare an humble addreſs to his honour the lieutenant-governor, for his ſpeech at the opening of the ſeſſion;

Ordered, That Mr. Chief-Juſtice, Mr. Barrett, Mr. Batty, Mr. Shirley, and Mr. Cuthbert, be a committee for that purpoſe:

Ordered, That five be a quorum; that they ſit Tueſdays and Thurſdays, in the houſe; that they have power to ſend for perſons, papers, and records; and to examine all perſons that ſhall come before them in the moſt ſolemn manner.

The following members are appointed a committee of grievances:

Ordered, That the clerk appointed by the commiſſioners of correſpondence do forthwith ſend unto the houſe all books, papers, and writings, now in his cuſtody, belonging to the ſaid commiſſioners.

Letter from the magiſtrates of St. James to his honour the lieutenant-governor.

" My lord, Montego-Bay, 18 July, 1795.

" We are ſorry to inform your lordſhip, that a very ſerious diſturbance is likely to break out immediately with the maroons of Trelawny-Town. They have obliged their ſuperintendant to quit the town; they have threatened the deſtruction of the two plantations neareſt them, and of all the white people on them; all the people belonging to the town have been called in; the women are ſent into the woods, and, between this and Monday, they propoſe to kill their cattle and their children who may be an incumbrance. The chief of this we have in evidence from various individuals; but, for the information of your lordſhip, we incloſe the laſt letter from the ſuperintendant. Since this letter was written, the letter from the magiſtrates to them, in anſwer to a propoſal they made, was ſent them, and we expect an anſwer this morning to it; but your lordſhip muſt well know the difficulty of quelling ſuch a body of men, after they have once committed themſelves, and their ſpirits roufed.

" We have diſpatched a letter to general Palmer, to call out the troop; and colonel James has ordered out two companies of militia, for the immediate protection of the plantations in the neighbourhood, and we hope the next intelligence will render unneceſſary calling out the reſt.

" Mr. Vaughan alſo informs us, he has ſent an expreſs to colonel Swaby, cuſtos of St. Elizabeth, to have the militia in readineſs for action, and to inform the neighbouring pariſhes on the ſouth ſide; and has given the ſame intelligence to the cuſtos of Trelawny.

" We beg leave to ſuggeſt to your lordſhip's conſideration, the propriety of a company of the light horſe being ſent on each ſide of the country, in caſe the militia are generally called out, to overawe the negroes during the abſence of the militia, or for any other neceſſary duty.

" The immediate cauſe of this diſturbance was the inflicting the puniſhment of flogging on two maroons, who had been convicted, by the evidence of two white people, of killing tame hogs.

" Since writing the above, Mr. Schaw, inhabiting their boundaries, has informed us, that they expect this day to be joined by Accompong-Town; but they have delayed their attack till to-morrow or Monday, when it will be by two parties, one on each parish; and that they expect to be joined by some negroes of some particular estates.

" We have the honour to be, MY LORD,

" Your lordship's most obedient humble servants,

WM. DUNCAN,	J. ROBT. JAMES,
GEO. M'LENAN,	JOHN PERRY,
SAM. VAUGHAN junior,	MACLAURIN GILLIES,
DON. CAMPBELL.	JOHN INGRAM,

" P. S. We are in want, as the custos formerly advised, of both arms and ammunition.

" Right honourable earl Balcarres, &c. &c. &c."

Proposals of the magistrates of St. James to the maroons of Trelawny-Town.

" The magistrates of St. James's propose to send four of the oldest justices, to meet four chosen maroons, at Vaughansfield or Haddington, to-morrow, to settle all differences.

DON. CAMPBELL,

" Saturday, 18th July, 1795. JOHN PERRY.

" The four magistrates will be general Reid, colonel James, Mr. Mowat, and Mr. Cunningham, if it is possible to find them, or else others."

No. 3.

Answer of the maroons to the proposals of the magistrates of St. James.

" GENTLEMEN,

" The maroons wishes nothing else from the country but battle; and they desires not to see Mr. Craskell up here at all. So they are waiting every moment for the above on Monday.

" COLONEL MOUNTAGUE, and all the rest.

" Mr. David Schaw will see you on Sunday morning, for an answer.

" They will wait till Monday, nine o'clock; and if they don't come up, they will come down themselves."

No. 4.

Letter from John Merody, assistant in Trelawny maroon town, to Thomas Craskell, esquire, the superintendant.

" Trelawny-Town, July 19th.

" The maroons inform you, that they do not want any thing, for they have got plenty of powder and ball; for it is too late to do any thing that is good. They have received an answer from the bay, by Mr. David Schaw, and he has taken all the business upon himself; for there will be four magistrates from the bay to-day, at Mr. Schaw's property; they do not want any more letters from you, except it is from the bay.

" They have stopped me up here, as you did not let me know before you went away; but I suppose they will let me go on Monday; for they are very severe with me.

" JOHN MERODY.

" Thomas Craskell, esquire."

No. 5.

Letter from Thomas Craskell, esquire, superintendant of Trelawny maroon town, to Samuel Vaughan, esquire, one of the magistrates of St. James.

" SIR, Vaughansfield, 17th July, 1795, nine o'clock.

" Your letter of the 16th I received just this moment, inclosing one from the magistrates.

I am

I am ſorry it will not have the deſired effect: The maroons, to the amount of thirty-nine, headed by their officers, came to tell me this morning, that I muſt ſend and acquaint the whites, that they were ready for them, and that thoſe who came to me in behalf of the delinquents were fools; that I muſt not return to the town; and further, if the whites did not come to them, they would come down here to-morrow evening or Sunday. I ſhould be very happy could this buſineſs be amicably ſettled; but am ſorry to ſay, I think it impoſſible, after what has happened. I beg you will make my excuſe to the magiſtrates, not anſwering their letter; but am of opinion, no time ſhould be loſt. Although very unwell, I beg leave to offer my ſervices upon every occaſion where it is thought neceſſary. I have wrote Mr Tharp, that the maroons were quiet; as I ſhall have no way of ſending to him, I beg you will take the trouble. There are ſeveral maroons now at Martha-Brae.

"I am, with reſpect, SIR,

"Your very obedient ſervant,

"THO. CRASKELL.

"I am at preſent without a horſe, or ſhould have been with you.

"Sam. Vaughan, eſquire."

No. 6.

Letter from James Stewart, eſquire, one of the magiſtrates of Trelawny, to his honour the lieutenant-governor.

"I am directed to inform your honour, that in conſequence of ſeveral letters received on Saturday laſt from the cuſtos and magiſtrates of St. James's, apprizing this pariſh of a rebellious diſpoſition of the maroons being diſcovered, the militia of Trelawny were collected in as numerous a body as the ſhort notice given them to prepare for ſervice would allow of; and that they proceeded from the town of Falmouth yeſterday morning to Mr. Atherton's penn, which is diſtant about three miles from the maroon town, where they arrived about two o'clock in the afternoon. Shortly after, a maroon, carrying his lance, came down with a letter, which he delivered to the cuſtos, Mr. Tharp. The purport of it required the attendance of the following gentlemen; viz. the honourable John Tharp, Jarvis Gallimore, Edward Knowles, James Galloway, eſquires, and myſelf. We accordingly put off our regimentals, and went up to their town; where we found major John James, their former ſuperintendant, general Reid, and John Mowat, eſquire; who had gone up previouſly to confer with them. The maroons, collected in a body of about three hundred men, received us, armed with their uſual weapons, and diſplayed at our entrance into the town evolutions peculiar to their mode of fighting. The gentlemen, firſt with them, had mitigated much of their rage; but yet their countenances and manners indicated a ſpirit of violence, which was ſtrongly expreſſed by the language and geſtures employed in the detail of grievances, which I have incloſed to you. Other matters were alledged by them as grievances; which they were induced to relinquiſh, on condition that the gentlemen preſent would conſider themſelves pledged to obtain redreſs for what was ſpecified in the ſtatement. But at the ſame time ſhewing a firmneſs of determination to purſue their object, if their claims were not to be granted. Under ſuch circumſtances, little time could be afforded for deliberation. We therefore thought it, at the inſtant, not bad policy to appeaſe them by a promiſe, that their cauſes of complaint ſhould be enquired into by the legiſlature, in order that they might be redreſſed, with which dependance they appeared ſatisfied; but would not by any means conſent to Mr. Craſkell's return to his office, and inſiſted that major James ſhould remain with them all night, which he agreed to do.

"They were acquainted with the intended meeting of the houſe of aſſembly early in the next month; when they depend their complaints will be attended to.

"Seeing an appearance of ſatisfaction amongſt them, we quitted the town about ſix o'clock o'clock in the evening, and returned to the militia, remaining at Mr. Atherton's penn, which was immediately diſcharged, by order of the colonel (ſcil). We have had no intelligence from the town this morning; therefore I ſuppoſe they will continue quiet; this is but my own opinion, as alarms ſtill exiſt in the minds of people.

" I have the honour to be,

" Your lordſhip's reſpectful humble ſervant,

" JAMES STEWART,

" Right honourable earl Balcarres, &c. &c. &c. Trelawny, Monday, 20 July, 1795.

' State of grievances complained of by the maroons of Trelawny-Town, made this 19th of July, 1795, before the honourable John Tharp, James Stewart, general Reid, John Mowat, Jarvis Gallimore, Edward Knowles, and James Galloway, eſquires; who went to the ſaid town, in conſequence of a letter ſent to convey the wiſh of the maroons to have a conference with them.

' 1. They complain of certain ill treatment ſuffered by two of their young men, by a whipping inflicted on them at Montego-Bay by the hands of a ſlave (ordered by magiſtrates); which they ſay is an infringement of the treaty.

' 2. That the lands granted them originally by the country for their ſubſiſtence, being worn out by long and repeated productions, are not ſufficient to afford the proviſions neceſſary for their ſupport; they therefore claim from the iſland an additional quantity of land, and ſay, that the adjoining lands, the properties of meſſieurs Vaughan and David Schaw, would ſuit them; and alſo, the lands commonly called and known by the name of Crews, now Robert Kenyon, would be convenient to them.

' 3. They complain againſt the conduct of captain Thomas Craſkell, the ſuperintendant appointed to regulate the maroon town; and ſay, that he is not qualified to diſcharge the neceſſary duties of the office; for when the young men quarrel and fight, inſtead of interfering with his authority to adjuſt their differences, he appears frightened, and runs to his houſe for ſafety; and as they have experienced the diſpoſition and abilities of captain John James (their late ſuperintendant), they are deſirous of his re-appointment to the office, and are adverſe to the appointment of any other perſon."

" MY LORD, Montego-Bay, 21 July, 1795.

" There has been a meeting held here, to receive the report of the gentlemen who went, at the deſire of the magiſtrates of this pariſh, to hear the complaints of the maroons, and to endeavour to ſettle the differences ſubſiſting between them and the white people.

" From their verbal report it appears, that three things are neceſſary to quiet the maroons; which are as follows:

' That the laſt law ſhould be altered, in reſpect to the puniſhment of public whipping:

' That their ſuperintendant ſhould be removed, and Mr. James, their former ſuperintendant, or one of his ſons, be appointed in his place:

' That an addition of three hundred acres be made to their land.'

" The gentlemen aſſembled on this occaſion, both of this pariſh and Trelawny, are of opinion, that ſuch requeſts ſhould be complied with by your lordſhip in part, and by the recommendation of your lordſhip for that part which depends on the legiſlature, for the preſent peace of the country; leaving it to the time of a general peace for ſome plan and meaſures to be purſued, which will, in future, ſecure the country from alarm or damage from this body of people.

" It was the ſenſe alſo of this meeting, that I ſhould recommend to your lordſhip the juſtice and propriety of a ſuitable proviſion being made for captain Craſkell, whom it may appear neceſſary to your lordſhip to remove, for the peace of the country; as it does not appear that he has been deficient in his duty, and as the only motive for his removal is to compl , in this inſtan e, with a prejudice which circumſtances have lately given riſe to, without an imputation l ing againſt his o ficial capaci y.

" We have juſt received your lordſhip's favour, informing us, that three troops of light horſe were ordered to proceed here. I am deſired by the gentlemen aſſembled at this meeting to make their beſt acknowledgments to your lordſhip, for the immediate attention your lordſhip paid to the repreſentations from this pariſh.

" MY LORD, Montego-Bay, 23d July, 1795.

" News having arrived from the interior of the country, that the maroons are ſtill in doubts of the peaceable intent of the whites, declaring that we are only delaying the buſineſs in order to collect force; we therefore recommend your lordſhip to re-appoint, with as little delay as poſſible, major James, or his ſon, to the ſtation of ſuperintendant. At the ſame time, as ſome individuals among this body, we are informed, are preſuming on the meaſures that we have entered into reſpecting them, we beg leave to ſuggeſt to your lordſhip's conſideration, the neceſſity of giving the ſuperintendant the ſtrongeſt injunctions to curb the refractory ſpirits among them, to encourage their communication as uſual with us, but in particular to make them ſenſible, that they are, as formerly, amenable to the laws and magiſtracy of the country, and to caution them againſt their committing offences againſt them. After theſe reports, we hope your lordſhip will ſee the neceſſity of retaining the light dragoons till theſe affairs are perfectly ſettled.

" From a moſt unfortunate circumſtance, the packet prepared for the poſt, for your lordſhip's information on this buſineſs, has been detained: I have now the honour to forward it.

" With great conſideration, I have the honour to be, MY LORD,

" Your lordſhip's moſt obedient and moſt humble ſervant,

" MY LORD, Negril by South, 25th July, 1795.

" The hurry and buſtle of the late diſturbance in Trelawny-Town, occupied by the maroons, prevented me from the honour of addreſſing your lordſhip earlier on the ſubject; and although I avail myſelf of this late opportunity, I truſt it will receive your lordſhip's excuſe.

" From ſome improper conduct of the magiſtrates of St. James's, and a few trifling cauſes of diſcontent, the maroons were actually in a ſtate of rebellion; and I am confident, however light it might appear to ſome, that hoſtilities would have commenced, on their part, as on Monday laſt. Their preſent ſuperintendant, captain Craſkell, they have turned out of the town; and indeed I believe, from what I underſtand, that he is a very unfit perſon for that office, as they require and love a man of undaunted courage, and one that will make them ſenſible of it when occaſion requires. Major James, their former ſuperintendant, is their idol; and nothing leſs than his re-appointment will ſatisfy them. He (major James) went alone laſt Sunday, and got them to name ſuch as they wiſhed to ſee at their town: I was one; and upon my arrival I found them in every reſpect prepared for hoſtilities. As Mr. Stewart, whom we deputed to give your lordſhip the particulars of this event, has already done ſo, a repetition here will be unneceſſary: But we judged at this period, when our long-boats are daily captured by the French privateers, compoſed of motly crews, that, if an account of hoſtilities were known, it would be a fine opportunity for the brigands to have executed their favourite plan of univerſal deſtruction to Britiſh property; and therefore we judged it highly proper to temporize with them, particularly as their claims were not unreaſonable; although the number of maroons that may not exceed three hundred, yet the faſtneſſes they poſſeſs, and the command of all the mountain proviſions, with the aid they could at pleaſure receive from our ſlaves, were forcible cauſes for taking upon us to recommend an accompliſhment of their demands; and I hope that your lordſhip will feel the neceſſity of our acquieſcence. To-morrow I ſhall depart with the fleet from this place; but I could not do ſo without doing what I conceived to be my duty, and without aſſuring your lordſhip that I am, MY LORD,

" DEAR SIR, Adelphi, 26th July, 1795.

" Mr. Vaughan and myſelf being in the habit of providing alternately meſſengers to carry public diſpatches, and this being my turn, he has juſt now ſent me the incloſed letter, to be forwarded to you, which he has left open for my peruſal, and deſired me to add any thing material that may have reached me ſince we parted laſt night relative to the maroons.

" As it muſt ſtrike you, that the information Mr. Vaughan mentions, of three maroons being in queſt of captain Craſkell, with intent to aſſaſſinate him, is totally repugnant to the other accounts of the preſent peaceable appearance of the maroons; and if the former be true, the latter muſt be fallacious, and the behaviour of that people deceptious; I think it may be proper to add, that Mr. Love, whom Mr. Vaughan mentions as the author of the information, reſides with his wife and ſeven children upon a mountain contiguous to my penn, called Summer-Hill, which joins the maroon lands; which affords me opportunity of knowing his (Love's) character: He is an ignorant credulous babbling creature, on whoſe report no confidence can be placed. There is, I believe, no doubt that the maroons did, in the commencement of this diſturbance, menace both Mr. Vaughan and captain Craſkell; which Love, I ſuppoſe, has learned, and endeavoured to make a merit of communicating what we knew ſix days ſince.

" Upon the whole, this cloud ſeems diſperſing, without producing the ſtorm it once threatened: Nevertheleſs, it merits the ſerious attention of government; we live amongſt ſtubble, fully dry, and a few incendiaries might eaſily put it in a blaze: The example thoſe people have juſt now ſet our negroes is dangerous in the extreme; and that they had evil intentions in the beginning, I fear is too true; for though the flogging two of their people is made the oſtenſible reaſon of their taking up arms, it is certain that they had exhibited great turbulence, and dropped menaces, a week previous to that puniſhment being inflicted on the two delinquents. However, it ſeems to me, that very material advantages may be derived to the public from this occaſion, if it be availed of; and that proviſion may be made for our future ſecurity, in a way that ſhall ſeem to be gracious conceſſions on our part, and favours to the maroons. It is better that government ſhould have the trouble of peruſing many unimportant papers, than that it ſhould miſs of one ſalutary ſuggeſtion: I will put down my ideas on this ſubject, and take the liberty of troubling you with them by poſt.

"DEAR SIR, Montego-Bay, 26th July, 1795.

"The affair of the maroons is of so much consequence to the country, that it deserves a little pains to be taken to obtain a perfect knowledge of it, and to settle it. This letter then would require little apology, if it did not even serve as a continuation to my former correspondence on this subject.

"My last letter, sent three days since in the dispatches to lord Balcarres, which I suppose you received, contained a mixture of pleasant and unpleasant accounts: The present one will consist chiefly of the first, and present almost the happy close of this disagreeable business.

"The white man who refused meat to the maroons, in a second representation, tells me, the maroons desired him to call the driver to flog them, when he blamed their impertinence; and that he simply said, he would make a complaint to their colonel and major James. Lieutenant Bernard, who was the particular person who offended, has since been to the white man, and made an apology, giving as an excuse, that he had taken too much rum.

"I have since sent the overseer of Vaughansfield to the town: He says, the people are very peaceable; and as their late superintendant is removed, they are very well satisfied, if they are let alone. The accounts which may come from Mr. James, I dare say, will corroborate this account.

"The letters from colonel Swaby of St. Elizabeth, and captain Forbes of Accompong-Town, give the best accounts of the fidelity of the Accompong negroes, who are to renew their compact with the whites next Tuesday; when all the younger are to be baptized: They have acted entirely by captain Forbes's advice and directions.

"On the other hand are only these two reports, one from a Mr. Love, who has the care of a plantation in the neighbourhood, that three maroons are now in search for captain Craskell, with intent to kill him; the other comes from one of Vaughansfield negroes, who desires I would not go up there, as the maroons threaten my life. I do not place any confidence in either report; but shall inform Mr. James of them. I have written to our agent by the fleet, giving him a short view of the whole, to satisfy all concerned with this country at home, and to give him the latest accounts.

Letter from Thomas Craskell, esquire, superintendant of Trelawny maroon town, to his honour the lieutenant-governor.

"MY LORD, Montego-Bay, 21st July, 1795.

"Your lordship will have been informed of the disturbances that have lately taken place amongst the maroons of Trelawny-Town, from the magistrates of this parish and from Trelawny. I took every step in my power to prevent its rising to so serious a point, offering my mediation between them and the whites; and thought I had obtained my object, by receiving their solicitation for a compromise, and a proposal to punish the delinquents themselves. Previous, however, to the answer of the magistrates, thirty-nine waited on me, and told me to go to the whites, and to tell them, they were ready to receive them; at the same time, I must not return to the town. As they were perfectly sober at this time, and as many were present in this body of those who had desired an accommodation, I am inclined to believe, lieve, the propoſal for accommodation was ſimply on their part to gain time, to prepare themſelves for the whites. At this notice, I immediately went to Vaughansfield, an adjoining plantation, and ſent an expreſs to the magiſtrates below, informing them of the circumſtance, in order that we might have time to prepare for any attack on their part. I received, on my arrival at Vaughansfield, an anſwer from the magiſtrates, accepting the accommodation propoſed; and I then wrote up to the maroon town, and at the ſame time ſent this letter of the magiſtrates, deſiring the colonel would either himſelf come to me at Vaughansfield penn, or ſend an intelligent officer that I might talk over the buſineſs, and promiſed he ſhould not be detained; which they did not think proper to comply with, but wrote me in anſwer, "that they would ſend one of their people to me on Sunday the 19th, for the anſwer from the magiſtrates to a challenge they now ſent; adding, if they got none by the 20th at nine o'clock, they would (if the whites did not come to them) go and meet them themſelves." I waited at Vaughansfield till the 19th, that the maroons might not ſuſpect that ſteps were taking to ſuppreſs them; but on that day (as Mr. Vaughan had wrote up to his overſeer to leave the property, and to take along with him the negroes), I thought it prudent to retire below; but previouſly wrote to the maroon colonel, that I had left it to go to the bay, to procure an accommodation for them, and ſhould return in two days. This I did alſo with a view to gain further time, being ſenſible they had collected already their ſtrength. Your lordſhip will have been informed of the further proceedings from the magiſtrates. I have only to requeſt of your lordſhip to order a court of enquiry upon myſelf, that, as an officer, my character and conduct in this buſineſs may be cleared up. I have been preſent this day at a meeting of the gentlemen of this pariſh, on this affair; and remark their recommendation to your lordſhip that I ſhould be removed. I ſhould be far from wiſhing, on any occaſion, to interfere with the general peace of the country; and if the meaſure of my removal would render the maroons a leſs troubleſome body and a leſs dangerous one, by complying with their wiſhes I ſhall moſt cheerfully acquieſce in it: But as I have undertaken this line as a means of livelihood; as I left former connections to enter into it; and as I loſt the opportunity of getting into the light horſe, with thoſe additional lieutenants who were promoted to it in 1793, to which I was entitled by being a half-pay lieutenant, in conſequence of my holding the ſtation in the maroon town; I hope your lordſhip, if my conduct has been (as I truſt it will be found to be the caſe) unexceptionable, will afford me ſome other means of employing myſelf in his majeſty's ſervice, in which I have now been fifteen years a lieutenant, and was on ſervice at St. Juan's on the Spaniſh main, and in this iſland a great part of the laſt war.

No. 13.

Letter from Samuel Vaughan, eſquire, to Lewis Cuthbert, eſquire.

"DEAR SIR, Montego-Bay, 28th July, 1795.

"I do not know the contents of the diſpatches from Trelawny, but am perſuaded thoſe from this pariſh were with every conſideration of the prerogative of the governor, with whom every thing muſt originate in reſpect to the maroons.

"There is no private hiſtory in the buſineſs, to occaſion meaſures different from what might be thought proper in town. An accommodation with them was made, becauſe we have no military force to act on the inſtant; time was requiſite to collect the militia; there was an uncertainty whether negroes might not be connected with them; the co-operation of the other maroon towns, particularly of Accompong-Town, was expected; the nature of their warfare was dreaded, as alſo the effect a diſturbance would have on the credit of this country among the monied men at home. Theſe are the motives that induce the landed intereſt intereſt and great proprietors here to wiſh for an accommodation; and when they found it was attainable, by ſuch trifling ſacrifices as have been recommended to be granted, they did not heſitate to ſanction them.

" The mode that was adopted to quiet the maroons was unqueſtionably the very beſt. There is a reſpectability (if I be allowed to uſe the expreſſion) preſerved by this town, unknown in the other ſmaller ones; and the ſpirit of their treaty and inſtitution is with far greater purity kept up, and the old men have a very extenſive influence over the body in general. Theſe two points, joined to the influence poſſeſſed by the landed proprietors, by means of the heads of the town (who generally adopt their names, and receive occaſional benefits from them, which attaches them to theſe particular perſons), rendered the latter the fitteſt means of becoming acquainted with the cauſes of their diſſatisfaction; and they were alſo better enabled to ſtop it, than a court of juſtice or an armed force. The gentlemen went up as friends and mediators, and were conſidered as ſuch; nothing was pledged but recommendation; which of courſe leaves the terms open, either to rejection or modification, as may be thought proper by the executive.

" The language made uſe of at this conference by the maroons further points out the propriety of it: For inſtance; " You are our tattas, we your children; our ſituation and ſuperiority we have in this country we have from our connection with you; but when we do the duty required of us for theſe advantages, do not ſubject us to inſult and humiliation by the very people whom we are ſet in oppoſition to." They then related to us the triumph and language of the workhouſe people who flogged them, and whom they had previouſly taken up and lodged for puniſhment in the workhouſe; and who, of courſe, made uſe of ſuch an opportunity to revenge themſelves on the maroons.

" Had the gentlemen known, that the Accompong negroes would not join; that they were unconnected with the negroes; that, on the contrary, the negroes would, on the ſmall plantations near the town, and generally in the low lands, evince the ſpirit of oppoſition they did, even for their complete extirpation; had they known (as I fancy will turn out to be the caſe) that the town itſelf was divided, the milder and more numerous part being kept in awe by the ſmaller and more violent; yet ſtill they would, in my opinion, have made the recommendation, in order to avert hoſtilities, which would have been attended with far worſe conſequences to the country, than the immediate damage they might have occaſioned. I have, in my former letters, mentioned the accommodation to be contrary to the ſentiments of the middling claſſes of this town, and the negroes; but ſtill you muſt regard it to be that of the great landed proprietors, who muſt be ſuppoſed to underſtand what is moſt likely to maintain the peace and the intereſt of the country.

" The recommendation alſo is not unuſual; for, only three years ago, the pariſh of St. James recommended their complaints to the attention of government; and the late law was in part the conſequence of the ſuggeſtions then thrown out.

" The gentlemen, as I mentioned in a former letter, certainly forgot to require the puniſhment or delivery of the delinquents who were guilty of the riot at Montego-Bay: But this may be required by the governor, and any other ſatisfaction that may be thought neceſſary to reſtrain them in future, or to prevent alarm; and they are in ſo humiliating a condition (as major James repreſents), that there is nothing that may be required of them but what will be acceded to. One man is now in irons there, by his order, for an impertinent expreſſion; and the body of maroons have offered to ſacrifice him, rather than aggravate the preſent offence. To-morrow, major James ſays, ſome of their officers will be here, to make their ſubmiſſion. I have, however, juſt received meſſages from Vaughanſfield negroes, not to truſt myſelf there, on account of the threats of ſome of theſe people, who are conſtantly in ambuſh about it, with bad intentions againſt myſelf. This makes it clear, that whatever may be the ſentiment of the body, ſtill there are refractory diſcontented ſpirits, that require an example to reſtrain them, and to eſtabliſh the old dominion of law over them.

" I think it is neceſſary to mention to you, that, at the time the gentlemen went to the conference, the maroons had obliged captain Craſkell to quit the town, with the full determination never to admit him again. He laid at our penn till I received, and ſent him, intimation of his danger; and he only ſaved himſelf by about five hours from certain death, as our penn was attacked, as mentioned in a letter I ſent you, for that particular purpoſe. Major James, without the ſmalleſt intention of interfering with the executive, was deſired to remain among them, that he might, by his influence and preſence, prevent their being guilty of any overt act againſt the peace by them, till the buſineſs was arranged by the executive. I ſaw major James yeſterday, who mentioned that neither himſelf nor his ſon could accept of the appointment, under the preſent law of nine months reſidence.

" As a further motive for ſettling this affair without open hoſtility, I think it proper to inform you, that the negroes of ſeveral eſtates have, within theſe few days, made complaints againſt management, although belonging to eſtates that are underſtood to be managed with great clemency. I was on the bench to-day, with our cuſtos and another magiſtrate, when a complaint of this kind came from all the negroes at Content eſtate, in this pariſh. Mr. Barrett tells me he goes this evening to Anchovy-Bottom, to quiet a complaint of a ſimilar nature. Tryal negroes have done the ſame yeſterday; and the cuſtos has, within theſe few days, had four or five ſimilar applications. Whence does this ariſe, but from the times? and what check have we ſo effectual as the maroons?

" On examination it will be found, perhaps, that much ſhort of what you may conceive in town will check the maroons; and to check them is allowed on all hands as neceſſary. But in the conſideration of the buſineſs it ſhould be recollected, that, in the rebellion of 1766, the maroons brought in the head or the perſon of every ſlave in rebellion, in the ſpace of one month.

" The diſpatches dated the 23d, from lord Balcarres, are juſt delivered to me (two o'clock); and I have forwarded them, after peruſing that for the cuſtos and captain Craſkell. They are ſo late, that the cuſtos cannot anſwer this poſt; nor can captain Craſkell, or the maroons, be up by the 31ſt. It is thought proper, therefore, by the cuſtos (who is juſt deſiring me to mention it), that no interruption is thought proper to be made to the intention of the maroons coming down to-morrow; as ſomething may, in conſequence, ariſe favourable to the ſettlement of the buſineſs in town; nor is there time to ſtop them. Captain Craſkell is at Flamſtead. Our cuſtos will ſet out from here next Saturday for town; and about the time he arrives there, he ſuppoſes the maroons, with their ſuperintendant, will be able to be there. You will pleaſe to communicate this to his lordſhip, making the neceſſary apology for his orders not being ſo immediately complied with, and for the cuſtos not writing by this opportunity. If the diſpatches had come by the poſt, which came out of Spaniſh-Town after the meſſenger, they would have been twenty-ſeven hours earlier here, and all parties would have been on the bay. With this, I ſend you a copy of my letter to the agent, intended to prevent alarms in England, that might prejudice the credit of the country; in fact, to prevent bills being noted, that went by the packet, from falſe rumors. You may forward it by any opportunity.

" I remain, DEAR SIR,

If they get the better, then will be the time for us to come forward:" That further conversation passed; but the above was all this deponent could distinctly hear: That there appeared to be only two persons, and, from their dialect, either

" Says, That he belongs to Robert Linton, at Parnaſſus; that he has been run away two months; that after being taken up, he got away a ſecond time, and ſtaid with ——, a watchman belonging to the eſtate of Thomas Roberts; that in going to Spring-Mount, through the woods, he was taken up by three maroons, viz. captain James Palmer, John Wallace, and Quaco, on Friday the 7th inſtant, and was aſked by Palmer, if he would go with them to fight againſt the white people; that they took him with them into the woods between Samuells and Bandon; they remained there a week; that then Quaco and Palmer went with him in the night to Belvidere, alſo Wallace, who has a wife there, to get people to join them. Wallace went towards Seven-Rivers, and Palmer and Quaco with him (William) to Eden, through the woods, fearful of being ſtopped by the guard at Mount Pelier; that they went to a fellow belonging to Eden, called Harry; that Quaco aſked Harry if he would join them; Harry demanded, for what; Quaco anſwered, to fight againſt the white people; that he (Harry) heſitated, and Quaco told him, that they would kill all that would not join them, on which Harry conſented, but aſked if they would let him go and ſee his wife; Palmer and Quaco anſwered, they did not wiſh to ſtay long, leſt they ſhould be taken up; that Harry aſked, what they would do if the whites got the upper-hand; they anſwered, they did not intend to fight the whites immediately, until they ſaw how thoſe who are now engaged came on; that they had not ſufficient powder to begin, but were going about to ſee what they could get, and to get more people to join them; that they told Harry, if the whites got the better of thoſe who were now fighting, they could not get the better of thoſe who were to join them. He ſays, when he was taken, Palmer gave him three cuts on the wriſt, and caught the blood in a calabaſh, intending to make him drink it the next noon, and ſwear not to return to his maſter, but to go about to get people to join them; that James Palmer is not among the maroons engaged, but belongs to the party who took him; that they ſtay in a cave in the woods, aback of Brandon, and near Samuells's. He promiſes, on condition of forgiveneſs, to diſcover the different haunts of this party, and ſeems willing to have his life at ſtake on the reſult."

Letter from the cuſtos of Trelawny to Samuel Vaughan, eſquire, one of the magiſtrates of St. James.

" DEAR SIR,

" I am this moment honoured with your packet, and wiſh I could return a more favourable report to its contents. The maroons appear to be meditating of miſchief; and unleſs they are dealt with very politically, they will, in my opinion, bring on ſimilar evils to thoſe of St. Domingo, or the other windward iſlands. One of the well-inclined was here yeſterday, my name ſake; and he aſſured me, all the young people were ripe for any thing, but exclaimed very much againſt the preſent ſuperintendant, and declared, that, unleſs he was removed, evils would enſue. It has been reported here, that the maroons have declared, that if the brigands come down they would inſtantly join them; for that they could not be worſe than the white people wiſhed to make them. This I do not doubt myſelf; but am ſatisfied we ſhould carefully avoid the evil day, and not precipitate it; for the influence of the maroons with our negroes muſt produce certain ruin to all of us.

" I am on the eve of departure, the ſhips going out on Thurſday morning; but as I mean to ſpend Sunday next with my friend Mr. Palmer, either at Roſe-Hall or Brandon-Hill, I ſhould be happy we could meet there, and talk over this buſineſs. In the mean time, I will take ſteps to prohibit the ſale of powder, &c. to the maroons, from the ſtorekeepers at Falmouth, in ſuch a manner as ſhall be moſt private, and without giving ſuſpicion of any cauſe for ſo doing.

" I am, with much reſpect, DEAR SIR,

" Good Hope, Monday morning, 13 July, 1795. JOHN THARP.

An examination taken before the honourable George Murray, cuſtos of the pariſh of Weſtmorland; John Lewis, one of the repreſentatives of the ſaid pariſh; James Lawrence, colonel of the ſaid pariſh; Thomas Barker, lieutenant-colonel; William Loch, major; and David Finlayſon, one of the magiſtrates of the ſaid pariſh.

" Abraham, a negro man, belonging to the Bog eſtate, in the ſaid pariſh, declares, that, on the Auguſt, he was with Quaſhie, King, Aberdeen, and another negro, at work in the woods, ſplitting ſhingles: That three maroons, named Johnſon, Brown, and Cuffee Leſlie, came to them, and ordered them to deſiſt from work, and go with them: They remonſtrated; but the maroons aſked, if they did not know there was a quarrel with the backra's and maroons; that backra had ſpoiled the country; and they muſt go with them, and when they had got the better of the backra's (white people), they ſhould live very eaſy, and ſhould have their freedom: However, they perſiſted; but the maroons declared, they would cut off their heads, and were armed with gun, lance, cutlaſs, and knives: That they (the negroes) were carried unto the deep wood, and were told, they were going to the maroon town: At night they were tired, ſtruck fire, and roaſted victuals, and then went to ſleep. Quaſhie, King, and Abraham, availed themſelves of their being aſleep, and ran away, returning immediately to the eſtate, and ſurrendering themſelves to the overſeer. Iſaac, brother to the others, was alſo taken by them, but not at the ſame time: His evidence differing very materially from the others, and ſome circumſtances appearing ſuſpicious, he was, from great caution, committed to gaol. The four firſt coincided exactly in the ſame ſtory, and, by appearance and conſiſtency, with advice from the magiſtrates, and promiſes of reward to take up the maroons, were ſent home.

" A negro named Aberdeen was taken away, and is not returned.

" MY LORD,

" You will permit me to apologize for this rough examination, taken before me and others; but as it was your lordſhip's particular wiſh to receive it, and truſt to my memory, I have written it out, and ſhewed it to Mr. Murray, who acquieſces to the ſubſtance of the evidence, and believes it true.

" I have the honour to be, MY LORD, with very great reſpect,

" Your lordſhip's moſt obedient ſervant,

" JOHN LEWIS."

" There is no news here but what you have in Jamaica ere this reaches you. General ———— a mulatto, in St. Domingo, declared to a gentleman who lodges in this houſe, and often dined with him, that the cap of liberty would be put up in Jamaica this ſummer: So keep a good look-out among you."

The declaration and examination of Jean Joſef Moranſon; taken the 28*th Auguſt*, 1795.

" I left France ſome time in the month of April, 1794, bound for Jacmel: I was the bearer of papers which citizen Tallien, one of the principal repreſentatives of the people, had delivered to me for the commandant of the diſtrict of Jacmel. At that ſame time, three Frenchmen, entruſted with a ſecret miſſion to Polverel and Santhonax, ſailed from France: One of theſe three was taken in a veſſel which paſſed for a Dane, and brought to Jamaica about fifteen months ago. I arrived at New-York in all the month of July, from whence I went to Philadelphia, to ſee citizen Fauchet, the miniſter plenipotentiary for the republic, with whom I had been intimate at Paris. I informed him that I was going, reſpecting the property of my wife, to Jacmel, and that I was the bearer of a packet for the commandant of that place; which papers I left with him until the time I ſhould depart for Jacmel. I remained three days at the houſe of citizen Fauchet; during which time we always ſpoke of affairs of politics: His attachment to me induced him to impart with me matters of the utmoſt conſequence, particularly what concerned Jamaica. I went then to join my wife at New-York, after having aſked of citizen Fauchet to procure me a direct opportunity for Jacmel. At New-York, I enquired for veſſels to execute my voyage; but the want of ſuch an opportunity, together with the terror which had been inſpired to me reſpecting Hiſpaniola, induced me to return to citizen Fauchet, and begged of him to find out ſome pretence to ſend the papers I had left with him, telling him, I would not expoſe myſelf by going to a place where I had every thing to fear. Eight or ten days after, he ſent, by the way of St. Thomas, the citizen Seche, who undertook the miſſion, and delivered the packet to Rigaud, and returned to Philadelphia; nine weeks after, or thereabout, we learnt the arreſtation of Polverel and Santhonax. Having returned to Philadelphia, citizen Fauchet told me, he had received orders from Rigaud, and the republican chiefs at Hiſpaniola, to raiſe as many men of colour as poſſible on the continent, in order to ſend them to Jamaica, there to be employed empowered to inſurrect the negroes of that iſland, under a pretence of liberty and equality. The ſame Fauchet gave me a letter to carry to citizen L'Arcumbal, the conſul at New-York, to engage him to procure ſome people of colour for that purpoſe, and to ſend him an account of it. At the end of a few days, to my certain knowledge, a citizen of colour, who ſpoke Engliſh, and who kept a correſpondence with citizen Granville, alſo a man of colour, who was then a priſoner in Jamaica, ſailed from New-York, diſguiſed as a fore-maſt man, in a ſchooner to come to Kingſton, and find his ſaid friend. Citizen Fauchet came to New-York, where he ſpent ſome days with me: He had come there on purpoſe to prepare the neceſſary hoſpitals for the ſquadron, which had been announced to him. I had an opportunity of knowing the orders he had juſt received from the national convention: It was ordered to him, to procure a great quantity of proviſions; to ſend immediately an expreſs to get ready, at Cape-François, hoſpitals, lodgings, and barracks; it was alſo mentioned, to follow the orders of Lavaux and Rigaud, for what particularly concerned Jamaica. Some time after, the citizen commiſſary Hugues ſent three men of colour, who ſpoke Engliſh, from the windward iſlands to citizen Fauchet at Philadelphia; but not finding him there, they came to New-York to join him. I was preſent when they delivered their packets to Fauchet; and they had orders to come, in as ſhort time as poſſible, to Jamaica. One of theſe three, who might paſs for a white man, embarked on the 3d of November, in the ſame veſſel on which came my wife, with ſeveral other paſſengers; amongſt whom was an Engliſh man of colour, and an inhabitant of the environs of Martha-Brae in Jamaica, and intimate with citizen Fauchet and the conſul L'Arcumbal. About two months after, the ſame Engliſh man of colour returned to New-York, and brought to me a letter from my wife; and ſome days after he embarked again for Kingſton, with many people of colour, in a veſſel loaded only with great corn: One of them ſaid, he was the friend of one of the chiefs of maroon negroes. In the month of April laſt arrived at New-York twelve or fourteen men of colour, came out from the priſon-ſhip: I was preſent when they came to the conſul's, with one ſingle paſſport for them all, from the Britiſh government, which had been delivered to the captain of the veſſel. Five of thoſe men of colour embarked, to my knowledge, at New-York for Jamaica, two of whom are brothers, named Gaſpard, and another called Laptaine, who alſo ſaid they were friends to Granville. This Granville told me, on my arrival at Kingſton, that thoſe ſame men had gone to the maroon town, and certainly there would ſhortly be an inſurrection. I am ſo fully perſuaded of it, and aſſured of the fact, from the friendſhip which ſubſiſts between Fauchet and me, who had in confidence communicated to me the project of revolting the negroes of Jamaica, he having ſent, for that purpoſe, upwards of one hundred and fifty French people, the major part of whom were men of colour, that in conſequence, fearing ſome accident for my wife, I thought it my duty to come to her, with an intention to bring her back immediately to New-York. I alſo declare, that I brought to Granville a letter from Fauchet, the contents of which I am entirely ignorant of, which is the only one I brought. I declare alſo, that the major part of the facts here ſet forth were known to the count Lafitte; ſince, without ever having ſeen him or known him before, he came to my lodgings in Kingſton at different times, when his converſation and queſtions breathed only an inſurrection of the negroes of this country, and that he conſidered it as unavoidable. I alſo know, that the count Lafitte is the intimate friend of a French merchant who reſides at New-York, and is appointed from the French republic as the agent for the affairs of the ſtate, and that he has advanced money to Mr. Lafitte during his ſtay at New-York; and that even the citizen conſul L'Arcumbal has given to Mr. Lafitte, when he was at New-York, either as a loan or otherwiſe, from two to three hundred dollars. I likewiſe declare, that Mr. Lafitte has confeſſed to me, that no other motives kept him here, but of endeavouring to get out of priſon about fifteen priſoners, great patriots, for whom he intereſted himſelf very much, being his countrymen, and had been taken in Olanier's brig; that he had even cauſed a petition to be preſented in name of ſaid priſoners: I know to my certain knowledge, that ſaid priſoners entertained a correſpondence with Lafitte. About two months before my departure from New-York, I went to ſpend ſome days with Mr. Fauchet, at Philadelphia: He had juſt received papers of the greateſt conſequence, which I took cognizance of, being communicated to me: Thoſe papers had been brought by the Semillante frigate, with ſome other veſſels come from France, which, in their way, went to Newfoundland, there to burn the Britiſh veſſels they could find there; which frigate and veſſels brought in part arms, particularly four large caſes, containing three thouſand broad ſwords deſtined for Hiſpaniola, which a cutter brought to general Lavaux, with order to aſſemble all the people of colour he could collect, and to give the ſame orders to citizen Rigaud, ſo that the nation might depend on ten thouſand men for ſecret expedition. In the communication I have taken of the orders ſent to citizen Fauchet from the convention, it was ſaid, that the ſquadron ſhould immediately ſail from France; that their firſt object was to be, ſecret expedition againſt the Britiſh iſlands; to ſend to Rigaud and Lavaux all the people of colour, as volunteers, ſpeaking Engliſh; the order was, that Rigaud and Lavaux ſhould make no attack on the enemy until further orders.

" Before my departure from New-York to Philadelphia, I went to take leave of citizen Fauchet: He delivered to me orders for citizen L'Arcumbal, to give me a certificate of reſidence, without any date; he acknowledged to me, that, in the courſe of September and October, Jamaica would belong to France, the taking of which was inevitable, from the means that had juſt been taken; that the French were to land ten thouſand negroes at ſome diſtance from Kingſton, all of them armed with two muſkets and two broad ſwords, to be diſtributed to the negroes in inſurrection, whilſt the ſquadron ſhould attack the ports in the environs of Kingſton. All the above facts are ſtrictly true. Had I foreſeen the misfortune of my arreſtation, I would have brought with me the proofs, I being the friend and even the confidant of Fauchet. In caſe the Britiſh government ſhould not be ſatisfied with what I have juſt declared, I oblige myſelf to leave here all my papers and effects, the value of which amounts at leaſt to twenty thouſand French livres, as a depoſit, until I ſhall ſend from New-York every and all the informations that may be required; it being eaſy for me to take them out of the regiſters. I alſo engage to inſtruct the government, by all the veſſels that ſhall ſail from New-York and Philadelphia, of all what paſſes in the offices of the French republic; by which means I ſhall convince the Britiſh nation, that I am not an enemy to the Engliſh, as ſome have endeavoured to perſuade.

Nota b. There will be found a contradiction in my firſt and former declaration, on what reſpects the friendſhip ſubſiſting between citizen Fauchet and myſelf; which I did becauſe I thought my intereſt required it. I am well aſſured, that citizen Fauchet is not recalled, as has been reported: But, admitting he were ſo, I am certain I always ſhall find means to give to the Britiſh government every information that can be required, eſpecially on what has been or may be done in the colonies, from the eaſy acceſs I have had during my ſtay in North America, and by the acquaintance I have with the agents of the republic, being very intimate with them. Though my opinion may be contrary to theirs, the intereſt of my children, and the property I have in France, have obliged me to diſſemble. In ſhort, I oblige myſelf to do whatever the Britiſh government ſhall judge proper, and to execute their inſtructions; engaging myſelf to return within the ſpace of four months."

"GENTLEMEN, Durham-Place, Lambeth, May 2d, 1795.

"I return you my thanks for the honourable mark of your approbation, by your vote of one thouſand guineas to me, for the importing the bread-fruit into the Weſt-Indies; and for your vote in explaining the one to lieutenant Portlocke.

"The important ſervices in guiding the ſhip Providence through a very difficult navigation, whereby that ſhip was enabled to fulfil the end of the voyage, was owing to the meritorious exertions of all my officers and men.

"I moſt ardently hope, that the plants will continue to increaſe; and as I think it will add to the advantages they will be of to you, I ſhall give an account, when I publiſh my voyage, of the various ways the fruit are uſed by the natives.

"I have the honour to be, GENTLEMEN,

"Your moſt obliged and faithful humble ſervant,

Ordered, That the ſame do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

Then the houſe adjourned till to-morrow, nine of the clock.

☞ By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Jovis, 24° die Septembris, 1795.

THE engroſſed addreſs to his honour the lieutenant-governor was read, in the words following:

" Jamaica, ſſ.

" To the right honourable ALEXANDER earl of BALCARRES, lieutenant-governor and commander in chief of this his majeſty's iſland of Jamaica, and the territories thereon depending in America, chancellor and vice-admiral of the ſame,

" THE HUMBLE ADDRESS OF THE ASSEMBLY.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We, his majeſty's dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the aſſembly of the iſland of Jamaica, beg leave to return your honour our thanks for your ſpeech at the opening of the ſeſſion.

" The unfortunate inſurrection among the maroon negroes of Trelawny-Town, and the conſequences that have followed, are objects of much ſerious conſideration, and well juſtify your aſſembling the legiſlature at this early ſeaſon; and we beg leave to aſſure your lordſhip, that we ſhall always (as it is our duty) with cheerfulneſs meet in aſſembly, whenever the public exigencies of the country ſhall render it neceſſary.

" The hoſtile intention of France, and their plan of raiſing a rebellion to throw this iſland into a ſtate of anarchy and confuſion, having been early and fortunately diſcovered, and thereby fruſtrated, we hope that, by the bleſſing of Providence, the peace and ſecurity of this colony will be permanently aſſured.

" The celerity and vigour with which your lordſhip availed yourſelf of the precipitate and inſolent conduct of the rebels, and the zeal and magnanimity ſhewn by your marching immediately to that part of the colony, in order to direct in perſon the military operations, demand the moſt grateful thanks of the inhabitants of Jamaica; and it is with great ſatisfaction we, their repreſentatives, take the opportunity of expreſſing their ſentiments on the occaſion.

" We are happy to find, that the valour and conduct of his majeſty's forces have enabled your lordſhip to ſecure every advantage that could be obtained by regular manœuvres; and we doubt not that Britiſh ſpirit will, on all occaſions, be exerted to ſecure his majeſty's government and the proſperity of his people.

" We

" We ſhall take into our moſt ſerious conſideration the inconveniences that reſult from a declaration of martial law; and, at the ſame time, we beg leave to aſſure your lordſhip, that our firſt object will be to ſtrengthen the hand of government, by every proper and efficient power.

" We lament with your lordſhip the heavy expence already incurred: We ſhall make due proviſion for it, and alſo grant ſuch further ſupplies as the exigencies of government may require.

" We have the utmoſt reliance on the vigilance of your lordſhip's adminiſtration; and we ſhall, with energy and unanimity, ſupport every meaſure that may tend to preſerve ſocial order, morality, and religion, againſt all attempts of the preſent rulers of France, and to maintain a conſtitution which effectually ſecures theſe bleſſings, and under which this country has hitherto enjoyed freedom and tranquillity.

" We are happy to find that your lordſhip approves the ſteadineſs, the diſcipline, and the alacrity of the militia: We have no doubt they will, on all occaſions, confirm the aſſurances you have been pleaſed to give his majeſty reſpecting them: But, owing to their number and occupation, they alone cannot in all inſtances be ſufficient to reduce an internal, or repel an external enemy.

" We are confident that the glorious and important victory gained by lord Bridport, and the advantages obtained by his majeſty's fleets, muſt leſſen the danger neceſſarily reſulting from a ſtate of hoſtility; and, from the preſent aſpect of affairs, we join with your lordſhip in hoping the war may be ſoon terminated by a ſecure and honourable peace.

" Senſible as we are of the great bleſſings we have enjoyed under the government of the illuſtrious houſe of Hanover, we receive with heartfelt ſatisfaction the intimation of the marriage of his royal highneſs the prince of Wales with the princeſs Caroline of Brunſwick, and which muſt be highly intereſting to his majeſty's domeſtic happineſs, and to the welfare of his people."

"That the petitioner uſed every exertion to provide, at Montego-Bay and at Falmouth, an ample ſupply of proviſions for the ſaid troops, agreeably to contract; and gave the moſt poſitive directions to his agents, to ſpare no pains or expence for their immediate conveyance to ſuch poſt or poſts as might be directed by the commander in chief:

"That, from unavoidable circumſtances (as the petitioner is informed), the ſupply of proviſions furniſhed by the petitioner has not been confined ſolely to the king's troops, but has in many inſtances been, and ſtill continues to be, extended to different parties of the militia of the leeward pariſhes, and even occaſionally to negro pioneers; whereby the conſumption of ſuch proviſions has been much increaſed, and the expence already incurred amounts to a very large ſum:

before he could well be ſaid to have ſeen it; but which eſſential ſervice could not, in the opinion of this houſe, have been effected without the immediate application of the forces then embarked for St. Domingo, as well as of thoſe in the iſland, to the attack of the ſavage and ferocious enemy with which we have to contend; and who has opened his adminiſtration with ſuch ſtrict purity and diſintereſtedneſs in office, that it is with heartfelt ſatisfaction his majeſty's faithful aſſembly of Jamaica augur the moſt auſpicious conſequences to the militia, and to the general intereſt of the iſland; alſo, to aſſure his majeſty, that it is our moſt fervent prayer, that he may long live to confer marks of his gracious favour and condeſcenſion on a loyal, faithful, and attached people;

Sabbati, 26° die Septembris, 1795.

MR. Speaker reported, that the houſe had attended his honour the lieutenant-governor, and preſented their addreſs, to which his honour was pleaſed to return an anſwer; of which, Mr. Speaker ſaid, to prevent miſtakes, he had obtained a copy; and the ſame being read, was ordered to be entered, and is as follows:

"MR.

" MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

" I receive with gratitude the very flattering terms of your addreſs.

" The reaſons for my detaining, for a time, the troops intended for St. Domingo, however ſtrong at that moment, now no longer exiſt.

" The country poſſeſſed by the Trelawny maroons is moſt difficult of acceſs.

" They had it in their power to concentrate, with facility, the ſmaller maroon nations.

" They could alſo give immediate ſecurity and protection to ſuch negroes as might be diſpoſed to join them in rebellion.

" They had provided ground-proviſions in ſufficient quantities for the maintenance of ſome thouſand men, and their rear was ſecured by their cockpits and faſtneſſes.

" In this view, they might have taken poſt, and eſtabliſhed themſelves in a manner as to have rendered it ſcarcely poſſible to diſlodge them.

" This they could have effected before we could procure ſhipping to embark troops, and bring them round the iſland.

" The opportunity of deſtroying their poſts and proviſions, by means of the force intended for St. Domingo, was ſo apparent, that I could not loſe an advantage which accident alone had produced, and which, if neglected, never could be regained.

" The troops having effected this ſervice, the war, though extremely troubleſome, is reduced to a form infinitely leſs dangerous to the country.

" In conformity, however, to the wiſhes of the aſſembly, I ſhall detain a part; but, if I ſhould withhold the whole force intended for St. Domingo, that iſland would be in great danger of falling; an event which would put at iſſue the ſafety of Jamaica.

" I am therefore of opinion, that more ſecurity will reſult to this country by my now forwarding the greateſt part of thoſe troops, than by my detaining them."

Ordered, That his honour the lieutenant-governor's anſwer to the addreſs of the houſe of this day be referred to the committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Ordered, That the following meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor:

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to requeſt that you will be pleaſed to poſtpone the ſailing of the packet until Monday ſe'nnight:"

Ordered, That Mr. Barrett and Mr. Stewart be a committee to wait on his honour with the above meſſage; who returning, reported the delivery thereof, and that his honour was pleaſed to ſay, he would comply with the requeſt of the houſe.

The engroſſed addreſs to his majeſty was read, in the words following:

" Jamaica,

" Jamaica, ſſ.

" To the king's most excellent majesty,

" The humble addreſs of the assembly of Jamaica.

" Most gracious sovereign,

" We, your majeſty's dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the assembly of Jamaica, beg leave to tender our moſt ſincere congratulations to your majeſty on the marriage of his royal highneſs the prince of Wales with the princeſs Caroline of Brunſwick; an event which, as it muſt contribute highly to your majeſty's domeſtic happineſs, is truly intereſting to us, and cannot fail to diffuſe univerſal joy throughout that empire which has experienced ſo many real and ſubſtantial benefits, under the mild and happy government of the illuſtrious houſe of Hanover.

" We humbly return our thanks to your majeſty for your paternal attention, in appointing to the government of this valuable iſland a nobleman of diſtinguiſhed abilities, eminently adapted to fill, at this critical period, the arduous and important office committed to his charge; whoſe zeal and activity for the preſervation and proſperity of the iſland endeared him to its inhabitants, before their repreſentatives had an opportunity of meeting him in aſſembly; who, by the vigour and promptitude of his meaſures, in detecting and reſiſting a moſt unnatural, unprovoked, and unexpected rebellion of the maroon negroes of Trelawny-Town, has ſaved the country, before he could well be ſaid to have ſeen it; but which eſſential ſervice could not, in our opinion, have been effected without the immediate application of the forces then embarked for St. Domingo, as well as of thoſe in the iſland, to the attack of the ſavage and ferocious enemy with which we have to contend; and who has opened his adminiſtration with ſuch ſtrict purity and diſintereſtedneſs in office, that it is with heartfelt ſatisfaction your majeſty's faithful assembly augur the moſt auſpicious conſequences to the militia, and to the general intereſts of the iſland. With gratitude we aſſure your majeſty, that it is our moſt fervent prayer, that you may long live to confer marks of your gracious favour and condeſcenſion on a loyal, faithful, and attached people;"

Reſolved, nem. con. That the ſaid addreſs do paſs.

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill be committed to a committee of the whole houſe to-morrow.

The bill to appoint commiſſioners to inſpect the books of the receiver-general, and to ſettle and adjuſt the public accounts, was read a ſecond time:

And being met,

The bill to explain and amend an act entitled, "An act for eſtabliſhing and declaring rules and artitles of war," was read a ſecond time:

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill be committed to a committee of the whole houſe to-morrow.

Mr. Taylor, from the committee to whom his honour the lieutenant-governor's meſſage of the 22d inſtant, and the papers therewith ſent, were referred, reported,

That the committee had examined the papers of the count de la Fitte, and found a letter from colonel Handfield to him, at Jeremie in St. Domingo, dated 15th February, 1795, ſaying, that his reaſons for wiſhing him to leave that colony were, that he had held ſeditious language, at a critical time, with other circumſtances of ſuſpicious tendency; that, whenever called upon by his ſuperior officer, or by a court of juſtice, he would come forward with accuſations, and name the perſons that had given him this information:

That the count de la Fitte is here, has never been tried, and was at large in Kingſton until information, on oath, of his having made uſe of the ſame ſeditious language, and other practices of dangerous tendency, was given, during the exiſtence of the preſent martial law, to major-general Taylor, commanding the Surrey diſtrict; who thereupon, in purſuance of his duty, and for the public ſafety, very properly ordered him to be arreſted, and detained in cuſtody:

That the longer reſidence of a man of ſuch a character, in this colony, is highly improper, and may be dangerous:

And that the committee recommend to the houſe to ſend a meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, to requeſt that the count de la Fitte be ſent off this country as ſoon as poſſible, with a ſtrict injunction never to return again to Jamaica.

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS,

"The houſe having agreed to an humble addreſs to his majeſty, we are ordered by the houſe to lay the ſame before your honours, and deſire your concurrence:"

Ordered, That Mr. Grant and Mr. Chriſtie be a committee to wait on his honour the lieutenant-governor with the above meſſage, and alſo to carry the above meſſage and the addreſs dreſs to the council; who returning, reported the delivery thereof, and that his honour, in anſwer to the meſſage to him, was pleaſed to ſay, he would comply with the requeſt of the houſe, as ſoon as poſſible:

A meſſage from the council, by their clerk, as follows:

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by the council to acquaint the houſe, that they have agreed to the humble addreſs to his majeſty, ſent them this day by the houſe for their concurrence; and that they deſire the houſe will be pleaſed to fill it up accordingly."

A motion being made, that the houſe do come to the following reſolution,

Reſolved, That the reſidence of French people of all deſcriptions in this iſland, at this critical period, unleſs ſuch as are now enrolled in the militia, and their wives and children, is dangerous to the peace and ſafety of the country; and therefore that a meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor, requeſting he will be pleaſed forthwith to order the neceſſary ſteps to be taken for ſhipping all ſuch perſons from this iſland, either to ſuch parts of St. Domingo as are in the poſſeſſion of Great-Britain, or to Great-Britain, as to his honour may appear moſt proper; and that this houſe will make good all expences thereby neceſſarily incurred;

The houſe divided:

The noes went forth:

Ordered, That the commiſſary of priſoners do detain in his cuſtody Jean Joſef Moranſon, until his honour the lieutenant-governor ſhall order his being ſent off the country.

A meſſage from the council, by their clerk, as follows:

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by the council to acquaint the houſe, that, agreeably to their meſſage of this day, they have appointed a committee of three of their board, to join a committee of the houſe, to wait on his honour the lieutenant-governor immediately, to deſire he will be pleaſed to tranſmit the humble addreſs of the council and aſſembly to his majeſty in the moſt acceptable manner:"

Then the committee went up; and being returned, Mr. Grant, from the committee, reported, that the joint committee had waited on his honour the lieutenant-governor with the addreſs, and deſired he would be pleaſed to tranſmit the ſame to his majeſty in the moſt acceptable manner; and that his honour was pleaſed to ſay, that he would tranſmit it to his majeſty by the earlieſt opportunity, in the moſt acceptable manner.

Ordered, That Mr. Henckell and Mr. Johnſtone be a committee to carry the engroſſed bills of this day to the council, and deſire their concurrence thereto; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

Mr. Batty, from the committee to whom the petition of Alexander Forbes, agent to the contractor for ſupplying his majeſty's troops with proviſions, was referred, reported,

That the committee had taken into conſideration the ſaid petition, and ſundry accounts produced by him of proviſions purchaſed at or ſent to Montego-Bay, for the uſe of the troops in that neighbourhood, amounting to an expenditure of upwards of 14,000*l.* and which is in a conſtant ſtate of increaſe; but, as the vouchers for the iſſue or delivery of the ſaid proviſions have not been laid before them, the accounts cannot be finally adjuſted: The committee, however, think it their duty to recommend to the houſe to direct the receiver-general to pay to the contractor the ſum of 20,000*l.* on account of his ſupply.

Mr. Batty, from the committee appointed for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts, reported,

That they had examined the account annexed to the petition of John Gayner, of the pariſh of Trelawny, for ſupplying troops at Falmouth with freſh beef, amounting to 628*l.* 7*s.* 1*d.* which they believe to be juſt; but, for want of the atteſtation of the perſon or perſons to whom it was delivered, the account cannot be finally ſettled; but they are of opinion, under all the circumſtances of the caſe, that he ought to be paid the ſum of 600*l.* on account:

That they had alſo examined the account and vouchers annexed to the petition of Benjamin Henderſon, of the pariſh of St. Ann, tavern-keeper, for furniſhing proviſions and entertainment for the officers and privates of the 18th and 20th regiments of light dragoons, and their horſes, at Dry-Harbour, in their way to and from Trelawny, amounting to the ſum of 245*l.* 16*s.* 11½*d.* which appears to be juſt, and ought to be paid:

And that they had alſo examined the account annexed to the petition of William M'Fad-

zen, of the parish of St. James, for supplying the militia and regulars at Vaughansfield with fresh beef, amounting to 1313*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* which they believe to be just; but, being defective in the attestation which the committee require, the account cannot be completely liquidated; but, from the evidence which they have had under consideration, they are of opinion he ought to be paid the sum of 1300*l.* on account.

Ordered, That the above two reports be referred to the committee of the whole house, to enquire into and take further into consideration the state of the island.

The house being informed, that the clerk of the peace for the parish of Kingston attended at the door, he was called in, and, at the bar, according to order, presented to the house the following return:

Return of the number of slaves to whom certificates have been granted by the clerk of the peace of Kingston, as directed by an act entitled, "An act to provide further regulations for such slaves as have been admitted into this island; and to regulate the admission of slaves of a certain description," made in obedience to an order of the honourable house of assembly, now sitting.

B. B. NEMBHARD, clerk peace of Kingston.

Ordered, That the same do lie on the table, to be perused by the members.

The house, according to order, resolved itself into a committee of the whole house, to enquire into and take further into consideration the state of the island:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Batty took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker resumed the chair.

Mr. Batty, from the committee, reported three resolutions; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table; where the 1st and 2d resolutions being again read, were agreed unto by the house, and are as follows:

1. That it be recommended to the house to direct the committee of correspondence to write to the agent, to purchase and send out immediately 5000 stand of light brown-barrelled arms and accoutrements for infantry; 50 blunderbusses; 500 double-barrelled guns, made very light; and 1000 carbines; and 1000 sabres, steel-mounted, with cross-belts, swivels, and buckets; and 1000 pair of horsemens pistols, of the same bore with the carbines; also buck-shot and bullet-moulds.

2. That it be recommended to the house to send a message to his honour the lieutenant-governor, requesting that he will give directions that no arms belonging to the island shall in future be allowed to be sent off; that the ordnance store-keeper may be ordered to replace such arms and other ordnance stores as were the property of this island, and sent, by order of ſir Adam Williamſon, for the ſervice of St. Domingo; and that the 404 ſtand of arms belonging to government, and now in the arſenal in this town, may be detained for the uſe of the troops in this iſland, in part payment thereof.

The third reſolution being again read, was agreed unto by the houſe, nem. con. and is as follows:

That it be recommended to the houſe to grant an additional vote of credit to the commiſſioners of the board of works, not exceeding the ſum of 5000*l.*

Then Mr. Batty acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move the houſe for leave to ſit again:

Reſolved, That this houſe will again, to-morrow, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

A meſſage from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a letter from his grace the duke of Portland, dated Whitehall, 21ſt April, 1795.

' MY LORD, Whitehall, 21ſt April, 1795.

' The king having authorized ſir Adam Williamſon to raiſe a corps of negroes for his majeſty's ſervice, in that part of the Weſt-Indies under his command, to conſiſt of ſuch a number of men as he ſhall judge expedient, it is with perfect reliance on that zeal for his majeſty's intereſts which has ſo much diſtinguiſhed the colonies during the preſent conteſt, that I am now to ſignify to your lordſhip his majeſty's pleaſure, that you ſhould moſt earneſtly recommend it to the legiſlature of Jamaica to grant ſuch a number of negroes for raiſing the above corps, as, in its wiſdom and liberality, that body ſhall be induced to beſtow.

' It is unneceſſary for me to dwell on the degree of conſequence which is attached to the ſpeedy completion of ſuch a corps, any further than to ſtate it as an additional reaſon for requeſting the aid of the legiſlature at this particular juncture.

Ordered, That the above meſſage, and letter therewith ſent, be referred to the committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Firſt meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

Second meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe the copy of a proclamation which his honour found neceſſary to publiſh on 13th Auguſt laſt.

'PROCLAMATION.

'Head-quarters, Vaughanſfield, Auguſt 13th, 1795.

'Whereas the maroon negroes of Trelawny-Town have, for many months paſt, ſhewn a very rebellious diſpoſition towards his majeſty's government; which induced me to take ſuch ſteps as appeared beſt adapted to reduce them to a proper ſubordination and obedience: And whereas ſeveral circumſtances have of late concurred, ſhewing them to be actuated by the worſt of intentions, ſuch as their attacking and killing his majeſty's troops, and ſetting fire to and deſtroying their towns, previous to the expiration of the term allowed them for ſurrendering to his majeſty's mercy; emiſſaries from them being found in different parts of the country, under the moſt ſuſpicious appearances, and various others: Conceiving it eſſentially requiſite that every poſſible means ſhould be applied for the ſpeedy removal of ſo troubleſome an internal enemy, I have determined to ſend out parties of perſons accuſtomed to travel in the mountainous parts of the iſland, aſſiſted by armed perſons of colour and negroes, to diſcover and deſtroy their haunts and retreats: For the better encouragement of whom, as well as the reſt of the forces employed, or to be employed, in this ſervice, I have reſolved to grant the following rewards; viz.

'For every ſuch maroon negro, capable of bearing arms, as ſhall be brought in a priſoner to me, or any commander of his majeſty's forces, the ſum of twenty pounds.

'For every maroon negro woman, or young child, who ſhall be taken and ſo brought in, the ſum of ten pounds.

'And as it is highly probable, that ſuch maroon negroes, capable of bearing arms, may make reſiſtance and be ſlain, I hereby promiſe the like reward to the party or parties, upon ſufficient proof thereof, as if ſuch maroon had been brought in alive.

'And whereas one particular maroon negro man named James Palmer, and one other named Leonard Parkinſon, have behaved in a manner ſingularly atrocious: I hereby further offer an additional reward of eighty pounds, amounting in the whole to one hundred pounds, in like manner for apprehending or killing the ſaid James Palmer; and an additional reward of thirty pounds, amounting in the whole to fifty pounds, for apprehending or killing the ſaid Leonard Parkinſon.

Second

Second meſſage.

" MR. SPEAKER,

I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a letter he has received from rear-admiral Parker.

' MY LORD, Roebuck, at Port-Royal, 6th November 1795.

' Meſſrs. Packwood Miles, who now ſupply his majeſty's ſhips under my command with cattle, having repreſented to me, that they have had many head of their cattle, which they had provided for the ſhips, impreſſed, I have to requeſt, in order that the like may not happen again, that your lordſhip will be pleaſed to order them the neceſſary protection.

' I have the honour to be, MY LORD,

' Your lordſhip's moſt humble ſervant,

' Right honourable earl Balcarres, &c. &c. &c. W. PARKER."

Third meſſage.

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a certificate from captain Scarlett, with an indorſement in the hand-writing of the honourable major-general Walpole.

' This is to certify, that a runaway negro, with arms, who had joined the maroons, was killed by a party of the Trelawny militia under my command, in ambuſh, on Friday the ſixteenth day of October, in the act of preſenting his muſket at one of my party, whom he had diſcovered.

' JAMES SCARLETT junior,

' New maroon-town, Oct. 17, 1795. captain commanding the party.'

Indorſement.

' It is ſubmitted, whether ſome reward ſhould not be offered for runaway negroes who join the maroons."

Ordered, That the above three meſſages, and papers therewith ſent, be referred to the committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Then the houſe reſolved itſelf into ſuch committee:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Murray took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Murray, from the committee, reported four reſolutions; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table; where the firſt, ſecond, and third reſolutions being again read, were agreed unto by the houſe, and are as follows:

1. That it be recommended to the houſe to ſend a meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, acquainting him, that the houſe have taken into their moſt ſerious conſideration the petition of the Trelawny-Town maroons, now in the barracks in Kingſton; but, from the

that the rebellion continuing, the houſe are of opinion, it will be highly improper to ſuffer the petitioners to be enlarged: but that, as ſoon as the rebellion ſhall be quelled, the houſe will proceed upon the prayer of their petition; and, in the mean time, will order them clothing, and a ſuitable ſupport:

2. That it be recommended to the houſe to direct the commiſſary-general, in Kingſton, to provide clothing and ſuitable ſupport for the Trelawny-Town maroons, now in the barracks in Kingſton.

3. That it be recommended to the houſe to appoint a committee to take into conſideration the complaint of meſſieurs Hurſt and Miles, contained in rear-admiral Parker's letter, ſent down to the houſe by his honour the lieutenant-governor, in his ſecond meſſage of this day; and that they report thereon as ſpeedily as poſſible.

The 4th reſolution, being again read, is as follows:

That it be recommended to the houſe to ſend a meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, in anſwer to his honour's meſſage of this day, accompanying the certificate of captain Scarlett, indorſed by the honourable major-general Walpole, requeſting that his honour will be pleaſed to iſſue a proclamation offering a reward of one hundred and fifty dollars to any perſon or perſons, ſlaves or others, who ſhall take or kill any negro ſlave who has joined, or may join, the maroons of Trelawny-Town, or ſhall be found in arms; and that his honour will be pleaſed to direct the receiver-general to pay one hundred and fifty dollars to the order of captain Scarlett, to be applied by him as a reward to the perſon or perſons who killed the runaway negro in the ſaid certificate mentioned; and that this houſe will make good the ſame:

And a motion being made, and the queſtion put, that the houſe do agree to the report;

It was reſolved in the affirmative.

Then Mr. Murray acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move the houſe for leave to ſit again:

Reſolved, That this houſe will again, to-morrow, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Reſolved, That a meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor, acquainting him, that the houſe have appointed a committee to take into conſideration the complaint of meſſieurs Hurſt and Miles, contained in rear-admiral Parker's letter, ſent down to the houſe by his honour, in his ſecond meſſage of this day.

Then the houſe adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine of the clock.

☞ By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Sabbati,

Sabbati, 7° die Novembris, 1795.

A MESSAGE from his honour the lieutenant-governor in council, by the provoſt-marſhal, commanding, in the king's name, the attendance of the houſe in the council-chamber, immediately:

"An act for raiſing ſeveral ſums of money, and applying to the ſame to ſeveral uſes."

"An act for laying a duty on tonnage, and applying the ſame to the uſe of the forts and fortifications; and for regulating the duty of gunpowder payable on tonnage, by virtue of an act entitled, 'An act for granting a revenue to his majeſty, his heirs and ſucceſſors, for the ſupport of the government of this iſland; and for reviving and perpetuating the acts and laws thereof; and to enable the receiver-general to import and purchaſe gunpowder, under certain regulations."

"An act to enable the right honourable Alexander earl of Balcarres, lieutenant-governor and commander in chief of this iſland, or the governor or commander in chief for the time being, to iſſue his majeſty's royal proclamation, during the receſs of the preſent aſſembly, prohibiting the exportation of flour and other proviſions from this iſland, for a limited time."

"An act for the more ſpeedy collection of the public taxes, and the arrears thereof now due."

"An act to appoint commiſſioners to inſpect the books of the receiver-general, and to ſettle and adjuſt the public accounts."

"An act for the prevention of indebted perſons from departing this iſland in time of martial law; and to empower the judges and juſtices to exerciſe their ſeveral offices, in certain caſes; and to empower the juſtices and veſtry, and churchwardens, and ſurveyors of highways, to diſcharge their ſeveral duties, and to enable landlords to diſtrain for rent, notwithſtanding martial law."

And then his honour was pleaſed to make the following ſpeech;

"GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL,
"MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,
"I have given my aſſent to the ſeveral bills which have been brought before me this ſeſſion.

"The ſituation of public affairs has induced me to put you under a ſhort prorogation.

"In his majeſty's name, I therefore prorogue this general aſſembly until Friday, the 27th day of November; and it is hereby prorogued accordingly."

☞ By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

VOTES

ASSEMBLY OF JAMAICA.

Veneris, 27° die Novembris, 1795.

THE aſſembly being met, according to prorogation, Mr. Redwood and Mr. Foulke waited on his honour the lieutenant-governor, and acquainted him therewith.

A meſſage from his honour the lieutenant-governor in council, by the provoſt-marſhal, commanding, in the king's name, the attendance of the houſe, in the council-chamber, immediately:

Whereupon, Mr. Speaker and the whole houſe went up; and being returned,

Ordered, That the rules agreed to by the houſe, on the firſt day of the laſt ſeſſion, be the ſtanding rules of the houſe during the preſent ſeſſion.

Mr. Speaker reported, that the houſe had attended his honour the lieutenant-governor, in the council-chamber, and that his honour was pleaſed to make a ſpeech; of which, Mr. Speaker ſaid, he had, to prevent miſtakes, obtained a copy; and the ſame being read, was ordered to be entered, and is as follows:

"GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL,

"MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

"I have availed myſelf of the receſs which the late prorogation afforded, to view the ground occupied by the troops engaged againſt the maroons; to examine into the condition of thoſe troops, and the nature and extent of the ſupplies which they have received; and in uſing every endeavour to combine and point the whole force, in ſuch a manner as to make it act with the greateſt energy againſt the enemy.

"I entertain the moſt ſanguine hopes, that the vigorous meaſures which have been adopted will ſoon be attended with the moſt favourable conſequences. Believe me, I will not, for a ſingle moment, relax in my efforts to cruſh this daring and ungrateful rebellion.

"I acknowledge, with infinite ſatisfaction, that my zeal and ſolicitude in your ſervice have been increaſed by a longer acquaintance with, and reſidence among you.

"The unanimity which I have witneſſed, and the liberality I have experienced, were ſuch tokens of your confidence as could not fail of impreſſing me with the moſt pleaſing ſenſations.

"MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

"I lament extremely, that the exigencies of government, in theſe critical times, will require extraordinary aids; but I rely, that you will provide for theſe, as well as the ordinary ſupplies, with your accuſtomed wiſdom, liberality, and diſpatch.

"GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL,

"MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

"The nature of the preſent war in the Weſt-Indies, and the pernicious effects of hot climates upon European ſoldiery, have induced his majeſty to adopt the meaſure of raiſing ſundry corps of negroes, to act in St. Domingo, and other parts of the Weſt-Indies, as his majeſty's ſervice may require; together with a conſiderable number of negro pioneers and artificers, to be attached to the Britiſh army. In a matter of ſuch conſiderable importance, his majeſty hopes for the aid of his faithful ſubjects of this iſland; and I am directed to lay the ſame before you, for your moſt ſerious conſideration.

"I have been induced to give you this public intimation of his majeſty's ſentiments, from a daily expectation of the arrival of the officers appointed to the expected levies; ſuperadded to the information I have received of the probability of the windward iſlands acceding to the propoſition of raiſing their quota of negroes, particularly of pioneers.

"You ſhall be poſſeſſed, with all convenient ſpeed, with the documents on which my ſuppoſition reſpecting thoſe iſlands has been formed; as alſo of the propoſitions, or terms, on which the body of pioneers are deſired to be raiſed. And, after you have given the ſubject your mature conſideration, permit me to requeſt from you a full and explicit avowal of your ſentiments, for my ſanction and guidance in the buſineſs."

A motion being made, that a committee be appointed to prepare an humble addreſs to his honour the lieutenant-governor, for his ſpeech at the opening of the ſeſſion;

Ordered, That Mr. Redwood, Mr. Cuthbert, and Mr. Batty, be a committee for that purpoſe:

Ordered, That all ſtanding committees be revived.

A petition of Thomas Denniſs, of the pariſh of Kingſton, gentleman, on the behalf of Ballard Beckford Nembhard, eſquire, clerk of the peace of the ſaid pariſh, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That, by an act paſſed in the year 1794, entitled, 'An act for eſtabliſhing regulations reſpecting perſons of a certain deſcription, arriving in this iſland, or reſident therein, in certain caſes,' his honour the then lieutenant-governor iſſued a proclamation, on the third day of January laſt, whereby, among other things, it was ordered, that all perſons of the deſcription in the ſaid act mentioned, within ten days from that notification, or the day of their arrival in this iſland, ſhould repair to the clerk of the peace, or his lawful deputy, of the pariſh in which ſuch perſon or perſons ſhould be or reſide, and to give information of his, her, or their name, country, ſize, age, rank, occupation, place and time of reſidence, in order to obtain a certificate of the contents of ſuch information; and which the clerk of the peace, or his lawful deputy, was thereby required to give:

"That, in conſequence of ſuch proclamation, a number of French people of the deſcription aforeſaid attended at the office of the ſaid Ballard Beckford Nembhard, and gave ſuch information as by the ſaid proclamation is directed; which were regularly and duly recorded, and certificates thereof granted by the ſaid Ballard Beckford Nembhard, or the petitioner as his deputy:

"That it appears by ſuch record, that 1199 French people have come in under the ſaid proclamation, and obtained certificates as aforeſaid;"

And praying for relief:

Ordered, That the above petition be referred to the committee appointed for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts; that they enquire into the allegations therein ſet forth, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon, to the houſe.

Ordered, That Mr. Taylor, Mr. Batty, and Mr. Vaughan, be a committee for that purpoſe.

Ordered, That Mr. Taylor, Mr. Redwood, and Mr. Campbell, be a committee for that purpoſe.

Reſolved, That this houſe will, to-morrow, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, to take into conſideration his honour's ſpeech at the opening of the ſeſſion.

"THE HUMBLE ADDRESS OF THE ASSEMBLY.

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

"We, his majeſty's dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the aſſembly of Jamaica, return your honour our thanks for your ſpeech at the commencement of the ſeſſion.

"We moſt gratefully acknowledge the ardent zeal which actuated your lordſhip to reviſit the ſcene of action, to take upon yourſelf the command of the troops, during the late receſs; your ſolicitude and perſonal attention, as to their ſupplies, muſt excite their warmeſt gratitude; and, in their military operations, we hope to ſee energy combined with effect.

"We truſt that the meaſures directed by your lordſhip's prudence, and invigorated by your example, will, under the bleſſing of Divine Providence, ſpeedily terminate this dangerous rebellion.

"The country muſt look up with confidence to your lordſhip, as the director of its military ſtrength. Relying upon the manly and generous aſſurance, that your efforts to cruſh the enemy will not be relaxed for a ſingle moment, permit us to ſay, that your lordſhip's conduct, during your ſhort but arduous adminiſtration, is of itſelf the moſt indubitable expreſſion of your zeal and ſolicitude for the ſervice of this country; and we deem ourſelves highly highly gratified by having any proportion of theſe virtues aſcribed to your ſhort acquaintance with and reſidence amongſt us.

" We are fully ſenſible, that the exigencies of government will demand extraordinary aids: Your lordſhip may rely on our granting as well the ordinary ſupplies, as all other aids that theſe critical times require, conſiſtent with the œconomy due to our conſtituents.

" We ſhall take into our ſerious conſideration, when the proper documents ſhall be laid before us, the propoſition reſpecting the raiſing of ſundry corps of negroes to act in St. Domingo. We ſhall, agreeably to your lordſhip's requeſt, give a full and explicit avowal of our ſentiments on the ſubject, and with that ſincerity which your candour on the occaſion requires of us; your lordſhip having been pleaſed to intimate, that our ſentiments ſhould ſerve as your guidance and ſanction."

"MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY,

"I beg you will accept my grateful thanks for the addreſs which you have been pleaſed to preſent to me: Such a teſtimony of your eſteem renders my ſituation in your ſervice as pleaſing as it is honourable."

A meſſage from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe the documents referred to in his honour's ſpeech at the opening of the preſent ſeſſion.

'MY LORD, Whitehall, 21ſt April, 1795.

'The king having authorized ſir Adam Williamſon to raiſe a corps of negroes for his majeſty's ſervice, in that part of the Weſt-Indies under his command, to conſiſt of ſuch a number of men as he ſhall judge expedient, it is with perfect reliance on that zeal for his majeſty's intereſts which has ſo much diſtinguiſhed the colonies during the preſent conteſt, that I am now to ſignify to your lordſhip his majeſty's pleaſure, that you ſhould moſt earneſtly recommend it to the legiſlature of Jamaica to grant ſuch a number of negroes, for raiſing the above corps, as in its wiſdom and liberality that body ſhall be induced to beſtow.

'It

'It is unnecessary for me to dwell on the degree of consequence which is attached to the speedy completion of such a corps, any further than to state it as an additional reason for requesting the aid of the legislature at this particular juncture.

'I have the honour to be, MY LORD,

'Your Lordship's most obedient humble most servant,

'The right honourable earl Balcarres, lieutenant-governor, &c. &c. &c. Jamaica.' PORTLAND.

'Tuesday morning, 25th August, 1795.

'I met at Mr. Lushington's several of the principal West-India proprietors: We canvassed the subject of the negro corps of pioneers, proposed to be raised for service in the West-Indies. I stated the number of negroes wanting at three thousand: It was agreed by all the gentlemen present, that the number of three thousand negroes, to act on duties of fatigue, could be raised with the greatest ease:

'That in respect to the levy of them, the legislature of the different islands should be applied to, that they should assess each estate a certain proportion of negroes per cent. This mode recommended in preference to hiring them by private contract:

'That government should pay to the proprietors a sum, not exceeding three shillings currency per day, for the hire of each negro:

'That the legislature of each island should fix the value of each negro: Government to be answerable to the proprietor for the sum so fixed as the value of each negro, if the negro is not returned:

'That the negroes should receive the same rations of provisions as the soldiers:

'That the negroes should be clothed by government, with a blue jacket with a red cape, trowsers, shirts, and hat, to be sent out from England: The expence supposed to amount to twenty shillings per man:

'That, for the intrenching service, pickaxes, hoes, and baskets, are required (not spades or wheel-barrows), and five-gallon kegs for the carriage of water:

'That craft sufficient for the transport of the negroes can with ease be obtained:

'That the negroes should on no account be sent on to St. Domingo (those at Jamaica may be used for the service of St. Domingo):

'That the negroes should on no account be permitted to enlist into the negro regiments.

'J. KNOX.'

'MY LORD, Horse-Guards, 26th August, 1795.

'Lieutenant-general sir Ralph Abercromby, who has been appointed by his majesty commander in chief of the forces in the West-Indies, has represented to me the necessity of sending from this country, without delay, a confidential officer to Martinique and Barbadoes, to make the necessary preparations and arrangements which will be requisite, on his arrival with the troops from this country, to enable him to proceed immediately to the execution of the extensive military operations which he will be instructed to undertake. The officer selected by sir Ralph Abercromby for this service is colonel Knox of the 36th regiment, who is appointed quartermaster-general to the army under his command; and I must request of your grace to furnish him with letters of introduction to the governor, principal civil officers in the different colonies, recommending to them, in the strongest terms, to afford him every facility and assistance in their power for carrying into effect the instructions he has received from sir Ralph Abercromby. The procuring and collecting at Barbadoes a considerable corps of negroes, to act as pioneers and on other duties of fatigue, forms one of the principal points of these instructions; and I herewith inclose to your grace a paper stating the sentiments of several West-India proprietors and agents, on the best means of executing this service: And as they unanimously concurred in the propriety of the articles therein agreed upon,

I submit

I ſubmit to your grace, whether it may not be proper to tranſmit copies of the ſaid articles to the governors of the different iſlands, in order that their exertions may be directed to the procuring the aſſiſtance of negroes to the amount therein ſtated, either upon thoſe terms, or any others which lieutenant-colonel Knox may think it expedient to accept on the part of the public.

'I have the honour to be, &c. &c.

'His grace the duke of Portland. HENRY DUNDAS.'

'Circular. Whitehall, 28th Auguſt, 1795.

'MY LORD,

'I herewith tranſmit to your lordſhip copies of a letter, and its incloſure, which I have received from Mr. Secretary Dundas, reſpecting colonel Knox, and the inſtructions which he has in charge, as quartermaſter-general to ſir Ralph Abercromby, whom his majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint commander in chief of his forces in the Weſt-Indies.

'One of the main points of thoſe inſtructions is the procuring, either in the mode propoſed in the paper referred to by Mr. Dundas's letter, or in any other mode that ſhall be agreed upon, a ſufficient number of negroes to act as pioneers, and to perform other duties of labour and fatigue, in the important command entruſted to major-general Abercromby; and I have only to expreſs my confidence, that both this, and every other part of colonel Knox's inſtructions, in proportion as they admit of it, will receive the warmeſt aid and ſupport from all his majeſty's iſlands; and that his majeſty's loyal ſubjects in the iſland of Jamaica will readily and cheerfully join in promoting thoſe ſervices, which have for their object the future ſafety and welfare of that iſland, in common with all his majeſty's other poſſeſſions in the Weſt-Indies.

'I have the honour to be, MY LORD,

'Your lordſhip's moſt obedient humble ſervant,

'Earl of Balcarres, &c. &c. &c. PORTLAND.'

"Extract of Mr. Dundas's letter to the earl of Balcarres, dated 30th September, 1795; received by his majeſty's ſloop of war Lark.

'MY LORD,

'I have to inform your lordſhip, that the regiments commanded by colonels Howe and Keppel have been ordered to proceed to Jamaica, for the purpoſe of receiving any negroes which may have been levied under the vote of the legiſlature of that iſland.

'It can hardly be neceſſary for me to apprize your lordſhip, that although it be expedient that the formation of the two laſt-mentioned regiments will receive material aſſiſtance from the iſland of Jamaica, no engagements muſt be entered into by your lordſhip, which might tend to prevent his majeſty from ſending them to any other part of the Weſt-Indies, in which it may be found neceſſary to employ them: Your lordſhip will, however, be at liberty to promiſe, that one of the corps ſhall remain ſtationed at Jamaica during the remainder of the war, if you ſhould find that, by granting this condition, the aſſiſtance it is ſo important to obtain would be more readily procured.

'The principal force deſtined to act offenſively in St. Domingo will, I truſt, reach that iſland by the firſt week of December; and I ſhall direct major-general Gordon Forbes, by this opportunity, to concert with you the time and manner of removing from Jamaica to St. Domingo the negro pioneers and artificers you have been inſtructed by the duke of Portland to collect for this ſervice.

'I have the honour to be, MY LORD,

'Your lordſhip's moſt obedient and moſt humble ſervant,

'Horſe-guards, 30th September, 1795. HENRY DUNDAS.'

'MY

'MY DEAR LORD, Mole St. Nicholas, 20th Nov. 1795.

'The Lark ſloop of war being ordered to proceed immediately to Jamaica, I have only time to inform your lordſhip, I have juſt received a letter from the war miniſter, in which he informs be, inſtructions have been ſent to you to raiſe 1500 or 2000 negroes, of which 100 are to be artificers, to ſerve as pioneers in the army of St. Domingo. I therefore beg leave to requeſt your lordſhip will pleaſe to inform me if this plan is practicable, and of the time when I may probably expect they will be ready to embark.

'I have alſo received directions to ſend to Jamaica the officers of the regiments of black chaſſeurs commanded by colonels Keppel and Howe, in order to complete their corps to 1000 men each, which I ſhall do immediately on their arrival: And as I mean to commence the campaign in this country immediately on the arrival of the reinforcements, I ſhall of courſe be particularly happy to receive ſo deſirable an addition as ſoon as it could be completed.

'I have the honour to be, MY DEAR LORD,

'Your lordſhip's moſt obedient and moſt humble ſervant,

'The earl of Balcarres, &c. &c. &c. G. FORBES, major-general."

A meſſage from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a letter, and its incloſure, from Mr. John Mowat; which his honour ſubmits to their conſideration.

' MY LORD, Montego-Bay, 23d November, 1795.

' I am ſorry to be under the neceſſity of troubling your lordſhip, on a buſineſs that cannot admit of delay, without conſiderable prejudice to the public.

' I apprehend

'I apprehend it is known to your lordſhip, that the works at John's Hall eſtate have (ever ſince the commencement of the maroon war) been occupied, and ſtill are, as the grand magazine for proviſions and ſtores, from whence the quarters at Vaughanſfield, Old Maroon Town, and almoſt all the poſts in this pariſh, are ſupplied.

'As thoſe works and buildings are indiſpenſably neceſſary for manufacturing the crops of ſugar and rum, and the ſeaſon is now ſo far advanced, that, if they be not ſpeedily evacuated, the enſuing crop of that eſtate muſt inevitably be loſt, and the value thereof in all juſtice fall on the country, which would be an expence of about 10,000*l.* to prevent which, I beg leave to ſuggeſt to your lordſhip, that a building might yet be erected in time to ſave the crops, ſay, to ſerve as a magazine, guard-houſe, and barrack, for about 1000*l.* by which there would be a ſaving to the public of 9000*l.* beſides having the benefit of ſuch building.

'In that œconomical idea, I take the liberty to tranſmit to your lordſhip an eſtimate of a building, which thoſe who are acquainted with ſuch ſubjects think would anſwer the end propoſed; and I requeſt to be favoured with your lordſhip's pleaſure on the ſubject as ſoon as poſſible, as, even now, the utmoſt exertions would be barely ſufficient to effect the building, and remove the ſtores in time to ſave the crop.

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time this day.

The houſe adjourned for one quarter of an hour;

And being met,

The bill to enable certain commiſſioners, therein named, to raiſe ſeveral ſums of money for the public ſervice, was read a ſecond time:

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill be committed to a committee of the whole houſe, to-morrow.

A petition of ſome of the inhabitants of John's Town, St. Ann's Bay, on the behalf of themſelves, and others the inhabitants of the ſaid town and the vicinity thereof, who are now detached on actual ſervice againſt the maroons, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That, fifty years ago, when there were not ten veſſels loaded at all the ports of the north ſide for Great-Britain, when there were but very few ſtores at the ſaid ports, and when the iſland was but thinly ſettled, the aſſembly thought it neceſſary to provide two armed ſwift-ſailing veſſels, of fourteen guns each, for the protection of the coaſt; and, from their being kept conſtantly cruiſing round the iſland, it was but rarely known that any part of it was annoyed by picaroons or privateers belonging to France or Spain, with both of which we were then at war:

"That when there were but two houſes in John's Town, St. Ann's Bay, it was nevertheleſs conſidered neceſſary, for the defence and ſecurity of the neighbouring eſtates and other properties, to erect a fort, to prevent the enemies entering the harbour of the ſaid bay; which fort, by the encroachments of the ſea, has been ſapped, and is now totally uſeleſs:

"That, within theſe laſt fifteen years, the ſaid town has greatly increaſed, having at this time upwards of fifty houſes, is ſtill increaſing, and is become a depot not only of merchandize, but of produce and plantation ſtores:

"That the harbour of St. Ann's Bay is conſidered the ſafeſt againſt hurricanes and bad weather, of any from Port-Antonio to Negril; and where ſhips, which load at many ports to the windward thereof, would gladly fall down to when detained for want of convoy, as at the preſent time, but are reſtrained by the fear of being cut out; which might, with great facility, be effected in open day, as there is no fortreſs under which they might ride in ſafety:

"That, from a long commercial intercourſe, carried on between the inhabitants of St. Ann's Bay and Spaniards of the iſland of Cuba, the latter are intimately acquainted with all the avenues of the ſaid town, as well as with the acceſſes to the neighbouring eſtates, and the ſituation of their works and negroes houſes; from which knowledge, and the defenceleſs ſituation of the ſaid town, the enemy will moſt certainly be encouraged to land and commit depredations, and will moſt probably, in their wonted wantonneſs, reduce the ſaid town and the adjacent town to aſhes:

"That the petitioners moſt humbly conceive, if it was found neceſſary fifty years ago to provide armed veſſels for the protection of the coaſts, the neceſſity increaſed with the increaſed ſettlement and value of the iſland, as well as by a great number of ſhips which now load at the out-ports that formerly uſed to load at Kingſton; the neceſſity of which protection has been evinced by the recent captures which have been made by French privateers only, and which will be greatly increaſed by peace having been made between France and Spain; for ſhould Great-Britain even not declare war againſt Spain, the Spaniards of Cuba will, under the authority of French commiſſions, commit depredations, and capture veſſels on the north ſide of the iſland:

" That the petitioners, with the greateſt ſubmiſſion, beg leave to obſerve, that if it was found neceſſary to erect a fort at St. Ann's Bay, when but one veſſel loaded there for Great-Britain, and when there were but two houſes thereon, it now has a greater claim to protection, from the number of ſhips which now load there, from an extenſive town being built thereon, as well as from the great depoſit of merchandize, produce, and plantation ſtores:

" That the petitioners, impreſſed with a ſenſe of the heavy expence lately incurred by the iſland, feel a painful reluctance in making their preſent application, but are ſtimulated to it by their defenceleſs and perilous ſituation;"

And praying for relief:

Ordered, That the above petition be referred to Mr. Grant, Mr. Cuthbert, and Mr. Chriſtie; that they enquire into the allegations therein ſet forth, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon, to the houſe.

The houſe, according to order, again reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, upon the bill for eſtabliſhing and declaring rules and articles of war, and for other purpoſes:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Taylor took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Taylor, from the committee, reported, that they had gone through a further part of the bill, and had made ſeveral amendments thereto; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table; where being again ſeverally read, were agreed unto by the houſe.

And then Mr. Taylor acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move the houſe for leave to ſit again:

Reſolved, That this houſe will again, to-morrow, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, upon the ſaid bill.

Ordered, That the commiſſioners appointed by an act paſſed this ſeſſion, entitled, " An act to grant to certain commiſſioners certain powers, for the comfortable ſubſiſtence and accommodation of the militia, and regulars quartered in this iſland, and for other purpoſes," be authorized to enquire what ſlaves, in their reſpective diſtricts, have behaved themſelves, or may hereafter behave themſelves, meritorouſly to the public, during the preſent rebellion; and to report to this houſe their opinion what gratuities the ſaid ſlaves may deſerve for the ſame.

' Your lordship's most humble servant,

Third message.

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the house a certificate from captain Scarlett, with an indorsement in the hand-writing of the honourable major-general Walpole.

' This is to certify, that a runaway negro, with arms, who had joined the maroons, was killed by a party of the Trelawny militia under my command, in ambush, on Friday the sixteenth day of October, in the act of presenting his musket at one of my party, whom he had discovered.

' JAMES SCARLETT junior,

' Indorsement.

' It is submitted, whether some reward should not be offered for runaway negroes who join the maroons."

Fourth meſſage.

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a proclamation which his honour found neceſſary to publiſh on 13th Auguſt laſt.

' PROCLAMATION.

' Head-quarters, Vaughansfield, Auguſt 13th, 1795.

' Whereas the maroon negroes of Trelawny-Town have, for many months paſt, ſhewn a very rebellious diſpoſition towards his majeſty's government; which induced me to take ſuch ſteps as appeared beſt adapted to reduce them to a proper ſubordination and obedience: And whereas ſeveral circumſtances have of late concurred, ſhewing them to be actuated by the worſt of intentions, ſuch as their attacking and killing his majeſty's troops, and ſetting fire to and deſtroying their towns, previous to the expiration of the term allowed them for ſurrendering to his majeſty's mercy; emiſſaries from them being found in different parts of the country, under the moſt ſuſpicious appearances, and various others: Conceiving it eſſentially requiſite that every poſſible means ſhould be applied for the ſpeedy removal of ſo troubleſome an internal enemy, I have determined to ſend out parties of perſons accuſtomed to travel in the mountainous parts of the iſland, aſſiſted by armed perſons of colour and negroes, to diſcover and deſtroy their haunts and retreats: For the better encouragement of whom, as well as the reſt of the forces employed, or to be employed, in this ſervice, I have reſolved to grant the following rewards; viz.

' For every ſuch maroon negro, capable of bearing arms, as ſhall be brought in a priſoner to me, or any commander of his majeſty's forces, the ſum of twenty pounds.

' For every maroon negro woman, or young child, who ſhall be taken and ſo brought in, the ſum of ten pounds.

' And as it is highly probable, that ſuch maroon negroes, capable of bearing arms, may make reſiſtance and be ſlain, I hereby promiſe the like reward to the party or parties, upon ſufficient proof thereof, as if ſuch maroon had been brought in alive.

' And whereas one particular maroon negro man named James Palmer, and one other named Leonard Parkinſon, have behaved in a manner ſingularly atrocious: I hereby further offer an additional reward of eighty pounds, amounting in the whole to one hundred pounds, in like manner for apprehending or killing the ſaid James Palmer; and an additional reward of thirty pounds, amounting in the whole to fifty pounds, for apprehending or killing the ſaid Leonard Parkinſon.

(Signed) ' BALCARRES, major-general.

' By his honour's command,

' J. ALSTON, ſecretary."

The humble memorial of JOHN VEITCH,

Sheweth,

That your memorialiſt, from his ſituation as captain of Fort-George, being at a great diſtance from both wood and water, hopes that it will be deemed highly reaſonable that he ſhould be allowed pioneers and a boat to procure him the neceſſary articles, as well as for other uſeful purpoſes. He begs leave to repreſent to your lordſhip, that, were not ſome perſons employed to keep the embraſures and ground about the fort clear and free from buſhes, the place would ſoon more reſemble a ruinate than a fortification belonging to his majeſty. And he earneſtly requeſts, that your lordſhip will have the goodneſs and condeſcenſion to lay this memorial before the honourable houſe of aſſembly, to whom he prays for payment of the accounts hereunto annexed: And your memorialiſt, as in duty bound, for your lordſhip's happineſs and proſperity ſhall ever pray.

"That the petitioner's huſband, George Love, was killed in an action with the rebellious maroons, on the 12th Auguſt laſt, leaving her a widow with three children, the eldeſt of whom is not above ſix years old:

"That her ſaid huſband was a carpenter, and by his induſtry was enabled to ſupport his family; but being now deprived of his aſſiſtance, and expoſed to every hardſhip reſulting from poverty and diſtreſs, ſhe is under the neceſſity of imploring ſuſtenance from the houſe:

"That ſhe receives the bounty granted by a law of the iſland, for the ſupport of the widows and children of thoſe who may be killed in action; but being her only means, ſhe finds it inadequate to bring up her infant family;"

And praying for relief:

THE engroſſed bill to repeal certain acts, and clauſes and parts of acts, therein mentioned; to prevent the hiding, concealing, inveigling, detaining, knowingly harbouring or employing, the ſlaves of others; to prevent the tranſportation of ſlaves by mortgagers and tenants for life and years, and for regulating abuſes committed by ſlaves, was read the third time.

Ordered, That Mr. Fitch and Mr. G. Fuller be a committee to carry the above engroſſed bills to the council, and deſire their concurrence thereto; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

The bill to make proviſion for the families of ſuch free people of colour, and of free negroes enrolled in the militia, as ſhall be killed in the ſervice, was read a ſecond time:

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill be committed to a committee of the whole houſe, to-morrow.

Mr. Shirley, from the commiſſioners appointed by law for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts, reported,

That the commiſſioners having had frequent meetings, in order to prepare the uſual ſtatements to be laid before the houſe, and to form ſome calculation of the expences this country has incurred, and is likely to incur, in conſequence of the unprovoked rebellion of the Trelawny maroons, find it impoſſible to come at any certain judgment of the extent of thoſe expences; but as it is neceſſary to make the beſt poſſible proviſion for the public ſervice at this juncture, they proceed to report to the houſe the preſent ſituation of the funds, and their opinion of the nature and amount of the proviſion they conceive to be requiſite.

The produce of the taxes, received during the four quarters ending the 30th of September laſt, was

The balance of caſh, in the receiver-general's hands on that day, was 103,743*l.* 15*s.* 10*d.* excluſive of the ſurplus of the revenue and the balance of gunpowder account; but it is now ſo very conſiderably reduced, that there appears a deficiency of upwards of 30,000*l.* to anſwer the immediate caſh demands. The utmoſt expence the commiſſioners can take upon themſelves to calculate is grounded upon a ſuppoſition, that martial law may not be extended beyond 200 days from the beginning; and upon that idea it will amount in the whole to about 500,000*l.* Such an extraordinary ſum cannot be raiſed in this country; and therefore the commiſſioners ſee no other means whatever, than by an application to his majeſty for aſſiſtance, and to borrow the ſum of 350,000*l.* ſterling, to be repaid by five annual inſtalments of 70,000*l.* ſterling, with intereſt at 6 per cent. the intereſt to be remitted half-yearly; and, for the ſecurity of theſe payments in Great-Britain, it will be ſufficient to raiſe a poll-tax of 10*s.* per ſlave, for five years, to be mortgaged to certain truſtees, reſiding in Great-Britain.

For the immediate ſupply of the treaſury, the commiſſioners ſubmit to the houſe the propriety of laying a poll-tax of 40*s.* per head on the ſlaves of abſentees, granting them a deduction of 20 per cent. on paying ſuch tax on or before the firſt day of May next: The commiſſioners are the more induced to recommend this tax, from their perſuaſion of the cheerfulneſs with which abſentees will wiſh to contribute with their purſes, as a compenſation for not having it in their power to aſſiſt perſonally in our defence at this alarming juncture.

A petition of Alexander Donaldſon, contractor for victualling the army, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That the petitioner, in conſequence of his contract, hath made ſundry ſupplies of proviſions to his majeſty's troops, and the militia, in the pariſhes of St. James and Trelawny, amounting to about 20,000*l.* as appears by the annexed account."

NOTE, For account ſee appendix, No. VIII.

A petition of Hector M'Kay, deputy-marſhal for the pariſhes of St. Ann, St. Mary, and St. George, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

" That the petitioner having received information that one Dominick Plunket, charged with the murder of a Spaniard, and who had abſconded for ſeveral years, and againſt whom the petitioner had a bench-warrant, was at White-River-Bay, in the pariſh of St. Ann, he proceeded, with aſſiſtance, and did apprehend the ſaid Plunket, on board a veſſel then in the harbour at White-River-Bay, on the 26th November, 1794:

Sabbati,

Sabbati, 12° die Decembris, 1795.

Prayers. THE engroſſed bill to make proviſion for the families of ſuch free people of colour, and of free negroes enrolled in the militia, as ſhall be killed in the ſervice, was read the third time:

And a motion being made, that the ſaid bill be referred to a committee, to be re-conſidered,

It was reſolved in the affirmative, nem. con.

Ordered, That Mr. Fitch, Mr. Cuthbert, Mr. Chriſtie, Mr. Stewart, and Mr. Shirley, be a committee for that purpoſe.

Mr. Shirley, according to order, preſented to the houſe, a bill for raiſing a tax by the poll, on abſentees holding properties in this iſland, towards defraying the expences occaſioned by the preſent rebellion; which was received, and read the firſt time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time on Tueſday next.

Mr. Cuthbert, from the committee to whom the petition of ſome of the inhabitants of John's Town, in St. Ann's Bay, on the behalf of themſelves, and others the inhabitants of the ſaid town, and the vicinity thereof, was referred, reported,

That the agent of this iſland, in Great-Britain, was inſtructed to apply to his majeſty's miniſters, to ſend out veſſels of force, beſt calculated to protect our coaſts and trade againſt the enemies privateers:

That letters have been received from him, ſtating that ſuch application had been made, and a promiſe obtained, that an adequate number of ſuch armed veſſels ſhould be ſent out, as ſoon as they could be got ready: On this account the committee are of opinion, that it would be inexpedient to comply with that part of the petition which relates to the arming of veſſels, at the expence of this country, for protecting the coaſts:

That, having enquired into the ſituation of the ſaid harbour, with reſpect to defence, the committee find, that the ſame is totally unprotected; and the petitioners, on being applied to for information as to the extent of the aſſiſtance they expect from the public, to enable them to erect a fort for the protection of the harbour of St. Ann's Bay, ſet forth, that were it not for the exiſting preſſures of the times, they think they might expect a grant of 2000*l.* for that purpoſe; but, on account of the ſaid preſſures, they would be contented with a grant of 400*l.* which, with ſubſcriptions from the inhabitants of John's Town, would enable them to erect a ſmall battery, that would be ſufficient for the immediate protection of the harbour:

That the committee obſerve, that it has been uſual in ſuch pariſhes, where private forts have been found neceſſary for the protection of the coaſts and harbour therein, to erect ſuch forts at the pariſh expence, and not by grants from the legiſlature:

Ordered, That the above report do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

A petition of Henry Burgeſs, of the pariſh of St George, planter, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That the petitioner loſt his eye-ſight in the year 1792, while on military duty:

"That the petitioner, in the years 1793 and 1794, preſented petitions to the houſe, ſtating the above circumſtances, and praying the bounty of the houſe, whereupon the houſe granted him 50*l.* each year;"

And praying for relief:

Ordered, That the above petition be referred to the committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Then the houſe adjourned till Monday morning, nine of the clock.

☞ By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Lunae, 14° die Decembris, 1795.

Prayers. A PETITION of the juſtices and veſtry of the town and pariſh of Kingſton was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That the ſtreets, lanes, and houſes of the ſaid town of Kingſton have been very much injured and damaged, by immenſe torrents of water running down from the pariſh of St. Andrew, through the ſaid town, occaſioned by the rains which fall in the ſaid pariſh of St. Andrew, and the overflowing of rivers, and otherwiſe:

"That the petitioners are adviſed that the like injuries may be prevented in future, by cutting canals or drains, through certain parts of the pariſhes of St. Andrew and Kingſton, and by ſuch means convey the ſaid torrents of water into the ſea, before they reach the ſaid town;

"And praying, that the houſe will give leave for a bill to be brought in, to enable the juſtices and veſtry of Kingſton to take up lands in the pariſh of St Andrew, and to cut canals for the purpoſe of carrying off the water, and to prevent the ſame from coming down upon the town of Kingſton:"

Ordered, That the above petition be referred to Mr. M'Lean, Mr. Galbraith, Mr. Fitch, Mr. Cockburn, and Mr. Woolfrys; that they enquire into the allegations therein ſet forth, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon, to the houſe.

The

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Batty took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Batty, from the committee, reported ſix reſolutions; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table; where the four firſt reſolutions being again ſeverally read, were agreed unto by the houſe, nem. con. and are as follow:

1. Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that his majeſty's faithful and loyal ſubjects, the inhabitants of Jamaica, have, on all occaſions, manifeſted their attachment to his perſon and government, and have never been wanting in zeal to aſſiſt, to the utmoſt of their ability, meaſures directed againſt the common enemy, calculated to inſure and preſerve the independance, the honour, and the proſperity of the empire at large; that the aſſembly of Jamaica, ſtrongly impreſſed with theſe ſentiments, would at this critical period, come forward to aſſiſt in raiſing and furniſhing the corps of negroes to be embodied and armed, and of pioneers and artificers intended for the ſervice of St. Domingo, if the exiſting circumſtances at this time, did not render the meaſure impracticable, without endangering the ſafety of this country; that a dangerous rebellion of the maroons of Trelawny-Town broke out early in Auguſt, which could not have come to the knowledge of his majeſty's miniſters at the date of their laſt requiſitions for raiſing and furniſhing the ſaid corps; that the nature of the war with the rebels is arduous and difficult, in a degree far beyond what miniſters could conceive; that the rebellion ſtill exiſts; that the expences already unavoidably incurred in the efforts to cruſh it, is enormouſly great, and muſt increaſe in proportion to the duration of this dangerous war; and to defray which, taxes to an unuſual extent muſt be impoſed on the inhabitants and proprietors of this country, many of whom are unable to bear ſuch burthens; that the loſſes ſuſtained by individuals in the courſe of the war are very great, and well founded apprehenſions are entertained that they will be ſtill greater; that upwards of 2000 pioneers and artificers are conſtantly employed in the ſervice, the proprietors of whom muſt experience great injury by the loſs of their labour in the ordinary employments on plantations; that the greateſt part of the regular forces ſent out for the protection of the iſland having been withdrawn and ſent on other ſervice, the militia has been conſtantly embodied, and actually engaged in moſt harraſſing and fatiguing duty; that all the white people employed on eſtates and ſettlements being obliged to ſerve therein, have been taken from their uſual occupations, in conſequence of which, the greateſt inconvenience and loſs have reſulted by very materially interrupting the neceſſary operations on ſuch eſtates and ſettlements; that the public exigencies have obliged the legiſlature to adopt the meaſure of borrowing money at a very advanced rate of intereſt; that, under the preſſure of ſuch accumulated diſtreſs, the houſe cannot, without loſing ſight altogether of the intereſt of their conſtituents, conſent to burthen the country with an aſſeſſment of negroes for the corps intended to be embodied and armed, as it would be a tax moſt oppreſſive and ruinous to the inhabitants.

2. Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the deſcription of negroes beſt calculated to be embodied and trained to arms and to ſerve uſefully as pioneers and artificers, are men of activity and intelligence, from the age of 18 to 36, the value of whom to their reſpective proprietors is ineſtimable: In whatever manner the legiſlature of this iſland iſland might aſſiſt the inhabitants, to raiſe the number required for the intended corps, much diſtreſs, and even cruelty, would reſult, as the negroes would be torn from their ſettlements, their families, and from every other tie and connection dear to them, to be tranſported to a foreign country on ſervice altogether new to them, and from which they are totally averſe; that ſuch a meaſure would excite in the minds of the ſlaves diſcontents, that very probably would expoſe the iſland to the danger of inſurrection among them, which, operating at the ſame time with the rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons, would undoubtedly complete the deſtruction of the colony.

3. Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that numerous circumſtances prevail at preſent, which did not exiſt in former times, when operations againſt the common enemy have been aſſiſted by pioneers collected from the ſlaves of this iſland, that render the the meaſure now required not only difficult in principle, but productive of conſequences not to be dreaded in thoſe days: The wild, enthuſiaſtic, and pernicious doctrines which have of late been diſſeminated, even in the mother country, and which have unhappily reached the Weſt-India iſlands, did not then exiſt, nor in thoſe countries where that force was deſtined to act, had anarchy triumphed over all order and government, neither did this iſland then labour under an accumulation of burthens, nor was it diſtreſſed by internal commotion.

4. Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that ſhould recourſe be had by his majeſty's miniſters to any other expedient for raiſing the corps intended for the ſervices propoſed, than through the interpoſition of the legiſlature, it will become the wiſdom of the houſe, to uſe every means in its power to prevent the return of ſuch ſlaves to this country, as fatal conſequences muſt reſult from the example of ſlaves trained to the uſe of arms, whoſe minds would be contaminated with notions and principles which they could not fail to acquire by a reſidence in St. Domingo, totally incompatible with the condition of ſlavery, and dangerous in the extreme, and who, inſtead of becoming labourers as formerly, would make it their chief object to inſtill into the minds of other ſlaves thoſe pernicious and dangerous principles.

And a motion being made, that a meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor, acquainting him, that the houſe have taken into their moſt ſerious conſideration the documents referred to in his honour's ſpeech at the opening of the ſeſſion, and ſent down to the houſe in his meſſage on the 1ſt inſtant, and had come to certain reſolutions thereon; for the reaſons and conſiderations ſtated in which, the houſe find it impoſſible to comply with the requiſitions contained in ſuch documents, and that copies of the ſaid reſolutions be annexed to ſuch meſſage;

It was reſolved in the affirmative, nem. con.

The 5th and 6th reſolutions being again read, were agreed unto by the houſe, and are as follows:

5. That it be recommended to the houſe, to comply with the prayer of the petition of ſundry perſons, known under the denomination of maroons, preſented to the houſe on the 30th November laſt, ſo ſoon as the preſent rebellion ſhall be quelled, and in the mean time to order them cloathing and ſuitable ſupport.

6. That it be recommended to the houſe, to direct a clauſe to be inſerted in one of the money-bills, for paying the ſum of 50*l.* to the order of James Anderſon, ſuperintendant of of the maroons in Charles-Town, in full for lodging-money, from the time of his appointment to the 31ſt December inſtant.

Then Mr. Batty acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move for leave to ſit again:

Reſolved, That this houſe will again, to-morrow, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Ordered, That the meſſage ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor in the laſt ſeſſion, relative to the raiſing two companies of ſlaves, be referred to the conſideration of the ſaid committee.

Ordered, That the commiſſioners for the pariſh of Trelawny, appointed by "An act to grant to certain commiſſioners certain powers, for the comfortable ſubſiſtence and accommodation of the militia, and regulars quartered in this iſland; and for other purpoſes," do provide cloathing and a ſuitable ſupport for the maroons confined in Fort-Balcarres.

A meſſage from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe, by way of information, a letter from the commiſſioners of the pariſh of St. Elizabeth, addreſſed to major-general Walpole, together with certain propoſals mentioned therein, for raiſing companies of rangers, and which propoſals his honour highly approves of, as likely to be productive of very ſalutary effects.

"Major-general Walpole. St. Elizabeth's, Black-River, 18th Nov. 1795.

'SIR,

'We have had the honour of receiving your letter of the 11th, and are highly obliged to you for your attention to us, in re-eſtabliſhing the poſts at Hector's River and Mouth-River, with part of the Clarendon and Vere militia, under the command of an active and vigilant officer, who we truſt will check the rebels in that quarter; our apprehenſions are by no means yet ſubſided for the ſafety of our frontier, for the maroons being drove out of the cockpits and diſperſed, will no doubt form into parties and commit all ſorts of devaſtations; perceiving the great difficulty, almoſt impoſſibility, of keeping the people of colour to their duty for any length of time, we have propoſed making the arrangement which we have the honour of incloſing for your peruſal, and hope your approbation. We have the pleaſure to ſay, that there is not the leaſt difficulty in raiſing the fund alluded to, as the greateſt part of it is already ſubſcribed; the intention is, that the two companies ſhould be kept out conſtantly purſuing and attacking the rebels wherever they may fly to or be found: It is proper that we ſhould ſtate the whole of the ſtrength of the militia of this pariſh; it appears by the returns, that the number 412 men comprehends both horſe and foot militia, of which there are nearly one hundred unfit for ſervice, from ſickneſs, ſores, and fatigue ſince the commencement of martial law; we ſuppoſe 320 men are fit for duty; if we take 80 for the two ranging companies there will be 240; the half of this number, 120, to defend the poſts, to be occaſionally relieved by the other half; the horſe, about 60, have generally been employed on packet-duty, they are the flower of the militia, and we conceive might be more uſefully employed at the poſts, and propoſe that the packets ſhould be carried by truſty negroes, properly found with horſes, and ſtationed as the troopers now are, on the roads; this duty has been lately chiefly done, between Vaughansfield and Vauxhall, by the negroes of the troopers, the badneſs of the roads and the danger being thought too great for themſelves to encounter, and we have not heard of any miſcarriage or inconveniency ariſing therefrom; indeed we rather think, that the packets will be carried by the negroes with more expedition and perhaps ſafety; we beg leave to repreſent to you, that, beſides the poſts already occupied, we think it abſolutely neceſſary that another ſhould be eſtabliſhed about the centre of Naſſau, this being a very valuable part of the pariſh, conſiſting of nine ſugar eſtates contiguous to each other. As the dry weather is now ſet in, there is the greateſt danger that the rebels will endeavour to ſet fire to this diſtrict, which at preſent is left without any defence, and we know not what hour they may burſt out of the woods on thoſe eſtates for that purpoſe.

'We are with the utmoſt reſpect and eſteem, SIR,

'Your very humble ſervants,

'JOSEPH JAMES SWABY,
'ROBERT PEART,
'CHARLES ROWE,
'JOHN WHITE,

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time to-morrow.

Mr. Batty, from the commiſſioners appointed by law for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts, reported,

That they had, in purſuance of the order of the houſe, proceeded to examine the account of Alexander Donaldſon, referred to them, and the ſeveral vouchers atteſting the ſame; and find, that the proviſions therein mentioned have been actually furniſhed by the contractor,

contractor, and are charged at the wholeſale market prices; and that the ſaid proviſions have been received for the uſe of his majeſty's troops, and the militia, on ſervice in the pariſhes of St. James and Trelawny; but, from the difficulty of arranging matters blended in the ſaid account, the commiſſioners are not as yet enabled to aſcertain the balance: In the mean time, they think it proper to inform the houſe, that the contractor, not being able to make uſe of the certificates for 20,000*l.* which were directed to be iſſued to him on the 30th of September laſt, delivered them up to the commiſſioners, and they have been cancelled; but in order to relieve the contractor from the inconvenience which the houſe intended to remedy, they recommended to the receiver-general to make him an advance of ten thouſand pounds; which was accordingly done, and they ſubmit to the houſe the propriety of indemnifying the receiver-general to that amount.

A petition of Alexander Donaldſon, contractor for victualling the army, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That the petitioner, on the 2d December, 1793, entered into a contract with the commiſſioners of public accounts, for victualling the number of men for which the faith of the country ſtands pledged, conſiſting at that time of from three to four thouſand men, which number, or nearly, were then in the iſland:

"That the petitioner took the neceſſary ſteps for providing for them, and laid in and ordered from England very large quantities of proviſions, in conſequence of his ſaid contract:

"That, before the month of February following, the exigencies of government rendered the ſervices of theſe troops neceſſary elſewhere, and not more than 700 men were left in the country; by which means the petitioner was left with a conſiderable quantity of proviſions on hand, without any way of diſpoſing of them, and thereby brought under a conſiderable advance and loſs, which he otherwiſe would not have been ſubject to:

"That, from the reduction of the army in this iſland, it was impoſſible that any benefit could accrue to the petitioner from his contract:

"That a general ſcarcity of proviſions, approaching almoſt to a famine, took place early this year, and ſtill continues all over Great-Britain and Ireland; which, together with a number of other unforeſeen events, have operated very much to the prejudice of the petitioner:

"That a number of troops, not deſtined for this country, arrived here ſome months ago, and were detained in conſequence of the critical ſituation of affairs; and the petitioner was called upon to ſupply them with proviſions, at a time when he was totally unprepared, and when proviſions of every ſpecies were, and continue, at a price almoſt hitherto unknown in this country;"

And praying for relief:

Ordered, That the above report and petition be referred to the committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Mr. Stewart, from the committee to whom the petition of Gadſtone Love, of the pariſh of Trelawny, widow, was referred, reported, that they had enquired into the allegations therein ſet forth, and do find they are true, and recommend to the houſe to grant her 50*l.*

Ordered,

Ordered, That the ſame do lie on the table three days, agreeably to the rule of the houſe.

A petition of the magiſtrates and veſtry of the pariſh of St. James was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

" That the prodigious loſs ſuſtained by the town of Montego-Bay, in June laſt, by fire, was owing to the narrowneſs of the ſtreets, which not only communicated the flames from one part of the town to the other, but prevented proper aſſiſtance being given, and was the occaſion of the engines being conſumed, that were brought to ſtop the progreſs of the fire:

" That the petitioners have cauſed a plan of the town to be drawn, which is annexed to the petition, by which the ſtreets may be widened ſo as to remedy the evil complained of, and add much to the health, convenience, and commerce of the ſaid town; that the appropriation of the public and parochial taxes on the remaining houſes, for a limited time, will prove one fund out of which to indemnify thoſe individuals who may be injured by the alterations propoſed for the future ſafety of the town;

" And praying, that the houſe will give leave for a bill to be brought in for effecting the ſaid purpoſes:"

Ordered, That the above petition be referred to Mr. Vaughan, Mr. Mathiſon, and Mr. Hodges; that they enquire into the allegations therein ſet forth, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon, to the houſe.

A petition of the magiſtrates and veſtry of the pariſh of St. James was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

" That, on the 6th June laſt, a fire broke out in the town of Montego-Bay, which conſumed 110 houſes, including almoſt the whole of that part in which were ſituate the ſtores, wharves, and merchandize: That the rapidity of the flames was ſo great, little could be ſaved from them; and great numbers of the inhabitants have, by this misfortune, been reduced to a ſtate of great want and diſtreſs, which threatens a very material injury to this community, as many uſeful mechanics and others, if not aſſiſted, will be obliged to quit it, and perhaps the country altogether;"

And praying for relief:

Ordered, That the above petition do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

1. Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the corps of ſlaves, reſolved by the houſe on Tueſday laſt to be raiſed, ſhall be compoſed of ſix companies, each company to conſiſt of 56 ſlaves; in which are to be included the two companies recommended by the houſe to be raiſed on the 30th September laſt:

2. Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the corps of ſlaves ſhall be raiſed by aſſeſſments in the reſpective pariſhes of this iſland, proportioned to the number of negroes in each pariſh, according to the following table: St. Andrew 12, St. Ann 24, Weſtmorland 26, Vere 12, St. Catherine 7, St. Thomas in the Eaſt 34, Clarendon 25, St. David 3, St. Dorothy 3, Port-Royal 2, St. Elizabeth 20, Portland 5, St. Mary 32, St. George 8, St. John 5, Hanover 29, St. James 32, Trelawny 36, St. Thomas in the Vale 11, Kingſton 10:

3. Reſolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that commiſſioners ſhould be appointed in each pariſh for raiſing the ſaid ſlaves; that they ſhall not accept of any ſlaves for this ſervice, but ſuch as are able-bodied and healthy, not under the age of 20, nor exceeding the age of 30; and if African born, to have been three years in the iſland.

Then Mr. Batty acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move for leave to ſit again:

Reſolved, That this houſe will again, to-morrow, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, upon the bill to enable the truſtees of William Bond, late of the city of London, in the kingdom of Great-Britain, deceaſed, to ſell or exchange certain lands, meſſuages, tenements, hereditaments, and premiſes, for the purpoſes therein mentioned:

A motion being made, that the receiver-general be directed to pay the ſum of 30*l.* to the commiſſioners for the pariſh of St. James, appointed by an act entitled, "An act to grant to certain commiſſioners certain powers, for the comfortable ſubſiſtence and accommodation of the militia, and regulars quartered in this iſland, and for other purpoſes," to be diſtributed, as they ſhall think proper, among the relatives of the negro-driver named Dick, belonging to Induſtry eſtate, who was murdered by the maroons in rebellion, as a reward for the ſaid negro's attachment to his maſter, and for his exertions to give alarm to the neighbourhood, of the approach of the maroons;

Ordered,

Then the houſe adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine of the clock.

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the commissioners to be appointed in each parish for raising of slaves, to be formed into corps, or any three of them, shall value each slave respectively, according to the best of their skill and judgment, without favour or prejudice to any person; and for that purpose the said commissioners shall be required to administer an oath to each other to value them, provided that no slave shall be received whose value shall exceed 120*l.*

2. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the proprietors of the slaves to be raised and formed into corps shall convey all their right, title, and interest, in the said slaves, to certain other commissioners, or other persons to be appointed, for the use of the public, either by deed, to be recorded in the secretary's office, or by toll in any parish-book; and the commissioners appointed to value the said slaves shall certify such title having been executed, to the receiver-general; and, on such certificate being presented to the receiver-general, the same shall be by him indorsed, to be paid at three annual instalments; and the said certificates shall be received, when due, in payment of all taxes whatsoever:

3. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the commissioners to be appointed to raise slaves to be formed into corps shall be directed, from time to time, to manumize such slaves as shall be certified to them by the commander in chief, with the consent of the house, to have deserved their freedom for their services:

4. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the slaves to be raised and formed into corps shall be under the command of the governor or commander in chief, to be employed solely for the defence of the island, in quelling the present rebellion, and the purpose of internal operation and defence; and, during such time, the said corps shall be subject to the same rules and articles of war to which his majesty's regular troops are subject, or such other regulations as the legislature of this island may deem proper to establish:

5. Resolved, That it be recommended to the house to leave it to the direction of the committee appointed to examine and state the several accounts of the commissaries, agents, contractors, quartermasters, and all other persons who have, or may have, demands on the public, in consequence of the present martial law, to report the accounts before them, according to the best of their judgment.

Then Mr. Batty acquainted the house, that the committee had directed him to move for leave to sit again:

Resolved, That this house will again, to-morrow, resolve itself into a committee of the whole house, to enquire into and take further into consideration the state of the island.

A motion being made, that a committee be appointed to prepare and bring in a bill to carry carry into effect the reſolutions of the houſe of Tueſday laſt, of yeſterday, and of this day, relative to the raiſing of ſlaves to be formed into corps; Ordered, That Mr. Shirley, Mr. Redwood, and Mr. Stewart, be a committee for that purpoſe.

Mr. Osborn, in his place, moved for leave to bring in a bill for continuing an act, commonly called the deficiency law, for a certain time longer; which was received, and read the firſt time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time this day.

The houſe adjourned for one quarter of an hour;

And being met,

The bill for continuing an act, commonly called the deficiency law, for a certain time longer, was read a ſecond time:

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill be committed to a committee of the whole houſe, to-morrow.

Two meſſages from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

Firſt meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a letter from Samuel Vaughan, eſquire, addreſſed to his honour:

'MY LORD, Spaniſh-Town, 10th December, 1795.

'I beg leave to ſtate to your lordſhip the very great inconvenience and loſs it is to the property at Vaughansfield, the making it a depot of proviſions for the troops ſtationed at the maroon-towns and the neighbouring parts.

'It has occaſioned the loſs of the coffee crop, of the value of ſome thouſands of pounds; and it has, by the making of roads through the coffee and paſtures, greatly injured the coffee-walk, and made the whole plantation a mere common.

'At the ſame time this private injury is produced, the ſtore-houſes and cellars are ſo limited in their ſize as not to be able to hold the proviſions neceſſary, during the rainy ſeaſon, for ſo many troops as may be accommodated at the ſingle poſt of Maroon-Town, in the newly-erected barracks.

'I take the liberty, therefore, of ſuggeſting the following plan, as more adequate to the public wants, and without being an injury to the individual:

'To build a ſtore, 50 feet long by 20 feet broad, of two ſtories; the lower to be 12 feet high, for the holding of ſtores, and the upper ſtory to be 8 feet high, to ſerve as accomodation for a guard:

'This houſe to be built on the flat land, within the 1500 acres granted to the Trelawny maroons, and adjoining the coffee-walk at Vaughansfield: There is a cart-road already made to the ſpot, and it is a leſs difficult one than the road to the houſe and magazines now uſed; as your lordſhip may recollect, or as your lordſhip will find to be the caſe by a reference to the iſland engineer.

'The expence of ſuch a building, I imagine, cannot be more than 800*l.* if raiſed on a ſmall ſtone foundation; and as it will be difficult to find perſons to undertake it ſo far from the lowlands, I am willing to become the contractor, at the prices which would be charged for for erecting fuch a building in the lowlands. I am induced to make this offer, not from a view to benefit by the contract, but to prevent that interruption and lofs at prefent felt at Vaughanfield, from the forces for the troops being lodged there.

'I have the honour to remain, MY LORD,

'Your lordfhip's moft obedient humble fervant,

'SAMUEL VAUGHAN junior.

'The right honourable earl Balcarres, &c. &c. &c."

Ordered, That the above meffage, and letter therewith fent, do lie on the table, to be perufed by the members.

Second meffage.

Humbly ſheweth, Port-Antonio, Nov. 5th, 1795.

That your memorialiſt having put into this port in diſtreſs, on the 5th Auguſt laſt, a ſtranger to the country, did hire three negroes to ſupply the troops with wood and water; which number, by experience, was found to be inſufficient: Your memorialiſt likewiſe incurred ſeveral other neceſſary expences, as per account.

That the ſituation of your memorialiſt, and five other officers, is very uncomfortable with reſpect to lodgings, the only habitable part of the officers barrack being occupied by the commander of the fort, and his family.

Your memorialiſt therefore humbly prays, that your lordſhip will take this his caſe into conſideration, and recommend to the honourable the houſe of aſſembly ſuch means of relief as you may think proper.

'MY LORD, Old Maroon Town, December 20, 1795.

'I returned here this evening, and have the ſatisfaction to report to your lordſhip the ſucceſs of the detachment under colonel Hull. 'I muſt moſt ſtrongly recommend to your lordſhip to lay before the aſſembly the caſe of the family of Cato, a ſlave of Mr. Vaughan's: He has, during the whole campaign, been a moſt faithful guide; it was by his means that we diſcovered the retreat of the rebels, and he behaved, by every account, with ſingular bravery during the action: He was unfortunately killed by a maroon in an ambuſcade, on his way back to bring up the baggage. G. W.'

'MY DEAR LORD, [Private.] December 20*th*, 1795.

'Hull has agreed, I underſtand, to a ſort of truce. This is the only part which, entre nous,

I diſlike: But, however, for the ſake of public faith, I ſhall keep it. My intention was to give them terms, but by no means to ſuſpend hoſtilities until they ſhould firſt lay down their arms. I ſhall adhere ſtrictly to your lordſhip's inſtructions. I underſtand that they will ſurrender on their lives only; wiſhing for land to be alloted them to cultivate.

'I have the honour to be your very faithful ſervant,

'MY LORD, December 22d, 1795.

'I have the honour to incloſe to your lordſhip the propoſals of the maroons, to which I have acceded.

'The party under Johnſtone have been ſent to by Montague James, ordering them to come in; but they are not expected before to-morrow, at which time the party here are to come in to build their huts.

'The whole detachment behaved to their credit. I muſt not omit to mention to your lordſhip, that to the impreſſion made in the action by the undaunted bravery of the 17th dragoons, who were more particularly engaged on the 15th, we owe the ſubmiſſion of the rebels: The maroons ſpeak of them with aſtoniſhment. Mr. Werge was particularly ſignalized with the advanced guard; and the ſergeant-major of that regiment is ſtrongly recommended, for his ſpirit and activity, by the commanding officer Mr. Edwards, who is every way deſerving your lordſhip's good opinion.

'I have the honour to be your lordſhip's moſt faithful ſervant,

'G. WALPOLE.

'The propoſals of the maroons were as follow:

"1ſt. That they would, on their knees, beg his majeſty's pardon:

"2d. That they would go to the Old Town, Montego-Bay, or any other place that might be pointed out, and would ſettle on whatever lands the governor, council, and aſſembly might think proper to allot:

"3d. That they would give up all runaways.

'MY DEAR LORD, Old Marron Town, December 24th, 1795.

'Two maroons (Smith and Dunbar) have come in from Johnſtone's party, to beg the king's mercy; and the whole are to be in here on Saturday, to conſtruct their huts within our poſts. I have alloted them a ſpot between Cudjoe-Town and the Old Town; there they they are to remain until the legiſlature ſhall diſpoſe of them. If I might give you an opinion, it ſhould be, that they ſhould be ſettled near Spaniſh-Town, or ſome other of the large towns in the lowlands: The acceſs to ſpirits will ſoon decreaſe their numbers, and deſtroy that hardy conſtitution which is nouriſhed by an healthy mountainous ſituation.

'No doubt, ſome perſons there will be found who may object to the war being terminated: Let thoſe finiſh it better, if they can; and, above all, do not let them talk of the expence of the war, and yet object to its termination; do not let them extirpate an enemy at their wine, and then leave their poſts to keep their holidays. But there is a better reaſon for finiſhing the war; the impoſſibility of penetrating the country, if it is at all defended; or, if you could get through it, of extirpating wholly the rebels: They will increaſe by runaways; and, if you deſtroy them to five, thoſe five will be a rallying point for more runaways to reſort to, and thus the war be perpetuated for years. Suppoſe the French were to ſmuggle in a tolerable engineer to them; could we even remain in poſſeſſion of the Old Town? There was a runaway of the name of Bowman, who alone, a great ſpace of time, deſtroyed plantations, and did infinite miſchief. Rely upon it, my lord, that, after more miſchief and more expence, you muſt make peace in twelve months hence: The difficulty will then perhaps be ſtronger which I have met with than it is now; namely, that of fear: To expel this from their minds has been my chief endeavour; and it was for ſome time before I could bring two or three of them from the cockpits into the town: If this was to be continued, nothing will wear it off the mind; and of crimes, thoſe committed under this impreſſion are the moſt horrid.

'In hopes of your lordſhip's approbation, I have the honour to be yours moſt faithfully and ſincerely,

'G. WALPOLE.'

'I was obliged to accede on my oath; I promiſed a ſecret article, that they ſhould not be ſent off the iſland.

'Hull wiſhes much to go home with the account; and he exerted himſelf ſo well on the 15th, that I ſhould hope you will have the goodneſs to indulge him.

'Mr. Werge your lordſhip has recommended for a cornetcy, I believe in the 17th; but I muſt not conceal from you, that to his preſence of mind much of the peace is owing.

'Old Montague is, as far as I can gueſs, the obſtacle to peace, as much as he dares: Some of the maroons were heard to tell him, that they would have peace whether he would or not.

'I am your lordſhip's obedient and faithful ſervant,

'I have received, in Spaniſh-Town, the treaty ſigned by general Walpole and colonel Montague James, and have ratified the ſame: And I do hereby appoint Friday morning, the firſt day of January next, at ten o'clock, for the Trelawny maroons to come in a body to Caſtle-Wemyſs, to perform the treaty.

'MY LORD,

'Every thing wears the beſt poſſible appearance: Several of the maroons have been in this this day, clearing out the huts, and more are expected to-morrow. But Palmer, I believe, it will be difficult to get in, even if alive, with the rest. They seem determined to be sure that no infringement of the treaty will ensue: I read the ratification to three of them, and your lordship's letter, assuring them, that whatever might be the future disposal of them, that they would be a free people. They were also informed of the 500*l.* donation of the assembly, to those who had surrendered.

'MY DEAR LORD, December 29, 1795.

'Some of the maroons are, I learn, bringing in their families; but there is great reason to suppose that there is a schism amongst them: One of them sent me word, that old Montague is the cause; and I this day hear that possibly he may die in the woods.

'I should think that your lordship will choose, that all those who do come in should be sent to you on Friday, and that we should attack the remainder. Fowler has begged that he may have a gorget, with some inscription to shew that he was the first who made peace with the white people. All this will, I think, serve your lordship: It will clearly prove, that if matters had been held with too tight a rein, none would have come in. At all events, much is gained even by dividing them.

'I now give the matter up: Only Smith, Dunbar, Williams, and two boys, are here. I shall send them to Falmouth to-morrow. I suppose that your lordship will admit them to the terms of the treaty upon which they have surrendered.

'I fear that our baggage negroes will not be here in time for me to move after these rascals in the morning, and that I must postpone it till Sunday: In this case, I shall endeavour to seduce the maroons still to keep near us.

'I ventured yesterday to trust Smith to return to the cockpits, to bring in his family, which he did in the evening, to the amount of thirteen; three of them very fine young men; the others comprehended his wife and several small children. He had (which induced me to trust him) given me a strong proof of his fidelity and gratitude, by a material piece of information, that one of those who surrendered in my absence with your lordship is a runaway; that this is an experiment on the part of the other runaways, to try whether they can paſs for maroons; and by his (Smith's) advice, I let him return to the cocknits. A large body are expected in to-day of maroons, and I hope others: It will take ſome days, I ſuppoſe, to get in the whole; for they are as miſtruſtful as poſſible, and each is deſirous that the other ſhould make the experiment before him. All this will naturally and concluſively prove to your lordſhip the impropriety of holding forth more harſh conditions than thoſe now granted: Should there be any perſon ſo dull to common policy and common ſenſe as to think that another turn of the ſcrew would be better, aſk him this queſtion: "Is he prepared to ſpin out the conteſt till foreign aſſiſtance may arrive?" This may be followed up by another queſtion, "If foreign aſſiſtance arrives, what will be the ſituation of the iſland?"

'I am your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

'G. WALPOLE.'

'DEAR SIR,

'Unleſs a great number of the maroons came in laſt night, or do come in in the courſe of this day, I hope and truſt that nothing will prevent the dogs from going out to-morrow.

'I am perfectly with you, that the pin ought not to receive another ſcrew; but alſo clear that it ought not to be relaxed.

'Should the maroons diſencumber themſelves of their women, children, old men, ſick and convaleſcents, they would acquire a degree of pliability which they have not at preſent, and, by removing from their preſent country into a new one, we ſhould be very much cenſured by the iſland for not having made the attack while it was in our power. We cannot ſtop the operations of war; I look upon the treaty in the ſame point of view with yourſelf; but I ſee the danger of not attacking them ſo very clear as to induce me to declare, that I cannot take upon myſelf the reſponſibility of acceding to a moment's unneceſſary delay.

'I have written to Colonel Shawe to procure me, if poſſible, ſome ſhoes for the 16th, as they are ſeveral of them barefooted, and the ſupply which I expected are not yet arrived.

'One misfortune will, I fear, occur as to the dogs; the extreme want of water: There is none, during ſeven hours march, between the great cockpit and the ſpot where colonel Hall engaged the maroons. Smith likewiſe informs me, that there is none beyond the laſt-mentioned place, except what may chance to be got from wild pines. If the dogs cannot be got on through want of water, we muſt leave them behind; but I fear that it will be impoſſible to ſupply the poſt with proviſions, through ſuch a length of defile, and ſo difficult a path as it muſt be, that it takes up ſeven hours to go only five miles.

'DEAR SIR,

'I was honoured by your two letters of yeſterday. Colonel Shawe has collected, I believe, 130 pair of ſhoes.

My own reſponſibility, as well as my opinion and the report I have made to his majeſty of the intended operations with the dogs, leaves no other alternative than to give immediate and due energy to the enterprize and ideas of the country, in ſending, at an enormous expence, for theſe dogs. 'DEAR SIR,

'I received your letter of February 2d, last evening.

'My object has been to keep myself free and uncommitted; by no means to cramp you in any point that I am not forced to. The maroons are secured, and in such a manner as will leave to the legislature the full exercise of their powers, when they meet on March the 1st. I do not know your opinion respecting the treaty, nor do I desire to know it: I have formed my own, and must declare it, when I am called upon. You will of course take every means in your power to get in, or destroy, the rebels who are still out. But what I have anxiously wished for, namely, the securing of the persons of these maroons, has been executed, and I can now report with correctness and security: While these people remained in the Old Town, I could advance nothing, but with incorrectness and insecurity. As the principle I worked upon is established, I cannot possibly think of troubling you with any detail of mine. You will give what orders you please respecting the 83d, at Montego-Bay: I gave orders to assemble a proper number of militia, to take the guards. You may always keep any three maroon men with you that you fix upon (Montague James and old Jarrett excepted); but no terms can be held to the rebels now out, that can impress an idea that either the country, or myself, is bound at all, either by the spirit of the treaty or the letter of it.

'I mean to divide the maroons, and to send 160 from Montego-Bay to St. Ann's. I have desired that the maroons themselves may arrange the families who are to go, and these who are to remain; of course you will give such instructions on that head as to you seems best. The 160 will march on Monday next, and I shall arrange their route. I find I must necessarily take fifty of the St. Ann's militia from the posts in this neighbourhood, to do the duty at St. Ann's.

'The reinforcement shall be sent down at the earliest possible moment; when, I trust, the militia may be sent home.

'I am, &c. BALCARRES.

'MY LORD, Old Maroon Town, February 12*th*, 1796.

'I have the satisfaction to inform your lordship, that six maroons, capable of bearing arms, have this day been brought in by Johnstone, with a number of women and children. It seems that the remnant of their body, after the surrender of Johnstone, were met by a maroon of the name of Heath, who alarmed them by a false report of the approach of the dogs; upon which they fled deep into the woods, in the direction of Oliphant's, near Hector's River, as a drum was heard by the party which I sent from hence, at some distance. It is imagined by Johnstone, and also concurs with what I have been able to gather from the maroons themselves, that they are scattered in different bodies, as they did not see some of those whom they expected. Among those who are come in, are two of Holman Harding's sons: This is their mode; these two young men will reconnoitre us for two or three days, and then one of them will ask leave to go and bring in his father and family, and, according to the treatment, the family will come back and remain. Your lordship will perhaps be surprised to learn, that spies from those in the wood have more than once come out, by a circuitous route, to the hills over the town, and observed what has been passing; they have seen the different bodies, particularly the last, sent off to Montego-Bay, and have construed it into treachery on our part. I am told that some came to surrender, and upon this went back to the woods.

'Their

'Their want of water is, I underſtand, extreme; they cannot get any but what they draw from the wild pines; and that, Johnſtone tells me, is at this time very unwholeſome. They have a plan, if driven from theſe woods, of going towards Cave-River, at a place called Old Woman's Savanna. As faſt as they exhauſt the pines at one place, they move further on.

'I have offered no terms but lives; and it may be neceſſary to explain to your lordſhip, that I was obliged to alter my original plan of attending, with a detachment of the king's troops, the maroon party. The want of water, after the firſt day's march, was an inſuperable difficulty; and on being ſatisfied in my own mind of the fidelity of the party, I permitted them to go; and my confidence has not been forfeited: They were abſent ſix days; and if I had allowed them a longer term, perhaps more might have been brought in.

'As your lordſhip may perhaps wiſh to lay before the legiſlature the names of thoſe who have acted with ſuch fidelity to the public cauſe, I have to mention the names of Johnſtone, Smith, Sam. James, Senior, Reid, Sam. Barnett.

'I have the honour to be your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient ſervant,

"An end having been put to the ſeſſions in December laſt, ſo immediately after the unanimous vote of a thouſand guineas to me to purchaſe a piece of plate, prevented my then returning you thanks for the very honourable teſtimony of the approbation of my conduct.

"Believe me, it made a laſting impreſſion on my mind; and as it was my conſtant wiſh, in the execution of my duty to my ſovereign, to gain the eſteem of the inhabitants of Jamaica, I was particularly flattered in finding I had ſo far ſucceeded.

"I beg now to return you my moſt ſincere thanks. I ſhall, upon every occaſion, and wherever I may happen to be placed, have in view the proſperity and welfare of the iſland.

Papers. A PETITION of the commiſſioners of the St. Ann's barrack and the St. Ann's barrack hoſpital was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That, by the eleventh clauſe of the additional poll-tax law of 1792, the petitioners were appointed commiſſioners for repairing the St. Ann's barrack; and for which purpoſe the houſe granted the ſum of 500*l.*

"That the petitioners, in conſequence of a detachment of the 16th regiment being ordered to occupy that barrack, and reported to be very ſickly, they were aſſiduous in having the ſame repaired, for the reception of ſuch detachment; and finding that the ſaid ſum of 500*l.* was not ſufficient for the purpoſe, they were obliged to undertake, and are ſtill liable for the payment of ſundry accounts for, work abſolutely neceſſary to be done to the ſaid barrack, before the troops could poſſibly be accommodated therein, amounting to 308*l.* 19*s.* 6½*d.*

"That, by the twenty-fifth clauſe of the poll-tax law, paſſed in 1792, the petitioners were alſo appointed commiſſioners for building an hoſpital for the St. Ann's barrack; and for which purpoſe the houſe granted 500*l.*

"That

"That the petitioners, finding the ſaid ſum not nearly adequate to complete the ſaid hoſpital, were obliged to undertake the payment of ſundry accounts, amounting to 202*l.* 11½*d.* and which was abſolutely neceſſary, before the ſick of the detachment and diſtreſſed ſoldiers wives, arrived with the troops from Montego-Bay, could be removed thereto from the temporary hoſpital, which was found to be very unhealthy.

"That the petitioners have been frequently applied to for payment of the forementioned ſums; but not having any funds in their hands, are unable to diſcharge the ſame;"

And praying for relief.

Three meſſages from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follow:

Firſt meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe, that in conſequence of a repreſentation from the cuſtos of Kingſton in behalf of the merchants, ſtating 'That the ſhipping and the produce of this iſland were in the moſt inſecure ſtate, owing to the numerous privateers of the enemy, which daily infeſt the coaſt, and commit depredations even in the harbours;' and in conſequence of its being impreſſed, that the aſſembly would, in all probability, make good any expence that might be incurred by the chartering of armed veſſels to cruiſe againſt theſe privateers; his honour was induced, on ſuch repreſentation and ſuch impreſſion, to charter four veſſels of the above deſcription for that ſervice: That the charter-parties ſhall be laid before the houſe; and his honour truſts the houſe will make good the expence."

Second meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a letter, No. 1, from Don Juan de las Caſas, governor of Cuba, to his honour, relative to the ſending to Jamaica the Spaniſh dogs and their keepers; and alſo a letter, No. 2, from the marquis del Real Socorro, preſident of the Conſulat at the Havannah, to W. D. Quarrell, eſquire; and alſo a report, No. 3, of captain Farquhar to the council of the Havannah; which papers, No. 2 and 3, have reference to the compromiſe aſked for by Don Juan de las Caſas, as deſcribed in his above-mentioned letter No. 1. Alſo, No. 4, the agreement made between W. D. Quarrell, eſquire, and the Spaniards.

No. 1.

'MY LORD,

'By the hand of lieutenant-colonel Quarrell, I have received the letter with which your excellency is pleaſed to favour me, under date the 9th of the laſt paſt month; recommending that gentleman, by the commiſſion he brings, to buy dogs in this iſland, for the purpoſe of following the maroons in the woods. Agreeably to ſuch your excellency's weighty recommendation, Mr. Quarrell was authorized to acquit himſelf of his commiſſion, and to-morrow he returns, carrying with him the dogs wanted, as well as the people of this country he required to look after them. But while I enjoy the pleaſure of complying with your excellency's deſire, I ought to repreſent to your conſideration, that our laws for the Indies reſiſt the admiſſion of ſtrangers into the ports of our colonies; thoſe only excepted in this iſland, who bring new negroes for ſale here, and ſuch Americans as come to us with proviſions. Nor hath our government ever departed from this ſyſtem, even with the moſt favoured favoured nations, and in the ſtricteſt alliance with it. Wherefore, I beſeech your excellency, weighing the diſagreeable ſituation I am in, between duty and the deſire I have of obliging you, to relieve me from the painful alternative; favouring me with opportunities that, without a compromiſe of obligation, may afford me the ſatisfaction of employing myſelf in your ſervice.

'God preſerve your excellency for many years.

No. 2.

'SIR,

'The council of the Havannah, to which the king of Spain has committed the charge of promoting whatever tends to the improvement of agriculture, commerce, and navigation, of the iſland of Cuba, are of opinion, that the eſtabliſhing light-houſes, at certain ſtations on its extenſive coaſts, is an object worthy its attention, upon which the ſafety of navigators greatly depends, and, through the want of ſuch help, their lives and properties are continually expoſed.

'As yet the council are only engaged about fixing one at the Havannah, for the particular navigation of that port. The locating others on the ſeveral points neceſſary as well for the Mexican gulph as the various channels that ſurround this iſland, is a vaſt and expenſive undertaking, beyond the actual reſources of the council. But if it ſhould be found that innumerable advantages would reſult to the commerce of Jamaica from ſuch eſtabliſhments, and this appears manifeſt from the converſations you have held with us upon the buſineſs, and that ſufficient means ſhould be propoſed to the council to carry the plan into execution, with reſources applicable thereto, the council will with pleaſure attend to what is offered on the part of the commerce of Jamaica, and, with its utmoſt ability, will contribute to accompliſh an undertaking of ſo much utility to both nations.

'It only remains for me to ſtate to you, ſir, that the council is deſirous of knowing the opinion of the moſt experienced and intelligent Engliſh mariners, reſpecting the points where light-houſes ſhould be erected on this iſland, the manner of conſtructing them, and the expence attending; with ſuch other particulars as may be neceſſary for us to have in view, ſhould ſuch eſtabliſhments go forward; and to requeſt of you, ſir, as deputy of the legiſlative aſſembly of Jamaica, to be pleaſed to communicate theſe intentions of the council, that it may obtain the deſired information, and learn what reſolves may be taken on the object of this letter.

No. 3.

'1*ſt.* It would ſeem neceſſary, for the ſafety of the navigation under conſideration, to eſtabliſh three light-houſes; viz. one on the Grand Caymanas, the ſecond on the Black Key, near the ſouth-weſt point of the Colorades, the third on Point Jacko.

'2*dly.* It may reaſonably be ſuppoſed the government of Jamaica, when applied to, will charge itſelf with the eſtabliſhment of the firſt.

'3*dly.* It would appear that the other, on the Colorades, might, by two reflectors placed thus △ in a lantern of a ſexangular ſhape and ſufficient height, inſure the ſafety of veſſels approaching that dangerous reef.

'4*thly.* One of the ſame deſcription on Point Jacko would not only be of great ſervice to the navigation of the Old Streights, but ſecure the paſſage through the Gulph, and, from the certainty of the departure and ſhort diſtance, in a great meaſure do away the neceſſity of a light on the Martyrs.

'To prevent as much as poſſible, any diſappointment from the lights being out of order, it will be beſt to uſe the moſt ſimple; and as thoſe at Liverpool have anſwered every purpoſe, being conſtructed from the reſult of numberleſs experiments, and of which you have an account in Hutchinſon's Practical Seamanſhip, they may be recommended as the beſt and cheapeſt. If, after all, a light might be thought neceſſary on the Martyrs, it is recommended to moor a floating light within the ſouth point of the Carysfort Reef; as it is on that ſhoal that nineteen out of twenty veſſels that are loſt meet their fate.'

No. 4.

'Don Guillermo Dawes Quarrell, lieutenant-colonel of militia, and his Britannic majeſty's commiſſary, on the one part, and the underſigned individuals on the other, have agreed to the following articles:

'1ſt. That we, the underſigned, oblige ourſelves to go to the iſland of Jamaica, taking each three dogs, for the hunting and ſeizing negroes.

'2d. That, when arrived at the ſaid iſland, and informed of the ſituation of the runaway or rebellious negroes, we oblige ourſelves to practiſe every means that may be neceſſary to purſue, and apprehend with our dogs, ſaid rebellious negroes; ſettling before-hand the proper time and mode of our excurſions with that government, who are to ſupply us with every aſſiſtance that may be judged neceſſary, ſuch as troops, arms, and ammunition.

'3d. That our ſtay in the ſaid iſland ſhall be three months, counted from the day of our embarking at Batabano; and for our ſervices during which time we are to be allowed two hundred dollars each; one hundred of which is to be paid down, and the other at the expiration of the three months.

'4th. That, beſides the two hundred dollars above ſtipulated, all our expences of maintenance, in ſickneſs or in health, ſhall be borne by the ſaid D. Guillermo Dawes Quarrell, or the government of Jamaica, from the time we embark at Batabano to our return to ſaid place.

'5th. That if, at the expiration of our being three months in the iſland of Jamaica, that government ſhould conſider our reſidence there for a longer time neceſſary, it then ſhall be at our option to make a new agreement; and in caſe any of us may wiſh to return immediately, that government then ſhall provide us with a paſſage to Batabano.

'6th. That being informed that the government of Jamaica offers a reward of 960 dollars for apprehending of any of the rebellious negroes, agreeable to proclamation publiſhed in that iſland; we hereby agree to ſubmit ourſelves to ſuch re-partition as that government may make of ſuch reward betwixt us and the auxiliary troops that may aſſiſt us, this reward being totally independent of thoſe expreſſed in the third and fourth articles.

'And having unanimouſly agreed to all the foregoing articles, we promiſe to abide by them faithfully and exactly; and furthermore, that we will all of us, with our dogs, be at Batabano on the evening of the 1ſt December, ready to embark.

Third

Third meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe a letter which he has received from the lord biſhop of London, as preſident of the ſociety for the converſion, and religious inſtruction and education, of the negro ſlaves in the Britiſh Weſt-India iſlands; alſo the charter of the ſaid ſociety, and the inſtructions for the miſſionaries to the Weſt-India iſlands.

"I am likewiſe commanded by his honour to acquaint the houſe, that the miſſionary for Jamaica, the reverend Mr. Munn, is arrived in this iſland, bearing the above letter, charter, and inſtructions, as his credentials from the lord biſhop of London.

'MY LORD, 'London-Houſe, October 6, 1795.

'The bearer of this is Mr. Munn, a clergyman of the church of England, appointed a miſſionary to the iſland of Jamaica, by a ſociety incorporated by his majeſty's royal charter, of which I have the honour to be preſident, and which is entitled The ſociety for the converſion, religious inſtruction and education, of the negro ſlaves in the Britiſh Weſt-India iſlands. Your predeceſſor general Williamſon was apprized by me of the formation of this ſociety, and of its intention to ſend out miſſionaries to the Britiſh iſlands for the purpoſes above mentioned. And, for your lordſhip's information on this head, I take the liberty of incloſing to you a copy of his majeſty's charter incorporating this ſociety, and of the inſtructions given by the ſociety to the miſſionaries for the direction of their conduct. From theſe your lordſhip will perceive, that the ſole employment of the miſſionary is to be, the converſion and religious inſtruction of the adult negroes, ſlaves, and the education of the young ſlaves in the principles of the Chriſtian religion. He is not to interfere in any degree with the political, commercial, or civil affairs of the iſland, with the rights of the parochial clergy, or the rights of maſters over their ſlaves, or to concern himſelf in the leaſt with the queſtion lately agitated in the Britiſh parliament reſpecting the negroes. His ſole object muſt be, to make the negro ſlaves good Chriſtians, and to teach them what the Goſpel enjoins; that is, ſobriety, temperance, veracity, honeſty, piety towards God, and fidelity, ſubmiſſion, and obedience to their maſters; and this only with the permiſſion of the owners, and at ſuch hours as they approve, without interfering with their uſual labours.

'Under theſe circumſtances, your excellency will, I truſt, afford him your countenance and protection, and facilitate, as far as your ſituation allows, the ſucceſs of his miſſion.

'I have the honour to be, my lord, your lordſhip's moſt obedient ſervant,

'B. LONDON."

Ordered, That the above petition and three meſſages, and papers therewith ſent, be referred to the committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Then the houſe reſolved itſelf into ſuch committee:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Murray took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Murray, from the committee, reported one reſolution; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table; where being again read, was agreed unto by the houſe, and is as follows:

That

That it be recommended to the houſe to ſend a meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, informing him, that the houſe cannot relinquiſh its juſt claim to the protection of the mother country, in an equal degree with other parts of the Britiſh empire, as long as this iſland contributes ſo conſiderably to its revenue, navigation, and commerce; that having already incurred an enormous expence, far beyond the ordinary reſources of the iſland, in conſequence of the rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons, the houſe cannot conſent to impoſe any further extraordinary burdens on their conſtituents. Fully impreſſed with the abſolute neceſſity of ſuch meaſures as have been hitherto adopted by his honour, in procuring a partial protection to the coaſting trade of this iſland, which has been hitherto almoſt totally neglected, they hope and truſt that his honour will be pleaſed to extend ſuch protection, by affording ſuch immediate additional ſecurity as to him ſhall ſeem expedient for the protection of the coaſting trade, at the preſent period, when the whole produce of the iſland is about to be exported to the mother country; but that the houſe cannot, for the reaſons already aſſigned, make good any part of the expence attending the ſame.

Then Mr. Murray acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move the houſe for leave to ſit again:

Reſolved, That this houſe will again, on Tueſday next, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, upon the bill for amending and keeping in repair the road from the foot of the hill at Unity-Valley penn, in the pariſh of St. Ann, over Mount-Diablo, to the foot of the hill at Charlemount paſtures, in the pariſh of St. Thomas in the Vale, and for veſting in truſtees the toll to be raiſed by a turnpike on the ſaid road, for the purpoſes aforeſaid, and for repealing an act, paſſed in the year 1787, entitled, "An act for amending and keeping in repair the road leading from Joſeph Price's gate, in the pariſh of St. Ann, over Mount-Diablo, to Rio-Magno-Gully, in the pariſh of St. Thomas in the Vale, and for veſting in truſtees the toll to be raiſed by a turnpike on the ſaid road, for the purpoſes aforeſaid:"

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Rennalls took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Rennalls, from the committee, reported, that they had gone through the bill, and had made ſeveral amendments thereto; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table, with the bill; where being again ſeverally read, were agreed unto by the houſe:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill, with the amendments, be engroſſed; and that the title be, "An act for amending and keeping in repair the road from the foot of the hill at Unity-Valley penn, in the pariſh of St. Ann, over Mount-Diablo, to the foot of the hill at Charlemount paſtures, in the pariſh of St. Thomas in the Vale, and for veſting in truſtees the toll to be raiſed by a turnpike on the ſaid road, for the purpoſes aforeſaid; and for repealing an act, paſſed in the year 1787, entitled, "An act for amending and keeping in repair the road leading from Joſeph Price's gate, in the pariſh of St. Ann, over Mount-Diablo, to Rio-Magno-Gully, in the pariſh of St. Thomas in the Vale, and for veſting in truſtees the toll to be raiſed by a turnpike on the ſaid road, for the purpoſes aforeſaid."

A motion

A motion being made, that a committee be appointed to prepare an humble addreſs and petition to his majeſty, ſtating the want of protection to the coaſt of this iſland, from the ſwarms of privateers that infeſt it, and in a great degree block up the ports of this iſland; and further ſtating the want of regular forces for our internal defence; and beſeeching him to ſend a ſufficient force, both naval and military, to our relief and protection;

Ordered, That Mr. Oſborn, Mr. Cuthbert, and Mr. Campbell, be a committee for that purpoſe.

A motion being made, that the houſe do grant the ſum of 2000*l.* to each county, to be appropriated towards the carrying on and completing ſuch internal roads of communication as may be neceſſary to encourage the ſettlers to cultivate lands at a diſtance from the ſea, and that a committee be appointed to appropriate the ſaid grant;

The houſe divided:

The noes went forth:

Noes, 12:—Mr. Taylor, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Grant, Mr. Rennalls, Mr. Johnſtone, Mr. Anderſon, Mr. G. Fuller, Mr. Chriſtie, Mr. Thompſon, M. Deans, Mr. Henckell, and Mr. Foulks:

Ayes, 12:—Mr. Oſborn, Mr. Hodges, Mr. Roſs, Mr. Cockburn, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Cuthbert, Mr. M'Lean, Mr. Galbraith, Mr. Murray, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Vaughan, and Mr. Mathiſon:

And then Mr. Speaker gave his caſting voice in the affirmative:

So it was reſolved in the affirmative accordingly:

Ordered, That Mr. Murray, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Oſborn, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Galbraith, Mr. Johnſtone, Mr. Cuthbert, and Mr. Roſs, be a committee for that purpoſe.

THE engroſſed bill for amending and keeping in repair the road from the foot of the hill at Unity-Valley penn, in the pariſh of St. Ann, over Mount-Diablo, to the foot of the hill at Charlemount paſtures, in the pariſh of St. Thomas in the Vale, and for veſting in truſtees the toll to be raiſed by a turnpike on the ſaid road, for the purpoſes aforeſaid; and for repealing an act, paſſed in the year 1787, entitled, "An act for amending and keeping in repair the road leading from Joſeph Price's gate, in the pariſh of St. Ann, over Mount-Diablo, to Rio-Magno-Gully, in the pariſh of St Thomas in the Vale; and for veſting in truſtees the toll to be raiſed by a turnpike on the ſaid road, for the purpoſes aforeſaid," was read the third time:

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill do paſs.

Ordered, That the following meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor:

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to inform you, that the houſe cannot relinquiſh its juſt claim to the protection of the mother country, in an equal degree with other parts of the Britiſh empire, as long as this iſland contributes ſo conſiderably to its revenue, navigation, and commerce; that having already incurred an enormous expence, far beyond the ordinary reſources of the iſland, in conſequence of the rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons, the houſe cannot conſent to impoſe any further extraordinary burdens on their conſtituents.

" Fully impreſſed with the abſolute neceſſity of ſuch meaſures as have been hitherto adopted by your honour, in procuring a partial protection to the coaſting trade of this iſland, which has been hitherto almoſt totally neglected, they hope and truſt that your honour will be pleaſed to extend ſuch protection, by affording ſuch immediate additional ſecurity as to your honour ſhall ſeem expedient, for the protection of the coaſting trade, at the preſent period, when the whole produce of the iſland is about to be exported to the mother country; but that the houſe cannot, for the reaſons already aſſigned, make good any part of the expence attending the ſame."

Ordered, That Mr. Oſborn and Mr. Cuthbert be a committee to wait on his honour with the above meſſage; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

Mr. Cuthbert, from the committee to whom the bill to repeal an act entitled, " An act for raiſing and fitting out parties, for the ſuppreſſing any rebellion in this iſland, during the continuance of this act," and for the more effectual raiſing and fitting out parties, for the ſuppreſſing of any rebellion in this iſland, and for other purpoſes, was referred to be reconſidered, reported the ſame; which was received, and read the firſt time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time to-morrow.

A petition of John Hutchiſon, of the pariſh of St. Ann, planter, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

" That the petitioner, ſince the year 1782, has been diſcharged, as incapable of doing military duty:

" That, ſince the commencement of the preſent martial law, the petitioner, together with his two nephews, William Galbraith and Henry Hutchiſon, have been from time to time, and to different properties, purchaſing large quantities of cattle for the uſe of the public:

" That in its accompliſhment the petitioner and his ſaid two nephews have had a great deal of trouble, and much of their time expended, without any emolument;"

And praying for relief.

A petition

A petition of Margaret Smith, relict of corporal James Smith, of the royal artillery, commanded by major Ramſay, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That the petitioner's late huſband was, in the month of February, 1795, ordered to the pariſh of St. Thomas in the Eaſt, to prove the guns of the forts and batteries there; and, in the execution of ſuch ſervice, loſt his life by the burſting of a cannon:

"That the petitioner is, in conſequence, reduced to the greateſt neceſſity and want;"

And praying for relief.

Two meſſages from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

Firſt meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe ſundry papers, from No. 1. to No. 5, inclulive, reſpecting the guard upon the maroon priſoners.

No. 1.

'SIR,

'You will take care that a ſufficient party of the St. James's militia be aſſembled, to do duty as guards over the maroons: About ſeventy, I ſhould think, would be a proper number.

'As the ſituation of the maroons muſt be extremely crowded in Montego-Bay barracks, and as I think that a part of them may be well accommodated at St. Ann's barrack, it will be proper to march about one half to that place. You will therefore notify my intentions to the maroons, that they may arrange the families who are to go, and thoſe who are to ſtay.

'I received the names of the 109 who went down firſt, I ſhould be glad now to have the names of the reſt of the men; women and children may be put down in the lump.

'I have the honour to be your moſt obedient humble ſervant,

'Dromilly, Feb. 2, 1796. BALCARRES.

'Hon. M. G. Palmer, or officer commanding at Montego-Bay.'

No. 2.

'MY LORD, Montego-Bay, 3d February, 1796.

'I regret that your lordſhip's diſpatch of yeſterday did not come to my hands until after general Reid had left this place, with the purpoſe of remaining a few days on his eſtate, as I might have procured from him information on the ſubject of that diſpatch, worthy of your lordſhip's attention. I fear, my lord, your plan of removing part of the maroons will not be attended with the beneficial effects your lordſhip intends; and with great deference offer theſe reaſons: The maroons, though rather reſtricted as to room in the barracks, are perfectly tranquil and content; much pains have been uſed to bring them to that ſtate of tranquillity; and I pray your lordſhip to conſider whether any alteration in their ſituation, and particularly a ſeparation, may not excite apprehenſions in the minds of people conſcious of having deſerved ſevere puniſhment. Their preſent guard is ſo conducted, that every diſagreeable apprehenſion is removed from the priſoners; and I am credibly informed that the barracks in St. Ann's are by no means in a proper ſtate for their reception. With great deference I ſubmit theſe reaſons to your lordſhip's conſideration; and conſidering myſelf that it is my duty to convey every information in my power to the commander in chief, I flatter myſelf I ſhall ſtand excuſed for this intruſion on your lordſhip, and be favoured with your further ſentiments reſpecting thoſe poor deluded creatures, whoſe ſituation has excited your compaſſionate attention.

'I have the honour to be, MY LORD, your lordſhip's faithful and obedient ſervant,

'The liſt ſent herewith I believe contains a correct account of the names of the men, and the number of women and children, maroon priſoners at Montego-Bay barracks; which I hope will be ſatisfactory to your lordſhip.'

No. 3.

'SIR,

'I am honoured by your letter of the 31 inſtant. With reſpect to the buſineſs I had the honour to communicate, it certainly could not undergo any change in my ſentiments, either from the preſence or the abſence of major-general Reid.

'I am ſorry to hear that you have been obliged to take much pains to bring the maroons to a ſtate of tranquility.

'The idea is the more alarming to me, as I do not look upon Montego-Bay barrack as a place of complete ſecurity. I am therefore to deſire, that one half of the maroon men be ſent off to St. Ann's, agreeable to the route I ſent. As general Walpole wiſhes to have ſix of the maroon men at his command, thoſe men will of courſe remain at Montego-Bay; and general Walpole, I believe, has fixed their names yeſterday, and will call for them.

'As to my further ſentiments reſpecting theſe maroons, who are named poor deluded creatures, I confeſs I have a little heſitation in applying the appellation of deluſion to men who have been guilty of the moſt atrocious murders, and the moſt vile, dangerous, and ungrateful rebellion.

'I have the honour to be, SIR, your moſt obedient and humble ſervant,

' MY LORD, 8th March, 1796.

' Agreeably to your lordſhip's deſire, I beg leave to aſſure you, that there is not the ſmalleſt foundation for the report which has lately circulated, that the maroons confined in the St. Ann's barrack, by your lordſhip's orders, have had permiſſion to go about the town, nor have they, at any time ſince their confinement, received ſuch indulgence; any other mode of conduct would have been contrary to your lordſhip's orders. The annexed report will ſatisfy your lordſhip, that the number of 160 maroons are in ſecurity; and the letter from lieutenant-colonel Jenkins, incloſing the report, aſſures me that the maroons continue to behave well, and are very healthy.

' You will receive orders from major-general Palmer to take the charge of theſe priſoners; at which moment you are to conſider the commands given in this letter to be in force; and you will ſend a copy of this letter to general Walpole.

' Should you find your party too ſmall to afford the ſecurity you may deem neceſſary, you will make a requiſition to general Walpole for a reinforcement from the 17th light dragoons; who is hereby required to ſend it to you forthwith.

Second meſſage.

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to inform the houſe, that, taking into his conſideration the heavy expence incurred by this iſland in conſequence of the maroon rebellion, and alſo knowing his majeſty's anxious wiſh to protect the trade of Jamaica, his honour will comply with the requeſt of the houſe, ſignified in their meſſage of this day."

And praying for relief:

NOTE, For account ſee appendix, No. XV.

Ordered, That the ſaid petition and account be referred to the committee appointed for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts; that they enquire into the allegations therein ſet forth, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon, to the houſe.

town and parish of Kingston, filled up and arranged the same, and therefrom made out two fair copies or rolls of such duties as ought to be paid, and also kept a correct register thereof, agreeably to law; for which he hath not received any recompense, and which service materially interferes with the other duties of his office:

"That, by the said rum law, the clerk of the peace is allowed a fee of two pounds ten shillings on each license; which being only annual, the trouble is comparatively trivial;"

Resolved, That a message be sent to his honour the lieutenant-governor, with a copy of the above resolution.

Ordered, That the several commissioners appointed by law to lay out the sum of 15,000*l.* granted in the sessions of 1794, for the making and repairing the several roads in the counties of Surrey, Middlesex, and Cornwall, do make returns of the expenditure thereof to the clerk of this house, on or before the first day of the next session:

Jovis, 17° die Martii, 1796.

Prayers. MR. M'Lean, from the committee to whom the petition of Joſeph Harriſon, clerk of the veſtry of the pariſh of Kingſton, was referred, reported,

That the committee had proceeded to examine the books of record of the veſtry of the pariſh of Kingſton, as directed to be kept under the rum law; and find, that the duty required to be performed by the clerk of the veſtry is as follows:

Providing blank forms for the quarterly givings-in of the ſeveral retailers of diſtilled ſpirits:
Arranging and filling up the ſame, and therefrom making out a fair roll of aſſeſſment for the collector and inſpector, with warrant annexed, for collecting the duties:
Making fair copies of the ſame, with certificate annexed, for the receiver-general:
And keeping a correct regiſter of the ſame.

That the number of retailers are about one hundred; conſequently, the clerk of the veſtry has to arrange and fill up quarterly,

100 Blank forms, equal in one year to - - -	400
100 Rolls of aſſeſſment, quarterly - -	400
Fair copies to the receiver-general - - -	400
Regiſtering the ſame - - - -	400

Which duty he has performed hitherto without having received any recompenſe whatever; and the committee find, that the other officers who are required by the rum law to perform certain duties, are allowed fees:

And, that the committee are of opinion, that the petitioner ſhould be allowed a reaſonable compenſation for paſt ſervices; and that, when the rum bill comes again before the houſe, a fee ſhould be eſtabliſhed therein for the clerks of the veſtries, as a recompenſe for the duties thereby required of them.

Two meſſages from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

Firſt meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to inform the houſe, that he underſtands the contract for ſupplying the regular troops with proviſions in this iſland does not extend to the officers. In the event, therefore, of martial law being continued, the officers ſtationed at the maroon towns and out-poſts, could not ſupply themſelves with proviſions, there being no market in the neighbourhood of theſe poſts.

"As his honour propoſes, that martial law ſhall ceaſe on Friday the 18th March, he ſubmits to the houſe, whether ſome temporary arrangement ſhould not be made with the contractor, reſpecting ſuch ſupplies."

Second meſſage.

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to acquaint the houſe, that a body of rebels ſtill continue out in the woods, in rebellion, compoſed of about twenty-four Trelawny maroons, and about eighty runaway ſlaves: That forty of them are armed with firelocks, and the reſt with cutlaſſes: That he does not deem this body of ſuch conſideration and conſequence, as to impoſe the neceſſity of continuing martial law: That the militia of this iſland have, for ſeveral months, been ſo conſtantly employed on actual ſervice againſt the Trelawny maroon rebels, as to make it highly deſirable to grant them ſuch repoſe as may be conſiſtent with the ſafety of the colony: That his honour is of opinion, that the rebels rebels may be followed by means of the regular troops only, without his having recourſe either to martial law, or to the party act now in force:

"But there is no law now exiſting, which provides ſuſtenance and comfort for his majeſty's regular forces employed on actual ſervice, excepting during the period of martial law: His honour therefore truſts that the houſe will, in its wiſdom, make proviſion for the ſuſtenance and comfort of his majeſty's regular forces to be employed againſt the rebels; the granting of which will give much relief to the militia, who otherwiſe muſt be called out under the party act, and at a time when the regular forces remain inactive; which of neceſſity muſt be the caſe, ſhould martial law be diſcontinued."

Ordered, That the above report and meſſages be referred to the committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

A petition of Hugh Fraſer, deputy-marſhal, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

That, purſuant to an order of the houſe of the 3d December laſt, the commiſſioners had enquired what ſlaves, in their diſtricts, had behaved themſelves meritoriouſly to the public, during the preſent rebellion; and did find, that Cato, late the property of Samuel Vaughan, behaved behaved meritoriouſly, by obtaining and communicating intelligence, and as a guide to parties ſent out againſt the rebels;

"That there are very extenſive tracts of uncultivated land in the interior of the country, whoſe ſoil is well adapted to the cultivation of ſugar; beſides thoſe that are fit for guinea-graſs, coffee, and proviſions:

"That the rebellion of the Trelawny maroons hath been the cauſe, from the various operations of the army, of diſcovering and examining many places under the latter deſcription, tion; but thoſe under the former, being farther removed and without roads of communication, remain unknown, but to a few individuals:

"That experience hath fully demonſtrated, that the prolongation of the war is in a great degree occaſioned by the want of knowledge of the interior parts:

"That a new map of the iſland, including all rivers, roads, and paths, in and acroſs the interior and central parts of the country, deſcribing the quality of the ſoil, ſhewing the facility of making roads of communication, aſcertaining the quantity of the cultivated and uncultivated lands in each pariſh, and comprehending the harbours, coaſt, rivers, roads, paths, eſtates, penns, coffee-works, and other ſettlements, would be highly conducive to its intereſts:

"That a work of this nature and magnitude, whereby the reſources of the iſland, hitherto unknown, would be diſcloſed, and a door opened for promoting and extending its cultivation and ſettlement, is not unworthy the patronage of the houſe:

"That the petitioner, being already poſſeſſed of a conſiderable part of the materials required, thinks he might be able to complete ſuch a map of Jamaica in three years, finiſhing a county every year;

Resolved, That the house do agree to the report:

Ordered, That Mr. M'Lean, Mr. Murray, Mr. Fitch, and Mr. Woolfrys, be added to the said committee.

A motion being made, that it be an instruction to the committee of the whole house, to whom any of the money-bills stand committed, to receive a clause for paying to David Jones, esquire, naval officer, the sum of 50*l.* for his extraordinary trouble in furnishing the committee of correspondence with an account of provisions and lumber imported into this island, and with an account of produce exported:

Ordered, That the same do lie on the table three days, agreeably to the rule of the house.

Then the house adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine of the clock.

☞ By virtue of an order of the house, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print these Votes, and that no other person do presume to print the same.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Martis, 23° die Martii, 1796.

ORDERED, That Mr. Cuthbert and Mr. Fitch be a committee to carry the engrossed bill of yesterday to the council, and desire their concurrence thereto; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

Mr. Vaughan, according to order, presented to the house a bill for making certain alterations and amendments in the streets and town of Montego-Bay, to render it more safe, healthy, and convenient in future, and for other purposes; which was received, and read the first time:

Ordered, That the said bill be read a second time to-morrow.

Mr. Osborn, according to order, presented to the house a bill for laying an additional duty on the importation of negroes, and applying the same to several uses; which was received, and read the first time:

Ordered,

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time on Tueſday next.

Mr. Cockburn, from the commiſſioners appointed by law for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts, reported,

That they had duly conſidered of the ſeveral matters contained in the petition of Alexander Donaldſon, referred to them by the houſe, and had made the neceſſary enquiries to enable them to aſcertain its merits, as well by a reference to the contract entered into with the ſaid Alexander Donaldſon, as by adverting to the practice of the navy and victualling boards, and the board of the ſick and hurt in England: They find, that the allegations and loſſes, ſetforth in the ſaid petition, have been fully proved; and, in order to ſhew the exact amount of ſuch loſſes, the contractor has laid before the board an account of rations iſſued between the 30th November, 1793, and the 31ſt December, 1795; from which it appears, that the number of rations for men, widows, wives, and children, reduced to full rations, furniſhed for the ſubſiſtence of the troops during that time, was 147,359: The commiſſioners have, in conſequence, made a quarterly ſtatement of the current market prices of the different articles of proviſions, which the contractor was bound to furniſh between October, 1793, and February, 1796, containing the average prices of the weekly rations iſſued during the whole time; whereby it appears, that the full weekly ration, excluſive of all expences of conveyance and charges attending the buſineſs, ſtands the contractor in the ſum of 8*s.* 8¼*d.* (including the iſland duty on rum), which is 10¼*d. per* ration more than he has received under his contract; ſo that the actual loſs on the price of the rations amounts to 6292*l.* 12*s.* 3*d.* from 30 November, 1793, to 31 December, 1795; and the commiſſioners ſubmit, that this ſum ought to be made good to the contractor, together with the further ſum of 1600*l.* which, they are of opinion, is a ſufficient compenſation for his trouble and reimburſement for the expences and contingent charges of management during the above period. But on taking into conſideration the fluctuating ſtate of the market, the high prices and even ſcarcity of every article of proviſions, the probability of a number of troops being ſtationed in the interior parts of the country, and the critical ſituation of the times, the commiſſioners are of opinion, that no fair and equitable contract can be carried on; and they recommend to the houſe, to empower them to agree with the contractor to annul his contract from and after the 31ſt inſtant, until which time his further account of loſs ſhould be made up and provided for: And, in this caſe, the commiſſioners propoſe to direct the contractor to make the neceſſary purchaſes of proviſions, &c. for ſubſiſting the troops, under their inſpection and control; and that he ſhould continue to furniſh the uſual rations as may be ordered, upon being allowed ſuch commiſſion upon his actual purchaſes as may be judged a reaſonable compenſation for his trouble of iſſuing and accounting for the ſame.

' Dear sir,

' I have great ſatisfaction in announcing to you, that, in conſequence of orders which I iſſued

iſſued to major-general Walpole, he moved forward with a ſtrong column of regulars, accompanied by the Spaniards and the dogs.

'He had only advanced ſome hundred yards, when a maroon delivered a meſſage from Johnſtone: As he had experienced much trifling evaſion, and inſincerity, it was judged expedient to move ſlowly on, merely taking the precaution of keeping the dogs in the rear of the column.

'In conſequence of this arrangement of the line of march, which I conceive was both firm and temperate, the maroons, to the number of 260, have ſurrendered.

'I have in my poſſeſſion, of Trelawny maroons, upwards of 400 perſons, of whom I count about 130 men. Some of the young maroons are ſtill out; but I think we have a near and happy proſpect of extinguiſhing the embers of this rebellion.

'You will announce this pleaſing event as ſpeedily as poſſible, in the Spaniſh-Town paper.

'MY DEAR LORD, Old Maroon-Town, January 17th, 1796.

'Mr. Mathiſon will have informed your lordſhip of the reſult of yeſterday. Palmer and Parkinſon are not yet come in, and there have been ſome doubts as to them; but I learn to-day that they will come.

'I hope to diſpatch a body of about 200, this day or to-morrow, to Montego-Bay: There does not appear to be the leaſt heſitation, either to go down there or to deliver up their arms. Johnſtone is more eaſily to be brought to a concluſion than any of their chiefs whom I have met with, and he preſerves very ſtrict diſcipline amongſt his people.

'I could wiſh that your lordſhip would have the goodneſs to allow me to keep ſuch a body of them here with me as, from circumſtances of the moment, may moſt conduce to keep them ſatisfied in their minds: There is more in this than moſt people think for; and we are at preſent very great friends. Johnſtone has deſired that his people may not have rum, and he yeſterday puniſhed one man for drunkenneſs.

'I have to thank your lordſhip for your perſonal kindneſs to me, and the approbation which is likely to flow to me from the king. It ever has been my wiſh to diſcharge my duty honeſtly; and although I do not expect that his majeſty will ever conſider my humble exertions to the diſparagement of my ſeniors, yet I hope that your lordſhip will not think me unreaſonable in requeſting, at the termination of this rebellion, your permiſſion to return to Europe, with a view to obtain his majeſty's conſent, at a general peace, to the ſale of my commiſſion.

'I have the honour to be, with every regard and reſpect, your lordſhip's moſt faithful ſervant,

'DEAR SIR,

'I am honoured by yours of the 17th inſtant; and I have not the ſmalleſt doubt you will do all you can to realize thoſe advantages we have attained, which are in ſome degree inſecure, until ſuch time as theſe quickſilver rebels are under lock and key. I merely ſuggeſt, that a converſation may ariſe in the country, that the maroons have not ſurrendered in terms of the treaty; and as ſuch a rumour may get to the maroons, which would make them uneaſy, I wiſh that their numbers reſident with you may be reduced by every means you can deviſe: Any part of them that you wiſh to keep in the Old Town will, of courſe, remain until you ſee the propriety of ſending them to the coaſt.

'I ſhall order ſome preparations to be made in St. Ann's barracks, for the reception of a party of them.

'MY LORD, Old Maroon-Town, January 18th, 1796.

'I have appointed Mr. Werge to ſuperintend the management of the maroons, and Mr. Cammell, of the 13th light dragoons, to act as ſurgeon's mate to them, till your lordſhip's pleaſure ſhall be known.

'Major-general Reid has, at my deſire, offered to go down to Montego-Bay with thoſe who are to depart this day: This will prevent any diſſatisfaction on their part, I truſt; not that I at preſent ſee the ſlighteſt degree of it. Johnſtone aſſures me, that they have perfect confidence as to every thing. He came to me yeſterday, to deſire leave to ſend a party of four maroons to bring in Parkinſon and Palmer, with the remainder; and that, if they failed, he gave up all wiſh to protect them, and would leave them to be dealt with as might be thought proper.

'We know perfectly where this party are; ſo, my good lord, be not alarmed too much. Smith has offered to go with me, whenever it ſhall be neceſſary, and treats Palmer and Parkinſon with great contempt. I underſtand, from the liſt ſent to me by major James, that thirty-two are ſtill out. This liſt ſhould, though made at the end of his ſuperintendency, appear to be tolerably accurate, as it agrees nearly with Smith's account.

'I muſt make another demand for negroes, in caſe of accidents.

'Martial law muſt be continued till the legiſlature comes to a final deciſion as to the ſubſiſting and ſettling theſe people. If my preſent gang of negroes do not run away, as their time is out, I ſhall, in caſe the remainder are not in, move on Tueſday after them.

'I am your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

'Earl Balcarres, &c. &c. G. WALPOLE.'

No. 4.

'DEAR SIR,

'I really think that Smith, and others whom you have mentioned, have behaved extremely well.

'I think they may with great propriety be truſted and kept with you, to the extent of any thing within ten; and their families may remain with them.

'But I confeſs I ſhall enjoy no eaſe, until I hear that all the reſt are actually at Montego-Bay. I underſtand you are getting them away; certainly ſome addreſs is neceſſary, to execute this eſſential point without offending them; and I am perſuaded that none of them who have been ſent down ought to be permitted to return.

'You have now with you all the negroes that were ſent up for the purpoſe of re-eſtabliſhing the poſt at Tacky's Bum. I ſhould be glad to know as ſoon as you have fixed the propriety of reſuming that poſt; and I ſhall give the neceſſary orders for it being occupied by a detachment from this ſide of the country.

'MY LORD, January 20th, 1796.

'Two of the maroons, out of the four ſent by Johnſtone into the woods, have returned (Sam James, one of them, having been taken ill), with three men, whom I eaſily perceived to be runaways. The other two purſued the track of thoſe who are out, and, as the horn was heard this morning, I have ſtill hopes they will be brought in.

'Smith tells me, that the maroons had, early in the war, a deſign to go to a place called Oxford, on Hector's River, about ſeven miles on this ſide of One-Eye, in St. Elizabeth's; but were ſtopped by hearing that our troops were there. I hope that Mr. Robertſon deſtroyed all the proviſions in that neighbourhood; he aſſured me that he had done ſo. I have, however, left Palmer and Parkinſon ſhould act upon this plan, ordered the 13th light dragoons to go immediately to Oxford. It muſt take up a conſiderable time, ſhould they do ſo, as Smith tells me, that it takes a day to go as far as even Vaughansfield from hence; as they are obliged to make three or four trips backwards and forwards for their children; and the wounded are ſtill in the woods, who muſt alſo be carried.

'Should any of this party come in, I ſhall directly ſend your lordſhip their names.

'Our negroes are come; ſo we can move at any time that you wiſh for it.

'Any party going hence to Hector's River muſt either go through the pens of Trelawny or by Accompong-Town.

Having received, through major Browne, your lordſhip's expreſs deſire that no expedition ſhould take place before Saturday, and that it would be better to continue negociating till that time, I had made the arrangements accordingly; and, if your lordſhip thinks proper, they ſhall now continue ſo; as I confeſs that I ſhould not wiſh that any thing ſhould be attempted of conſequence, but under ſome of the field-officers; and I have given aſſurances to the maroons of a little longer indulgence for the coming-in of their families, ſome few of whom, from ſickneſs, are ſtill with the remaining maroons in the woods.

'DEAR GENERAL,

'I muſt uſe one other argument, in addition to thoſe I urged this day, as to the expediency of ſending down the maroons to Montego-Bay; and that is a ſtrong one; namely, That it will be moſt difficult, I may ſay impoſſible, for me to meet the legiſlature until this meaſure is effected.

'The ſituation of the maroons muſt be the immediate object of their deliberation, and ſomething muſt be done by the aſſembly as to the diſpoſal of their perſons.

'It

'It will be impracticable for me to inform the aſſembly that theſe people have ſurrendered themſelves, unleſs I can give a much more ſolid proof of it than the information of their ſkipping about in the Old Town.

'I am therefore extremely anxious that this ſervice may be performed before the return of the dogs.

'MY DEAR LORD, Old Maroon-Town, Jan. 23d, 1796.

'There could have been no neceſſity for your lordſhip to recur to any argument to enforce your injunctions; it is my duty to obey them; but certainly I am not ſo fortunate as to coincide with your way of thinking; and my reaſon is, that a very different line of conduct has produced the ſucceſs which we have already experienced, and, if purſued, will probably produce more. The dogs had certainly nothing to do with it; it was not, I apprehend, known to the maroons then they were with us; for the maroons (as I wrote to your lordſhip I preſumed was the caſe) had moved the day before we did, and were on their way towards us; we met them early in the morning, about a mile's march.

'I have ordered a liſt of forty more maroons to be made out, to comply with your lordſhip's orders, in the courſe of a day or two: Some few went voluntarily this morning.

'I have the honour to be your lordſhip's moſt faithful ſervant,

'G. WALPOLE.

'The detachment has marched in ſearch of the rebels.

'Earl Balcarres, &c. &c. &c.'

'DEAR SIR,

'I give every reſpect to the ſolidity of your opinion, though it is contrary to my own.

'It is impoſſible, however, that I can meet the legiſlature, until the perſons of the maroons who have come in are actually at Montego-Bay.

'It is impoſſible alſo that I can carry into effect thoſe commands which have been given to me by his majeſty, and which are rather of a ſecret nature.

'When I enforce the meaſure of ſending theſe maroons to Montego-Bay, I ſurely take off from you all reſponſibility reſpecting the bad effects of our taking ſuch a ſtep, for which I am alone anſwerable.

'I therefore moſt earneſtly and moſt pointedly requeſt, that all the maroons may be ſent to Montego-Bay, previous to the return of the dogs, excepting only a few, which you may keep, as being uſeful to you, as deſcribed in my letter to you of the 20th inſtant.

He is poſitive that they will riſque no engagement, and relies chiefly on perſuading them to come in. This will benefit us either way; as, if we find where they are, and the perſuaſion fails, we can then purſue.

'I requeſt your lordſhip's orders, and have the honour to be your very obedient and faithful ſervant,

'Earl Balcarres, &c. &c. &c. G. WALPOLE.'

'DEAR SIR,

'I had the pleaſure of your two letters laſt evening.

'We have already ſecured advantages beyond either my own expectations, or any formed by the country. I have already realized every thing pointed out to me, in my inſtructions from his majeſty. To allow eight maroons to go into the woods, to endeavour to perſuade people to come in, who you yourſelf could not prevail upon, would be in contradiction to the ſpirit of my orders.

'I am much afraid that you have not been able to carry into execution my orders, of ſending down the maroons to Montego-Bay. The delay is of the higheſt inconvenience, as it is impoſſible that I can proceed in writing my diſpatches to government, until that duty is executed; nor can the packet be permitted to fail until I am enabled to make my report to the king.

'The opinions of his majeſty's confidential ſervants are fixed and determined on the principles of carrying on this war. I feel and I know that I am acting with them, in the orders

I have given on the ſubject of ſending the maroons to Montego-Bay. Nothing can be left, under theſe circumſtances, to your diſcretion. My orders therefore are,

'That the maroons be ſent down immediately to Montego-Bay, and to be delivered over to major-general Palmer, or the officer commanding at that poſt. If you wiſh to keep a few men with you, agreeable to my letters of the 20th and 23d, you may; but even that goes much againſt my inclination.

'The two women who ſay they belong to Accompong, I think you had beſt ſend to Montego-Bay, unleſs you have made them ſome promiſe, in conſequence of receiving my letter of yeſterday concerning them.

'I think that the maroons ſhould be ſent down when the dogs are out, not when the dogs are in.

'My wiſh therefore is, that one half of the dogs ſhould be ſent on the road towards Mocho, on Friday morning, and the other half on the road towards Tacky's, on the ſame morning. They ought to march by moon-light.

'Soon after day-break, in the ſame morning, I wiſh that ſuch of the maroons as have not been forwarded to Montego-Bay, be ſent off; they may halt that evening (Friday) at John's Hall; and I have given orders to colonel James to ſend a party of the St. James's militia to receive them at John's Hall on Friday.

The orders contained in thoſe letters I ſhall proceed to put into execution, as directed therein; but I will not anſwer to your lordſhip that the Spaniards will conſent to divide the dogs, or themſelves; and my reaſon for thinking thus is, that I made the requeſt once, and they refuſed it: But I ſhall aſk again; at all events, there may be a feint made towards Mocho.

'I am concerned that I did not receive the alterations of your lordſhip's ſentiments reſpecting the women of Accompong-Town ſooner, as I have permitted them to depart about four hours ago.

'About twenty (I have not the liſt by me, major Brent having gone with the party of maroons to Montego-Bay this morning) of the maroons are now here; they conſiſt chiefly of Smith's and Johnſtone's families; and I did ſuppoſe that it had been left to my diſcretion to have retained that number, for political reaſons, ariſing to my knowledge from local circumſtances; but they can be ſent down on Friday, if your lordſhip ſhould not alter your opinion. I am not clear at this inſtant how our effective force ſtands, and whether it will enable me to detach towards Mocho, and, at the ſame time, leave me ſufficient for an eſcort to the maroons.

'I ſay, effective force; as thoſe which returned yeſterday had undergone more fatigue, and had traverſed more ground, than will eaſily be credited. Your lordſhip would, I apprehend, wiſh, that if any point ſhould be given up, it is the march in the direction of Mocho: But I truſt that I ſhall be able to execute both.

I believe, from the manner of it, that it was a deception or a ſignal, as it was evidently meant to be as conſpicuous as poſſible.

'When I mentioned, in a former part of my letter, about the number of maroons here, I ſpoke only of the men.

'I thank your lordſhip for leaving nothing to my diſcretion; diſcretionary orders are too apt to be civil, and conſequently not very preciſe. Your lordſhip will have the goodneſs to ſay whether any, and how many, maroons may be left here. I fear that your lordſhip did not entirely read my letter, as to any party of them going out.

'I have the honour to be, &c. 'G. WALPOLE.

'I have to thank your lordſhip for my rank in the Weſt-Indies, as it appears in the Gazette.'

'DEAR SIR,

'I have ordered a detachment of militia, conſiſting of ſixty men, under the command of lieutenant-colonel Shawe, to be at the Old Maroon-Town to-morrow night.

'This column is intended to accompany that part of the dogs which goes to Tacky's; and as lieutenant-colonel Shawe has a thorough knowledge of that diſtrict of country, he will explore the part of it that lies between Tacky's and Green-Vale, following nearly lieutenant-colonel Stevenſon's laſt track.

'He will be out three days, and the dogs will return the fourth day.

'As to the part of the dogs that go on Friday morning towards Mocho, you may either make that an effective movement, provided you can properly ſupport it, or make it merely a feint, to enable you to get away the maroons in the manner I have mentioned, which is my principal object.

But your lordſhip may I think reſt aſſured, that none of them are on that ſide: They may perhaps go that way on excurſions to burn the canes, but not by intent to reſide there. Even Johnſtone's party did not like the ground, thinking it not ſufficiently rocky and difficult for their purpoſes.

'Smith was deſirous that his brothers ſhould go down to the Point, to ſee his father, and that the two former ſhould remain there for a few days, in the room of his father and the other brother who is there. 'DEAR SIR,

'My ſentiments are long ago made up upon this buſineſs: Smith's application to-day, and their propoſal ſince to go out without the dogs, all convince me that we have not a moment to loſe.

'The beſt and moſt agreeable news that could poſſibly reach me to-morrow forenoon, would be to hear that all the maroons were ſecured, and marched off to Montego-Bay; and, in my letters home, I have abſolutely reported that we had ſecured them; of courſe, I muſt be on thorns until that moment arrives.

'Yours ſincerely,

'MY LORD, Old Maroon-Town, January 29th, 1796.

'In obedience to your lordſhip's orders, received this morning, I have ſent the maroons down to Montego-Bay.

'I cannot but lament that the opportunity (as far as I am capable of judging) of bringing in thoſe at preſent out, ſhould be thus loſt. Poſitive I am, that, had your lordſhip had the ſame opportunity of judging on the ſpot that I have, you would have been of the ſame opinion, and the war probably terminated.

'From the information which I received from Smith, there ſeems to be but little chance of any but a maroon diſcovering a maroon, whenever theſe people are where they can remain quiet for any time. Dogs cannot ſcent, but on a recent ſtep; and I fear that the maroons are now ſo deep in the woods, that no expedition can be ſupported againſt them, without riſquing a failure of food and water for thoſe animals; with a great probability, even if it could be ſuſtained, of never finding the enemy. Had we accompanied Smith, we ſhould, if they had not been induced to ſurrender, at all events have diſcovered where they were, and then could have purſued them. The die is caſt, and it is now too late, unleſs they diſcover themſelves; for I am told that the Spaniards ſay, that they could live in theſe woods for ever; that they never ſaw ſuch woods for ſuſtenance any where.

'Your lordſhip will be ſo good as to let me have your orders; but I could wiſh that nothing ſhould be left to my diſcretion.

'I have the honour to be your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

'G. WALPOLE.

'A ſick woman or two, and two children, have been left behind of the maroons at this place.

'I propoſe to go to Montego-Bay to-morrow, to inſpect their ſituation.

'I fear that the party will not get beyond John's Hall this night, owing to the number of women and children.

'Yeſterday I went down to Montego-Bay, for the purpoſe, as I had the honour to inform your lordſhip, of inſpecting the ſituation of the maroons there.

'The barracks are, from the numbers, very much crowded; and I ſhould be apprehenſive that ſome diſorder may break out among the people there. To obviate this, I ſhould ſubmit to your lordſhip whether it may not be proper to fit up with boards the underneath part of the barrack, which has hitherto ſerved as a ſtable.

'Should your lordſhip approve of this, you can iſſue an order to the commiſſioners for the purpoſe.

'MY LORD, Old Maroon-Town, January 31ſt, 1796.

'On the embarkation of the 13th, 21ſt, and 49th, I found our ſtrength here not ſufficient to allow us to ſend any of the regular troops from hence down to Montego-Bay; and as at that time there was every appearance of a termination of hoſtilities, I ordered the detachment of the 83d regiment, then at Great-River and its neighbourhood, down to the former place; but as that ſide of the country may be conſiderably expoſed thereby at the preſent moment, I ſhould ſubmit to your lordſhip whether or not it might be proper to order back the 83d to their original poſition, and direct colonel James to call in about ſeventy of the militia to the Bay, to guard the maroons.

'It will be neceſſary to have a poſt at Mocho, about half way between Coldſpring and Catadupa; the diſtance being about nine miles from the firſt to the latter place.

'We muſt, I fear, call for a conſiderable number of pioneers; I ſhould think about one thouſand, or twelve hundred; in order to get with all poſſible diſpatch through the remainder of the work.

'I much fear that the 13th and 14th will not be a very active reinforcement for the firſt three weeks after they land, from their having been ſo many months on board the tranſports: I ſhould recommend to your lordſhip their being brought up into the country, in a very few days after their being landed.

'I have the honour to be your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

G. WALPOLE.'

'DEAR SIR,

'I am rejoiced to find that all the maroons are now ſecured; but I am ſorry that your judgment has differed with mine on the propriety of that meaſure.

'Your requiſition of twelve hundred negroes, I am afraid, will ſtartle the country, who believe, and I think with reaſon, that their efforts to cruſh this rebellion have nearly ſucceeded, and that they may look with ſome reaſonable hope of their being ſuffered to go on with their crop, in a degree of tranquillity and repoſe.

'Baggage negroes will be required, as uſual, to attend any columns which you may ſend out; but if the 1000 or 1200 pioneers are wanted for the purpoſe of making roads and communications, I am of opinion that ſuch a meaſure ſhould be done by an act of the legiſlature, and not without it. I cannot, however, judge of it, as you have not mentioned the ſpecific, or even the general, purpoſe for which they are wanted.

'With reſpect to the active operations of the war, our opinions have gone hand in hand; but although we cannot be too watchful to ſmother the embers of rebellion, ſtill I think you give much more conſideration to the preſent ſtate of the war, than either I do or the country does.

'My general notion of it is, that, the inſtant the reinforcement arrives, the militia may go home; if a further reinforcement is neceſſary, I think it ſhould be dogs:

'That

'That the duty of the regulars will be to guard the maroon priſoners at the poſts of Montego-Bay, Falmouth, and St. Ann's; which laſt place ſome of the priſoners ſhould be ſent to from Montego-Bay:

'That the troops ſhould be ſo poſted as to be able to furniſh a column to move to any point where the rebels may appear, in a very ſhort ſpace of time: Three poſts are very evident, as being conſonant with this idea; namely, Mocho, Dromilly, Old Town, and Vaughansfield. I ſhould have liked a diviſion of the dogs to have been at each of theſe places; but, at all events, Dromilly ought to be a poſt for one diviſion of them.

'My ſituation in this country, and the neceſſity I am under to attend perſonally when there is a meeting of the legiſlature, muſt confine me much to the fixing of general principles, which are founded both upon my inſtructions, public and private, from the king and his confidential ſervants, but alſo regulated by what relates to the civil government of the iſland. I know how pleaſant it is to an officer to act under direct orders; the next pleaſant circumſtance is, to have the greateſt latitude given, conſiſtent with the abſolute duty of the commander in chief or governor. But your requeſt to have nothing left to your diſcretion, is totally incompatible with the very high ſituation in which you are placed: I muſt leave much to your diſcretion, as having the chief command in my abſence; and the great opinion I have had of the proper exerciſe of that diſcretion, aſſuredly will juſtify the favourable report I have made to his majeſty of your ſervices in this war.

'I beg you will ſend me a return of the number of arms that were brought in and ſurrendered by the maroons; ſixteen of which were brought down to Wemyſs-Caſtle, by the men that were forwarded to Falmouth.

'I have the honour to be, dear ſir, yours ſincerely,

'Dromilly, 1ſt February, 1796. BALCARRES.

'Hon. major-general Walpole.'

No. 20.

'MY LORD, Old Maroon-Town, 31ſt January, 1796.

'As near as I can recollect, the number of arms delivered in here and at Caſtle-Wemyſs are 95; of this, about 29 are at Montego-Bay. The firſt party which were ſent having their arms by permiſſion from me, they were again delivered up there, in charge of the 83d regiment. I permitted one of theſe arms, which had been the property of a gentleman, to be delivered to a friend of his.

'I called for the negroes chiefly for the purpoſe of making roads, and eſtabliſhing poſts in advance: Among theſe, Pond-River, the laſt ſtand of the maroons, it was my deſign to take poſt at, on account of the water; and thence the road might be continued to Hector's River. This would in a great meaſure reach the pariſh of Trelawny, and cut off the acceſs to that plentiful ſupply of ſprings between the interior parts of the cockpits, and the proviſion-grounds of that pariſh, as well as open the communication, down the banks of the above-mentioned river, with St. Elizabeth.

'As to my opinion, it is of mighty little conſequence, eſpecially when the matter which was the cauſe of it may be poſſibly paſt: But I did, I confeſs, think that, by Smith's aſſiſtance, we ſhould have traced the maroons; and had we failed in bringing them in, we ſhould at all events have known their haunts, and might have purſued them. What gave riſe to the ſuggeſtion of Smith was this; the finding a ſtick at Pond-River, with a white ſtreamer faſtened to it. This was one of their ſignals; and Smith turning to me, in the preſence of colonel Skinner, ſaid, "Sir, we can bring them out as eaſy as to kiſs your hand" Your lordſhip will recollect, that this party of eight maroons was to have been attended by a party of the king's troops.

'I am extremely obliged to your lordſhip for your favourable mention of my ſervices: I have but one motive; that of doing what I ought to do.

'I muſt repeat, that if your lordſhip had had the different communications, and conferences on the ſpot, that you would then have been more of my opinion.

'I ſhall ſend your lordſhip an exact liſt of the maroon arms ſoon; you will inform me if you are in haſte about it, as I muſt go or ſend to Montego-Bay.

'The 13th dragoons, thirty in number, have been at One-Eye during the laſt week paſt.'

'SIR, One-Eye, January 29th, 1796.

'I am favoured with your orders of the 26th inſtant, and am much flattered by the confidence you have repoſed in me. I have communicated the ſame to major Shawe, commanding the Vere detachment at Hector's River; and have from him received aſſurances of his cordially co-operating with your orders, and in every meaſure will, I am aſſured, uſe every exertion to cruſh our ſavage foe. I am at the ſame time under much concern to repreſent the ſituation of the troops at Hector's River and its vicinity: That, for want of neceſſary ſupplies, the dragoons at One-Eye cannot be advanced into the woods; that the ſupplies for the Vere detachment at Hector's River are very precarious, they being often in want of bread-kind, and other neceſſaries of life; that this want of ſupply is owing to a ſupineneſs in ſome of the commiſſioners, under a perſuaſion that no maroons will ever make that way. Major Shawe and myſelf waited on colonel Peart, who promiſed to exert himſelf to procure and forward proviſions, &c. but I fear it will be ſome time before we can march, having neither pioneers or baggage negroes for the 13th dragoons. The place alluded to in your letter, as the intended retreat of the maroons, is called Oliphant's, formerly the property of David lord Oliphant; and ſo far from the Trelawny maroons being under any difficulty in finding their way to it through the cockpits, that fourteen or fifteen of them were entertained by Mr. Mure's gardener at that place, a few weeks previous to the breaking out of this rebellion. However, that place is in the poſſeſſion of the Vere troops on Hector's River banks. If I had been furniſhed with the neceſſary ſupplies and baggage negroes, I intended to have ſcoured the woods acroſs the country, by way of Mouth-River, home to the Trelawny ſettlements.

'The Vere detachment have been immured in the woods ever ſince the 20th November, 1795. This they have all along ſubmitted to without a murmur; the ſervice has to them been peculiarly ſevere, owing to the remote ſituation from their homes, which prevented them drawing ſupplies from their friends. However, they have no wiſh but for the public good, and wait with anxiety the moment to call them to action. Nevertheleſs, it would be an act of charity to relieve them, or change their poſt.

'I remain, with the greateſt reſpect, ſir, your moſt obedient and very humble ſervant,

'Honourable major general Walpole, FRAS. ROBERTSON.

'Old Maroon-Town.'

'SIR,

'I received your favour, and ſhall certainly benefit all I can from Mr. Robinſon's information, and will co-operate with much pleaſure in any thing that may be deemed neceſſary for the good of the ſervice we are engaged in. From every information I have had from colonel Batty and general Campbell, I have always been led to believe the maroons were likely likely to be drove in here; and colonel Batty, in a former letter, adviſed me to ſolicit colonel Peart to ſend in what troops he might have at One-Eye, and that he would ſupply their place with ſome from colonel Caldwell's detachments in Mile-Gully. This I communicated to colonel Peart; but he had none there, and the want of proviſions made me leſs anxious to preſs the buſineſs, as I have never been able to get above one day's ſupplies at the poſt at any time ſince I took the command here. Many days we have been entirely out of bread-kind, ſometimes out of beef, and frequently, indeed oftener than otherwiſe, at ſhort allowance of bread-kind, and that frequently of the worſt kind; and if I had not got flour, ſalt beef, and biſcuit from Vere, I do not think I could have maintained the poſt till this time. The officers have, at great expence and inconvenience, almoſt wholly ſupplied their table from thence. I think that the commiſſioners muſt be very dilatory, otherwiſe we would have been better ſupplied; all that I write to them has no effect. In conſequence of its being ſtrongly ſuppoſed that the remaining maroons and runaways would make for theſe woods, I wrote to colonel Caldwell, in caſe I ſhould be obliged to advance further into the woods, that it would be neceſſary for me to call on him for part of his detachments to aſſiſt me, as I conceived I had too few troops for that buſineſs, and protecting the proviſions and ammunition that it would be neceſſary to have depoſited here; at ſame time apprized him of the difficulty of providing ſupplies of proviſion, ſo that he might judge for himſelf in the propriety of coming forward. His anſwer to me was, that he had incloſed my letter to general Campbell, and that he did not think he could well leave Mile-Gully unprotected; and that, more eſpecially, he thought it would be improper to move forward without further orders, when he conſidered the difficulty of procuring proviſions. To this I readily aſſent, and indeed only wiſhed for further reinforcement in caſe of actual neceſſity, and thought it beſt to apprize him of what I thought might be required. You may reſt aſſured there ſhall be nothing wanting on my part to defend the poſt.

'In conſequence of the orders I received yeſterday, I prepared one hundred of the militia to be ready for an eſcort to the maroons, on Monday morning. Smith has arrived with nineteen; Johnſtone, who has behaved with great fidelity in this inſtance, I expect to-morrow, with the remainder. I am preparing to move the 13th dragoons through the cockpits, from One-Eye. 'MY LORD, 18th February, 1796.

'I omitted in my laſt to inform you, that it was my intention to attempt to cut a road to Pond-River, the place where the maroons made their laſt ſtand, in order that I might avail myſelf of the water at that place, ſhould it become adviſable to make any expedition hereafter into the woods in ſearch of the rebels ſtill out; it being perfectly clear, that ſuch a thing muſt be utterly impracticable from our preſent poſts. I hope, by the direction which we have given to the intended road, that the diſtance will be ſhortened from ſeven to four miles. The maroons arrived at St. Ann's very well ſatisfied, as colonel Bell informs me. The runaways (for they were ſo blended as not to be diſtinguiſhed) were much alarmed: I am told, that there are ſome among them who have been miſſing from the eſtates for years.

'I have the ſatisfaction to acquaint your lordſhip, that Mr. Gubbins, of the 13th light dragoons, has entered the woods from the ſide of St. Elizabeth, at One-Eye: He merits great applauſe for his perſeverance. The commiſſioners either could not or would not furniſh proviſions; provisions; indeed, I trust that they were not able: The troops undertook, sooner than be debarred their share of enterprize, to cure it themselves: It is curiously done, I make no doubt; but, such as it is, they have entered the woods, with a resolution to penetrate either directly through the cockpits, or up the banks of Hector's River. The Spaniards are with Mr. Gubbins, and a detachment of Accompong maroons: The whole town shewed great readiness; but only a few were selected as track-men, or rather to give the direction.

'I inclose your lordship a list; the last batch are not included.'

No. 8.

'DEAR SIR,

'From the state of the maroon war, I am convinced the country will be of opinion that martial law ought not to be continued:

'That the regular troops, with the assistance of the black shot, the Spaniards, &c. are sufficient, as a force to watch over the embers of the rebellion:

'And that a party act may be made of such energy as may suit the purpose.

'This party bill was in considerable forwardness at the moment of the late adjournment of the house of assembly.

'It is only upon my giving an assurance, that martial law will be taken off as soon as the party act shall pass, that I can hope to carry the question, at the next council of war, of continuing martial law.

'Under these circumstances, we must look forward to the application of the regular forces, when the militia go to their homes.

'I think it will take a considerable force to guard the maroon prisoners. The 17th light dragoons and the 62d regiment may occupy Montego-Bay, Falmouth, and St. Ann's.

'The 17th are to hold themselves in readiness to embark for St. Domingo, when they send shipping to receive them; of which no requisition is as yet made.

'The 83d regiment may occupy the Maroon Town.

'I should be glad to know your wish as to the quartering the 13th light dragoons, on their arrival.

'The 14th regiment of light dragoons are not to remain in this country, if quiet is restored. If, however, the banditti of runaway slaves have gone down to Old Woman Savanna, they must occupy posts in that neighbourhood; the country that lies behind it I believe never was explored.

'I beg that you will order a list to be taken of all tools and implements, and also what belongs to the hospital, such as cradles.

'Should fresh disturbances break out, we must meet them anew; but there is no alternative at present, but the militia going home, and the furnishing of the guards over the maroons to be done by the regular troops.

'These are my present sentiments; if you wish for any particular disposition of the troops, be so good as to let me know.

'The moment the party act shall pass, I shall give you notice of it, and the militia will begin to move.

Nothing but the exhauſted ſtate of both the detachment and dogs would have prevailed, I am confident, on either the Spaniards or the 13th, to have continued the purſuit; but I fear there was no conquering the want of water; for nearly three days, I was a witneſs to it; and my reaſons, under thoſe circumſtances, for permitting the detachment to go forward, your lordſhip is already in poſſeſſion of.

'I ſhall grant lives only. I have been too ſcandalouſly traduced already, to exert my judgment for the public good, notwithſtanding your lordſhip's ratification of the terms heretofore granted. 'I have the honour to be your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

'DEAR SIR,

'In your letter of the 5th inſtant, you write me that you have been too ſcandalouſly traduced already, to exert your judgment for the public good, notwithſtanding my ratification of the terms heretofore granted.

'This I do know, that all public men every where will be traduced by reſtleſs and violent characters; but my ratifying the treaty which you ſigned ſufficiently marks the ſupport which I gave to that meaſure; and the reſpectable council that adviſed me to ratify it, bears you out as well as myſelf. The ſame council expreſſed themſelves in clear terms, as to the aſſurance you gave the maroons, that they ſhould not be ſent off the iſland; and it ſtands on the minutes taken at that council, That, provided the maroons performed the 1ſt and 3d articles of the treaty, that the ſecret article ſhould be complied with.

'Every man, however, will form his own opinion as to thoſe two points: Firſt, Whether or not the treaty is a wiſe one; ſecondly, If it has been performed. It now lies before the aſſembly, as well as our correſpondence upon it, from the period of colonel Hull's action to the moment of the maroons actually coming in, incluſive, and alſo my letter dated 2d February.

'In regard to the third article of the treaty, it ſtands upon a matter of fact, to eſtabliſh, whether the runaways were ſurrendered, agreeable to that article or not.

'As to the firſt and ſecond articles, my mind is made up upon the ſubject, and my opinion is, that if force had not been ſent out againſt them, in conformity to my orders of the 14th of January, iſſued in conſequence of my receiving your letter of that date, they would not have come in at all.

'But from the high ſituation which you have filled, from the intercourſe and converſations you have had with theſe maroons, and, above all, that theſe unhappy people may have every circumſtance adduced to the aſſembly that can operate in their favour, it may be fair and and right in you to give an opinion, if you are so inclined, how far, in your conception, these people have complied with the articles of that treaty.

'I am perfectly aware, and shall hold in my recollection, the favourable opinion you have of the Smiths and Johnstone; and I shall represent it to the assembly at a proper time. Whatever opinions we may hold respecting the treaty, we are united in the sentiment of bringing the business before the public in the fullest and fairest manner; and if the state of the war can permit of your absence, I could wish you here, that we might do it in conjunction.

'I wish to make a remark upon the first part of your letter of the 5th, which runs in these words: "I give you joy of having again the opportunity of finally and effectually terminating the rebellion."

'This, I presume, alludes to the circumstance of your wishing to keep the maroon prisoners at the Maroon Town, instead of sending them to the coast. I really cannot state this to have been a difference of opinion between yourself and me; and I am even free to confess, that their remaining in that situation might have been an inducement for those still out to have come in. But I thought it was playing too deep a game; and if the maroons had given us the slip, I should have had a dreadful reckoning to account for to the king, this country, and my own tranquillity of mind.

No. 15.

'MY DEAR LORD, March 11th, 1796.

'I have this moment yours of (I think it is) the 9th of March.

'I send you a private letter; make what use of it you please. I have no objection to its being shewn and canvassed; indeed, I fear that you have been in some points deceived. The maroons would make out a stronger case, from what passes by my ear very often, than is imagined. Many of them say, that the rebellion of —60 would not have been quelled but for them; there are some of them here who were wounded in that event: Indeed, my dear lord, had there been such a body at St. Domingo, the brigands never would have risen. This may look like being an advocate; but it is my honest opinion. If Palmer and Parkinson should refuse the terms, which I think they will, you never will conquer them. I shall offer the terms, and there leave the matter.

'I will not, nor shall any thing induce me, avail myself of that reliance which I see they have in me, until I am certain that no deceit is intended. I will not be accessary to so foul a crime.

'Could not a company of rangers be formed from them, agreeable to the hints which I once laid before you, and the rest dispersed about as free citizens, like the people of colour.

'Johnstone set out this morning, with D. Shaw, T. Harding, and Bucknor. I do not expect them back till the 19th.

'Content yourself, my lord, with this reflection: That the island, by firmness and humanity together, has been saved, without a single cane destroyed; and at a time when the slaves were set agog by Mr. Wilberforce.

'I have the honour to be, in haste, your lordship's most faithful and obedient,

'G. WALPOLE.

'One word as to the freedom allowed the maroons: Montego-Bay barrack is not secure; it is best therefore not to seem to mistrust them.'

'MY DEAR LORD, [Private.] March 11th, 1796.

'I must trouble your lordship with a few words in privacy and confidence.

'For some days past, I have been in a state of considerable uneasiness at a report, which seems ſeems to gain ground, that the legiſlature mean to infringe the capitulation accepted by me and ratified by your lordſhip.

'My lord, to be plain with you, it was through my means alone that the maroons were induced to ſurrender, from a reliance which they had in my word, from a conviction impreſſed upon them by me that the white people would never break their faith.

'All theſe things ſtrongly call upon me, as the inſtrumental agent in this buſineſs, to ſee a due obſervance of the terms, or, in caſe of violation, to reſign my command; and if that ſhould not be accepted, to declare the facts to the world, and to leave them to judge how far I ought or ought not to be implicated in the guilt and infamy of ſuch a proceeding. So much the more ſtrong is this call upon me, as there was no occaſion to ratify the terms; for your lordſhip will well recollect, that I told you at Caſtle-Wemyſs, that the time appointed by me for fulfilling them was expired, and the terms therefore null and void; but your lordſhip then thought, that there was ſo much of advantage to the country in thoſe terms, that it would be beſt not to give them up.

'As the great object of the war is now declared to be accompliſhed, I ſhall ſhortly ſolicit your lordſhip for permiſſion to return to England, with an intention to retire from the ſervice.

'I am your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

'DEAR SIR,

'I am honoured by both your letters of March 11th. If I had not looked upon the treaty ſigned by you as advantageous to the country, under the exiſting circumſtances, I never would have ratified it: But the country has a right to every advantage which that treaty affords it; and I am decidedly of opinion, that if the terms of the treaty have been complied with by the maroons, that the country is bound in honour not to ſend them off the iſland. So far I go with you, and ſo far I will ſupport you; but, I ſhall certainly leave it with the legiſlature to decide, whether that treaty has been obſerved, or not: Indeed, they will decide that for themſelves, as a matter of right inherent in them.

'All I can ſay is, that I have not the ſmalleſt light upon what their deciſion will be; but I aſſure you, thoſe ſtrong ſentiments which you have expreſſed relative to thoſe maroons ſhall fairly be canvaſſed. I do not enter into what the country in its wiſdom ought to do. I feel we have done our duty as ſoldiers: The executive power, in my perſon, has amply ſupported you, by ratifying the treaty which you acceded to.

'But, in a political conſideration of this ſubject, the country will not be guided either by your politics or mine. There is a word in your laſt letters, namely, capitulation, is uſed inſtead of treaty: It has always hitherto been mentioned as a treaty; perhaps it may be a diſtinction without a difference. Be it what it may, I look upon my reſponſibility to the public as equally committed; for ſurely if there is any thing upon earth in which a legiſlature has a right to exerciſe its judgment, it is internal rebellion. Under the whole circumſtances of the caſe, you have done extremely right in with-holding any offer to the rebel maroons ſtill out, excepting lives, and their being placed exactly in the ſame ſituation, and to ſhare the fate, whatever it may be, of the maroon priſoners now in our poſſeſſion. I cannot offer them more, until the ſentiments of the legiſlature reſpecting thoſe now in ſhould be communicated to me.

'In reſpect to your going home, I ſhall be extremely happy in doing whatever may be agreeable to yourſelf in this point: But I regret your determination of quitting the ſervice, in which you are ſo well advanced.

'I have the honour to remain, very ſincerely, yours,

BALCARRES.

No. 16.

'MY LORD, March 13th, 1796.

'I have this moment the honour of your lordſhip's diſpatches of the 10th, one number 2, the other not of any number, but incloſing a meſſage from the aſſembly.

'I apprehend a variety of opinion may ariſe upon the third article: A vaſt number, I believe, of runaways are out; but Johnſtone and Smith have frequently aſſured me, that, the maroons once in, no difficulty would ariſe as to the others. I underſtand that David Shaw has mentioned, that, as a preparatory ſtep towards ſecuring the runaways, they have taken the fire-arms from them. By the way, the ſecond article implies the whole of the ſecret article.

'Your lordſhip has, I well know, been of opinion, that the force ſent out on the 14th induced the maroons to come in. I think not; and my opinion is grounded on this fact, that I met the maroons, about half a mile from the advanced poſt, coming in with loads on their backs of clothes and children. They muſt therefore have moved more than half way the day before; and certainly no one knew of my motions here. A maroon of the name of Heath turned on hearing the dogs, and went to Palmer and Parkinſon, and told them that a trap was laid, and the dogs ſent round in a different direction. Johnſtone came up to me, ſome time after in the day, and informed, that this had been juſt told him; adding, that if I had left him to his own direction, he would have remained till he had ſeen every one of them out, but that he came before, having heard (which was true enough) that I had ſaid, that if he came the reſt would come too.

'The wiſdom of the treaty cannot be much doubted, as treble the number of troops would not have brought in ſo many maroons in twelve months more. Your lordſhip will permit me to obſerve, that the opinions of the field-officers on the ſpot have never differed.

'It was not ſo much the ſending the maroons from hence, as the time of doing it, that I withſtood. I wiſhed to have had the opportunity to have been taken when I might ſee it beſt. The laſt party I was very averſe to ſending away; it conſiſted of 24 men, compoſed in a great meaſure of the families of Smith and Johnſtone. Johnſtone was deſirous to ſtay, he ſaid, with me; and I had aſſured him of ſo much being done; and I well knew what effect the ſending him away under a guard would have, if perceived from the hills. I have to thank your lordſhip for your great attention to me, and giving yourſelf ſo much trouble to explain your ſentiments to me: I only aim at an honeſt diſcharge of my duty; I am anxious to keep my faith with thoſe maroons now ſurrendered. Sure I am, that Jamaica has been ſaved by the terms of ſurrender, and that the not adhering to them may be productive, one day or other, of the loſs of the colony.

'I have the honour to be, with all deference, your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

'G. WALPOLE.

'If your lordſhip wiſhes for my attendance in Spaniſh-Town, I ſhall ſet out, if nothing material occurs, on the 19th or 20th.

'Should your lordſhip not find my attendance neceſſary, you will have the goodneſs to let me know of it.'

' The other veſſels are the Mercury, the Barbara, and the Conqueſt; which three veſſels will take all the women and children. It may be in your power perhaps to make one of theſe three veſſels work up to St. Ann's, if ſhe can work to windward better than the Thomas, and there receive the troops and maroons, which ſhe can deliver on board the Thomas at ſea.

' It is not eaſy to give orders ſufficiently poſitive and preciſe to reach the different circumſtances attending this embarkation; and the more ſo, as the three privateer veſſels, or ſome of them, may be cruiſing; but Mr. Gillies will give you every information. The veſſels allotted for this ſervice are, the Mercury, Conqueſt, Barbara, Iris, and Thomas; in which all the maroons, the runaways, and 62d regiment, are to be embarked, and to proceed to Port-Royal. Should you not have it in your power to ſend all, by reaſon of the cruiſers not being got at, you will ſend all the males in preference to the females, and the cruiſers will take the women whenever there is an opportunity of giving them orders to receive theſe women on board.

' Theſe veſſels muſt be victualled proper for the ſervice they are going upon. The whole ought to collect, and ſail together.

' You are now in poſſeſſion of the outlines of my ſentiments; and, that you may perform this very eſſential ſervice to your country, I muſt entreat that you will be ſo good as to accept of being ſole commiſſioner for the embarkation and ſailing of thoſe people.

' Whereas I have thought fit to appoint James Galloway, esquire, to be the sole commissioner for the purpose of embarking all the maroons and 62d regiment on board the vessels Iris, Thomas, Mercury, Conquest, and Barbara:

' I hereby require and order all officers having the charge of these maroons to cause them to be embarked, at the requisition of the said commissioner James Galloway, esquire.

' I direct the different detachments of the 62d regiment, now doing duty over the maroons, to embark according to the allotment of the said commissioner to each vessel, and on the day which he shall name:

' That the several detachments of the 62d regiment are responsible for the safe delivery of those maroons to captain Dobbin, of Fort-Augusta.

' That all the commissioners for the several parishes are required to be aiding and assisting for the due victualling, &c. of the vessels; and I hereby authorize the said commissioner James Galloway, esquire, to give what orders he thinks best suited to the nature of the service, to the five captains of the five above-mentioned vessels, and especially that he may name one of them to command the whole; who will report on his arrival at Port-Royal, both to the officer commanding the royal navy and also to captain Bingham of his majesty's ship Jamaica.

' I do hereby appoint the said James Galloway, esquire, to be the sole commissioner for the above purposes.

' Four maroons, dispatched by Johnstone, arrived yesterday, with a message to inform me, that he was on his way to me with the whole remaining body of the maroons, and, if I am not misinformed, of the runaways also. Whether this is to surrender, or whether it is meant first to be a conference, I cannot ascertain till they arrive.

' Your lordship will no doubt view the conduct of Johnstone, in this latter business particularly, in a very meritorious light. The names of those who accompanied him and assisted him on the expedition are as per margin.

' MY DEAR LORD, March 21st, 1796.

' I cannot be with you so soon as I could wish. The maroons now in the woods are thirteen in number: I have expected them yesterday and this day. It seems that these were out hunting wild hogs; and Johnstone, eager to bring out as many as he could, would not wait, but left some of the women to tell these, at their return, what had happened.

' Parkinson says, that I may rely on their surrender; and so sure is he of it, that he left his wife and children behind him. He desired to send in two of his party, but did not wish to go himself. As soon as the whole arrive, I shall send them down to Montego-Bay, under the non-commissioned officer of the 16th, and ten men of the 17th dragoons, whom I was obliged to detain here. The 11th may as well remain at Montego-Bay till their embarkation for Europe.

' The maroons I perceive coming in at this instant. The fire-arms brought in by Parkinson's party are forty-four. The number of maroons, thirty-six bearing arms.

'Mr. Gallimore's fuſee I ſhall return to his friends, at their requeſt.

'I hope to leave this place on Thurſday for Spaniſh-Town.

'I thank your lordſhip for your acceding to my wiſhes reſpecting my going home; and ſhall prepare to go by the next fleet: As to my remaining in the army, the candidates who ſtand before me are too numerous to allow me any very ſanguine hopes of preferment.

'I have not ſpoken to Skinner on the matter; but if he went home with your lordſhip's diſpatches, it might perhaps ſecure his local rank to him in Europe; but that may be done otherwiſe: Although he has not been actually engaged, he has been of the moſt material ſervice. I ſee very clearly, that when it comes to hard work, he is an officer to be depended upon.

'I have the honour to be your lordſhip's moſt faithful and obedient,

'G. WALPOLE.

'I could wiſh your lordſhip would obtain permiſſion for Charles Samuels, a maroon, brother to Smith, to remain with me.

'I have this moment received your letters No. 1, 2, and 3.

'As affairs are now ſo much altered, I think that I may as well go to Spaniſh-Town: Indeed, ſhould I defer it, and the journey hereafter be neceſſary, I may then be without a conveyance, for my own horſes are ſtarved.

'My wiſh to retire was in a great degree connected with a preſage which I had of future circumſtances with regard to the maroons; perhaps thoſe may now be altered. I was fearful leſt it ſhould ſeem that I had drawn the maroons into a treaty which I knew was hereafter to be broken; my reſignation was meant to declare my entire ignorance of ſuch an intention; private reaſons might alſo operate in ſome degree, but they would not have prevailed alone.

'MY LORD, Falmouth, 23d March, 1796.

'I have juſt received information from Mr. Gillies, that the brig Conqueſt has not been heard of for theſe ten days; that the Mercury is in Montego-Bay, ſhort of hands; the Iris and Thomas have not yet made their appearance. From the additional number of maroons and runaways come in, there will be much deficiency in the ſhipping to carry them round.

I therefore take the liberty of ſubmitting to your lordſhip's conſideration the moving of thoſe at St. Ann's by land, unleſs ſome other veſſel could be had for them.

That, purſuant to an order of the houſe of the 3d December laſt, the commiſſioners had enquired what ſlaves, in their diſtrict, had behaved meritoriouſly to the public during the late rebellion; and did find,

That

That Bacchus, a negro man, the property of Mrs. Mary Lewis, of Weſtmorland, went out as a black ſhot in every party, was very ſerviceable in the dangerous advanced ſituation of a tracker, behaved with great fidelity, and was ſtrongly recommended by the colonel and the different commanding officers of the parties, to repreſent him as deſerving of freedom, and an annuity of ten pounds per ann.

That a mulatto man named Ben, the property of John Rogers, planter, a very valuable ſlave, who acted as a black ſhot, was well acquainted with the maroons and all their ſettlements, conducted the parties with great ſpirit and fidelity, and always was very active in obtaining information, and diſcloſing the ſame to the colonel; and recommending to the houſe to grant the ſaid ſlave his freedom, and an annuity of ten pounds per ann.

MY LORD, Port-Royal, 18th Feb. 1796.

I beg leave to ſubmit to your lordſhip's conſideration the caſe of ſergeant Willox, of the royal artillery; and hope you will be pleaſed to lay the ſame before the honourable houſe of aſſembly, who I doubt not will reward ſo deſerving a non-commiſſioned officer. He is obliged to be up every morning at gun-fire, to ſee no veſſels go out, except ſuch as are regularly cleared from the cuſtom-houſe and have your lordſhip's paſſport. He goes on board and examines every veſſel that arrives in the harbour of Port-Royal, reports their names, maſters names, cargo, to whom conſigned, &c. to the commanding officer here, for your lordſhip's information; which duty he has done with the greateſt punctuality for three years and an half, without receiving either pay or allowance of any kind. He is, in ſhort, continually on duty, being called up in the night whenever a veſſel arrives: Juſtice to ſo deſerving a man induces me to give your lordſhip this trouble.

I have the honour to be, MY LORD,

Your lordſhip's moſt obedient and very humble ſervant,

JOHN RAMSEY,
Major and colonel royal artillery.

JAMAICA, ff.

To the honourable WILLIAM BLAKE, eſquire, ſpeaker, and the reſt of the members of the honourable houſe of aſſembly of the iſland of Jamaica,

The humble memorial of JOHN FINLAY junior, of the pariſh of Kingſton, in the county of Surrey and iſland aforeſaid, gentleman,

Sheweth,

That, on Friday morning the 31ſt day of July laſt paſt, a fleet of tranſport veſſels ſailed from Port-Royal, in this iſland, bound for ſome Britiſh port in the iſland of Hiſpaniola or St. Domingo, under convoy of his majeſty's ſhip of war Succeſs, commanded by Hugh Pigot, eſquire; the ſaid tranſport veſſels having then on board his majeſty's eighty-third regiment of foot, a detachment of his majeſty's ſeventeenth regiment of light dragoons, with a number of French emigrant officers and men, all under the command of William Fitch, eſquire, lieutenant-colonel commandant:

That, about two o'clock in the morning of the next day, being Saturday the 1ſt day of Auguſt laſt, lieutenant William Lucas, of his majeſty's ſixty-ſecond regiment of foot, and aſſiſtant deputy quartermaſter-general for St. Domingo, having come expreſs from Spaniſh-Town to Port-Royal, waited upon your memorialiſt, who was then there; and the ſaid lieutenant Lucas being then very much indiſpoſed (as your memorialiſt doth really and truly believe), he requeſted your memorialiſt to take a letter or diſpatch from the right honourable earl of Balcarres, lieutenant-governor of this iſland (which the ſaid lieutenant Lucas had brought with him from Spaniſh Town aforeſaid), directed, "On ſervice, to captain Pigot, of his majeſty's ſhip of war Succeſs;" which your memorialiſt readily agreed to do:

That, for the purpoſe aforeſaid, your memorialiſt immediately hired at Port-Royal, and proceeded on board of, a very faſt-ſailing pilot-boat, in order to overtake the fleet; and, after meeting with bad weather, your memorialiſt, on Sunday afternoon following, came up with the ſaid fleet off the eaſt end of this iſland, and delivered the letter or diſpatch before mentioned unto captain Pigot; who immediately wrote, and delivered to your memorialiſt, a letter directed to lieutenant-colonel Fitch (then on board the ſhip Rio-Nova tranſport), and requeſted your memorialiſt to deliver the ſame; which your memorialiſt ſoon after did accordingly deliver:

That, in conſequence of your memorialiſt having ſo gone with and delivered the ſaid letters or diſpatches as before mentioned, orders were given for the ſaid fleet to alter their courſe, and to proceed, under convoy of his majeſty's ſaid ſhip Succeſs, for Montego-Bay, in this iſland; where they ſhortly afterwards arrived, and the troops on board of the different tranſports were there diſembarked, for actual ſervice againſt the rebellious maroons in that quarter:

Your memorialiſt therefore humbly prays this honourable houſe to take into their conſideration the ſervice and deſert of your memorialiſt on this occaſion; and that this honourable houſe will be pleaſed to grant unto your memorialiſt ſuch reward or pecuniary recompenſe for the ſame as they in their wiſdom ſhall think fit:

And your memorialiſt ſhall ever pray, &c.

That, in conſequence of the number of ſick and wounded maroons, it was deemed neceſſary that medical aſſiſtance ſhould be given:

That your memorialiſt was appointed for that purpoſe, by the honourable major-general Walpole:

That your memorialiſt has remained in the Old Maroon Town, attending all the maroons who, from their wounds and ſickneſs, could not be removed:

Your memorialiſt therefore humbly prays this honourable houſe will take theſe circumſtances into their conſideration, and award ſuch reaſonable compenſation to be granted to your memorialiſt for ſuch ſervices as may be deemed proper.

Veneris, 1° die Aprilis, 1796.

MR. Edwards, in his place, informed the houſe, that he had received a letter from one James Robertſon, tending to reflect on his conduct as a member of the houſe, reſpecting a petition of the ſaid James Robertſon, preſented to the houſe on the 22d of March laſt; which letter being read, is as follows:

" SIR, Spaniſh-Town, March 25th, 1796.

" Not being preſent when my petition for making a map of Jamaica was preſented to the aſſembly, I can ſpeak only from hearſay.

" There is not a member in that houſe from whom I ſo little merited oppoſition as from you; and therefore I conclude, that you muſt have been egregiouſly impoſed on by thoſe whoſe information you have relied on.

" You will, no doubt, be happy in taking the firſt opportunity in explaining yourſelf on that ſubject to the houſe, whereby you will not only render juſtice to me, but reſpect to yourſelf; and, the better to enable you to do ſo, I beg leave to acquaint you with ſome circumſtances which you ſeem not to know.

" When your brother was writing his hiſtory of Jamaica, he applied to me for information in the geographical department, and ſtrongly ſolicited my aſſiſtance. I complied with his requeſt; and what he has written on that ſubject he had from me, for which he returned me his beſt acknowledgments. Some time before his departure from this country, he requeſted me to make him a plan of his lands in the Black Grounds; which I did, but never had an opportunity of ſeeing him afterwards. Mr. Barrett applied to me on the ſame ſubject; but the martial law intervened. Now, ſir, theſe facts did not entitle me o your oppoſition; and if I have maps and papers of the greater part of the iſland, with an extenſive knowledge of the country, I ſhould hope that theſe circumſtances cannot be objections to my making a map of Jamaica.

" In what you were pleaſed to ſay reſpecting Mr. Tharp and me, you will find that your information is totally erroneous; and which you will readily admit, upon knowing the truth from Mr. Tharp or me.

" I have no doubt of receiving your thanks for ſetting you right in theſe points; as it is the the pride of every gentleman to do juſtice to all, and to act to others as he would wiſh them to act to him.

" I remain, SIR, your moſt obedient humble ſervant,

" Zachary Bayly Edwards, eſquire. JAMES ROBERTSON."

Ordered, That the above complaint and letter be referred to the conſideration of the committee of privileges.

Ordered, That Mr. Campbell, Mr. Cuthbert, Mr. Oſborn, Mr. Wedderburn, and Mr. Cockburn, be a committee to carry the above engroſſed bill to the council, and deſire their concurrence thereto; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

Mr. Grant, from the committee to whom the bill for raiſing ſeveral ſums of money, in aid of the heavy expences incurred by the rebellion of the Trelawny maroons, was re-committed to be re-conſidered, reported the ſame; which was received, and read the firſt time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time, to-morrow.

Mr. Oſborn, from the committee to whom the bill for laying an additional duty on the importation of negroes, and applying the ſame to ſeveral uſes, was referred to be re-conſidered, acquainted the houſe, that he was directed to report the ſame when the houſe will be pleaſed to receive it:

Reſolved, That the report be received this day ſix months.

Mr. Fitch, from the committee to whom the bill to amend an act entitled, " An act for preventing of frauds and breaches of truſt by attornies or agents of perſons abſent from this iſland, and by truſtees, guardians, executors, and adminiſtrators, acting for and on the behalf of minors and others, and by mortgagees in poſſeſſion of eſtates mortgaged, and ſequeſtrators appointed by authority of the court of chancery," was referred to be re-conſidered, reported the ſame; which was received, and read the firſt time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time, this day.

The houſe being informed, that the ſecretary of the iſland attended at the door, he was called in, and, at the bar, according to order, preſented to the houſe an abridged ſtatement of the quantities of produce, in all accounts of produce and ſtock diſpoſed of reſpectively, recorded in his office by the attornies for abſentees, mortgagees, or truſtees in poſſeſſion, guardians of minors, and receivers appointed by the court of chancery, of ſugar-eſtates or other properties, with the names of ſuch attornies, mortgagees, truſtees, guardians, or receivers, betwen the 24th of March, 1795, and the 26th March laſt:

And then he withdrew:

Ordered, That the ſaid ſtatement or return do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

A motion

A motion being made, that a committee be appointed to arrange and ſtate the reſpective items or amounts of produce, from the documents this day preſented to the houſe by the ſecretary of the iſland (and ordered to lie on the table), in purſuance of the order of the houſe of the 9th of March laſt, and to report to the houſe their opinion as well of the reſpective items of commiſſions as of the whole amount to be taxed;

A debate thereon ariſing, and the queſtion being put;

It was reſolved in the affirmative:

Ordered, That Mr. M'Lean, Mr. Oſborn, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Cockburn, Mr. Grant, Mr. Thompſon, and Mr. Galbraith, be a committee for that purpoſe; that they have power to ſend for perſons, papers, and records; and to examine all perſons that ſhall come before them in the moſt ſolemn manner.

A petition of William Dauney, of the pariſh of Trelawny, carpenter, was preſented to the houſe, and read, ſetting forth,

"That the petitioner, about the 28th Auguſt laſt, having contracted with the commander in chief for the erecting certain barracks and other neceſſary buildings, within the maroon diſtrict, for the accommodation of the troops there, to be completed within a certain time, for a certain ſum of money, the ſame was duly performed by the petitioner, to the ſatisfaction of the officers appointed to inſpect the ſame:

"That, by ſuch contract, the materials being provided by the petitioner, at the town of Falmouth, were to be carried to the ſpot where wanted, at the expence of the country; in the performance of which ſervice, by numerous conveyances under the care and direction of, almoſt entirely, ſlaves, ſuch extreme embezzlement and waſte was made of lumber and other neceſſary articles to the buildings, as to occaſion to the petitioner a very heavy and conſiderable loſs, nearly to a third more than was wanted or uſed; but the amount of which loſs the petitioner can only with accuracy aſcertain to be 174*l.* 4*s.*

"That the petitioner ſubmits to the houſe the then great impropriety and danger of granting eſcorts for ſuch convevances, particularly from Spring-Vale penn to the Old Maroon-Town; that the petitioner, with a party, endeavouring to forward one parcel of materials, were attacked by the maroons; when one white man was killed, and three horſes and a mule were ſhot;"

Three meſſages from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

Firſt meſſage.

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe the commiſſion granted to the honourable Nathaniel Beckford, honourable John Scott, and honourable Henry Shirley, eſquires, referred to in his honour's firſt meſſage to the houſe on the 24th of March.

' JAMAICA, ſſ.

' By his honour the right honourable ALEXANDER earl of BALCARRES, lieutenant-governor and commander in chief of his majeſty's iſland of Jamaica, and the territories depending thereon in America, chancellor and vice-admiral of the ſame, &c. &c. &c.

' Whereas the maroons of Charles-Town did, upon a late occaſion, diſobey the orders of the lieutenant-governor and commander in chief, thereby incurring his honour's diſpleaſure, and meriting to be treated with the utmoſt ſeverity: And whereas the ſaid maroons have ſince expreſſed very great contrition for ſuch offence, and have implored his honour to appoint a commiſſioner to come to their town, for the purpoſe of receiving their ſubmiſſion upon their knees, together with a ſolemn declaration that their diſobedience proceeded from no evil deſign, but ſolely from fear and apprehenſion: And whereas the ſuperintendant of the ſaid town has certified, that the ſaid maroons preſerved the moſt peaceable demeanor, and manifeſted every ſymptom of concern and uneaſineſs at having incurred his honour's diſpleaſure; his honour has, on that account, taken the matter into his moſt ſerious conſideration, and thinking it probable, under all circumſtances, that the diſobedience of the ſaid maroons did not proceed from any wicked intent, but was occaſioned by the alarming reports of evil-deſigning perſons operating upon their minds, has been induced to grant the requeſt of the ſaid maroons: His honour the lieutenant-governor has, therefore, nominated, conſtituted, and appointed, and by theſe preſents doth nominate, conſtitute, and appoint, the honourable Nathaniel Beckford, John Scott, and Henry Shirley, eſquires, commiſſioners for ſuch purpoſe; hereby authorizing them to proceed with all convenient ſpeed to Charles-Town, in the pariſh of St. George, and there, on any day and hour to be by them the ſaid commiſſioners appointed, to convene all the maroons of the ſaid town, and to permit them to make ſubmiſſion upon their knees, and to receive, in the moſt ſolemn manner, their declaration, that their diſobedience proceeded from no rebellious intent, or deſign of doing any miſchief; and alſo to receive, in like ſolemn manner, their profeſſions of allegiance and fidelity to his majeſty: And, upon theſe things being complied with to the ſatisfaction of the ſaid commiſſioners, they are hereby authorized to aſſure the ſaid maroons of pardon for their paſt offence, and of every protection to their perſons and property:

property: And the ſaid commiſſioners are to make return of the execution of this commiſſion, under their hands and ſeals.

'In witneſs whereof, his honour the lieutenant-governor has hereunto affixed his hand and ſeal at arms, at St. Jago de la Vega, this twelfth day of March, in the thirty-ſixth year of the reign of his moſt excellent majeſty king George the third, and in the year of our Lord God one thouſand ſeven hundred and ninety-ſix.

'BALCARRES.

'By his honour's command,

'J. ALSTON, Sec.

'In obedience to the within commiſſion, we proceeded, on Friday morning the eighteenth day of March, one thouſand ſeven hundred and ninety-ſix, to Charles-Town; where we found all the maroons of ſaid town drawn up in a line, and under arms, with the ſuperintendant at their head: On riding along the line, we were ſaluted by their officers; after which, we ordered the maroons to form a ſemicircle in front of the ſuperintendant's houſe; when this commiſſion was read to them by the honourable major-general Beckford; and on receiving from the maroons, at that time on their knees, their ſubmiſſion, and on their making the declaration mentioned in the within commiſſion, the following oath was read to them by the honourable colonel Shirley, and was repeated and taken b all the maroons, officers and men, then on their knees: "In the name of Almighty God, we the maroons of Charles-Town do, for ourſelves and our children, ſolemnly promiſe and declare, that we will bear true and faithful allegiance to our ſovereign lord king George the third, and to his heirs and ſucceſſors; that we will be ready to defend him againſt all his enemies, with our lives and properties; that we will, on all occaſions, obey with great readineſs the orders of the governor, and the laws of the country; and that we will faithfully fulfil the treaty made with governor Trelawny: All theſe things we ſwear for ourſelves and children, ſo help us God." The maroons having punctually complied with all particulars to our ſatisfaction, we aſſured them a pardon for their paſt offence, and of every protection for their perſons and property. In witneſs of which, we do hereby make this our return to your honour's commiſſion, having faithfully executed the ſame, and in conformity whereof we do certify the ſame, by reſpectively affixing our names and ſeals.

Mr. Stewart, from the committee to whom the petition of James Robertſon, ſurveyor, was referred, reported,

That the committee had taken the ſame into their conſideration, and are of opinion, that a new general map of Jamaica, on the plan propoſed by the petitioner, is much wanted, and, if correctly executed, would manifeſtly tend to the public advantage, in the ſeveral reſpects ſtated in the petition:

That, beſides ſuch general map, the committee are of opinion, that ſeparate maps of the three counties, on a larger ſcale than the general map, would be highly beneficial to the public, inaſmuch as the land cultivated and uncultivated may therein be more particularly aſcertained and deſcribed, and croſs-roads of communication greatly facilitated; both which will

will very materially contribute to the internal ſecurity of the country, and to the progreſſive ſettlement of the uncultivated lands; which cannot fail to encreaſe the population of the iſland:

That the petitioner laid before the committee propoſals on the ſubject, which are annexed, embracing, as they conceive, all the objects herein and in the ſaid petition ſtated; and which propoſals the committee recommend may be received and carried into effect on the terms offered therein.

"It is propoſed, that there ſhould be three maps of the three counties, executed on a large ſcale; and alſo, one map of the whole iſland, on a ſmaller ſcale; which, together, will be a complete ſet of maps of Jamaica;

"That the conſideration-money for this work ſhall not exceed the ſum of 7500*l.* currency;

"That the map of one county ſhall be completed by the petitioner, at his own expence, and then preſented to the aſſembly; and, if it ſhall be found to compriſe all the objects ſtated in his petition, he truſts the aſſembly will be pleaſed to ſecure to him and his heirs one-third part of the conſideration-money, to remain in the hands of the receiver-general on intereſt: That the map of the ſecond county ſhall be completed in like manner as the firſt; and, if approved of by the aſſembly, another third part of the conſideration-money to be ſecured as above-mentioned: That the map of the third county ſhall be completed as the former ones; and, if approved of by the aſſembly, the remaining third part of the conſideration-money to be ſecured as aforeſaid; and the whole ſum to continue in the receiver-general's hands, on intereſt, one or more years longer, as the aſſembly may require. And laſtly, the map of the iſland to be completed in like manner as the others:

"That the petitioner be entitled to the copy-right of theſe maps, in conſideration of the great expences of engraving them, and negro-hire. JAMES ROBERTSON."

And a motion being made, that the houſe do agree to the report;

The houſe divided:

The noes went forth:

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Martis, 19° die Aprilis, 1796.

MR. M'Lean, from the committee appointed to inſpect into the ſtate and condition of the government penn, reported,

That the baluſtrades want ſome repair in colonade and balcony; two ſtalls and two doors wanted to horſe-ſtables; a ridge-board wanted to the roof of dwelling houſe, and ſome little repair to the ſhingles; ſtore-door wants ſome little brick-work over the lintel; three cane-bottom chairs want ſome repair; a new lock wanted to balcony front door:

That the fences are very much out of repair; all the penguins, which cover a conſidera-

ble

A part of the paſtures, from the length of time they have been planted, want to be taken up, the ditches dug deeper and the banks raiſed higher, for replanting the paſtures and making proper fences: The whole expence, with the ſmall repairs wanted to the houſe and buildings, together with cleaning the paſtures, will require the ſum of about 500*l.*

Mr. Vaughan, from the committee appointed to take care of, inſpect, and examine the fort and barracks at Montego-Bay, reported,

That great inconvenience and expences ariſe from the want of water at ſaid barracks, which might be obviated by conſtructing a permanent tank near thereto:

That although a tank of ſuch magnitude is very deſirable, as when once filled it would hold out from ſeaſon to ſeaſon, yet one of leſs dimenſions might be ſufficient, and ſuch an one might be completed for 2000*l.*

That from the circumſtance of a tranquil bay being to windward of the forts, a ſmall party of men might land there by night and ſpike up the guns, whereby the bay would be rendered defenceleſs, and the numerous privateers, which in a manner blockade the port, might cut out or deſtroy the ſhipping therein:

That, by running a line-wall from the marine hoſpital acroſs the paſs to the rocky-cliff, and mounting two guns (which guns are there), that paſs would be ſhut up, and the battery ſecured from nocturnal attempts, and which wall could be built for 355*l.*

That the new battery having been built in great haſte, on the preſſing order of general Williamſon, is in part conſtructed of periſhable materials, and requires to be faced with maſonry; which, if taken in time, may be done for 222*l.* and would render the battery a permanent work, but without which it muſt very ſoon fall into ruin.

Ordered, That the above two reports be referred to the committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

The reſolution moved in the houſe on Wedneſday laſt, that it be an inſtruction to the committee of the whole houſe to whom either of the money-bills ſtand committed, to receive a clauſe for paying to the order of the commiſſioners of the board of works, the ſum of 168*l.* for completing the repairs of the Admiral's penn, having lain three days on the table, agreeably to the rule of the houſe, and being again read, was agreed unto by the houſe.

The report made to the houſe on Wedneſday laſt, from the committee to whom the petition of Mary Watkins, of the pariſh of Weſtmorland, a free mulatto woman, was referred, recommending to the houſe to grant her an allowance of 20*l.* having lain three days on the table, agreeably to the rule of the houſe, and being again read, was agreed unto by the houſe.

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe, upon the bill to oblige the ſeveral inhabitants of this iſland to provide themſeves with a ſufficient number of white men, white women, or white children, or pay certain ſums of money in caſe they ſhall be deficient; and applying the ſame to ſeveral uſes; to protect freeholders on the days of chooſing churchwardens and veſtrymen; and to aſcertain who ſhall be deemed duly qualified to vote at ſuch elections:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Foulks took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Foulks, from the committee, reported, that they had gone through a part of the bill, and had made ſeveral amendments thereto; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table; where being again ſeverally read, were agreed unto by the houſe:

Then Mr. Foulks acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move the houſe for leave to ſit again:

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Mercurii, 20° die Aprilis, 1796.

ORDERED, That the following meſſage be ſent to the council:

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS,

"We are ordered by the houſe to acquaint you, that they have appointed Mr. Grant and Mr. M'Lean, or either of them, a committee to inſpect the journals of your board."

Ordered, That Mr. Grant and Mr. M'Lean be a committee to carry the above meſſage to the council; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

Mr. Murray, from the ſpecial ſecret committee appointed to join a ſpecial ſecret committee of the council, in a free conference on matters of buſineſs of the utmoſt importance to the iſland, reported,

That both committees accordingly met, and his honour the lieutenant-governor's meſſage of the 2d day of March laſt, and the papers therewith ſent; and his honour's meſſage of the 23d March laſt, and the papers therewith ſent; alſo a petition of ſundry perſons known under the denomination of maroons, preſented to the houſe on the 30th day of November laſt; and alſo his honour's meſſage of the 3d day of December laſt, and the petition of the Trelawny maroons then in Kingſton barracks, therewith ſent, were ſeverally read; and that an extract of a letter from his grace the duke of Portland to his honour the lieutenant-governor, to the report annexed, having been laid before the joint committee by his honour, the ſame was alſo read; and that the joint committee having propoſed certain queſtions, in writing, to his honour the lieutenant governor, which queſtions, and his honour's anſwers thereto, are to the report annexed; the joint committee thereupon came to the following reſolutions:

1. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that all runaway ſlaves, who joined the Trelawny maroons in rebellion, ought to be dealt with according to law.

2. That is the opinion of the joint committee, that all perſons of free condition, who joined the rebels, ought to be dealt with according to law.

3. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that the thirty-one maroons who ſurrendered at Vaughansfield, under the proclamation of the 8th of Auguſt, together with the ſix deputies taken up at St. Ann's, having come in before any actual hoſtilities commenced, ſhould be ſent off the iſland, and ſome ſettlement provided for them in another country.

4. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that Smith, Dunbar, and Williams, with their wives and children, and the two boys who came in on the 1ſt of January, are entitled to the benefit of the treaty.

5. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that all the maroons who are confined in Kingſton, Falmouth, and elſewhere, that have petitioned the honourable houſe of aſſembly to be permitted to take the benefit of an act, paſſed in the year 1791, entitled, "An act to repeal 'An act for the better order and government of the negroes belonging to the ſeveral negro-towns, and for preventing them from purchaſing of ſlaves; and for encouraging the ſaid negroes to go in purſuit of runaway ſlaves; and for other purpoſes therein mentioned;' and for giving the maroon negroes further protection and ſecurity; for altering the mode of trial; and for other purpoſes," not having been at any time in rebellion, be allowed to do ſo, according to the prayer of their petition.

6. That is the opinion of the joint committee, that the maroons who petitioned his honour the lieutenant-governor, on the 3d of November laſt (the thirty-one maroons who ſurrendered at Vaughansfield excepted), being alſo guiltleſs of any act of rebellion, be likewiſe admitted to take the benefit of the ſaid act.

7. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that all the maroons who ſurrendered after the firſt of January, and until the 10th day of March laſt (within which period Johnſtone and his party came in), not having complied with the terms of the treaty, are not entitled to the benefit thereof, and ought to be ſhipped off the iſland; but the joint committee are of opinion, that they ought to be ſent to a country in which they will be free, and ſuch as may be beſt calculated, by ſituation, to ſecure the iſland againſt the danger of their return; that they ought to be provided with ſuitable clothing and neceſſaries for the voyage, and maintained at the public expence of this iſland for a reaſonable time after their arrival at the place of their deſtination.

8. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that Parkinſon and Palmer, and all the maroons who came in with them, are entitled to their lives only, but ought to be ſent off the iſland; and as their conduct was marked with aggravated guilt, they ought, in the manner of their being ſent off the iſland, to be dealt with more rigorouſly than thoſe in the claſs mentioned in the preceding reſolution.

9. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that as there may be among the rebels a few who, by their repentance, ſervices, and good behaviour ſince their ſurrender, may have merited protection and favour, that it be recommended to his honour the lieutenant-governor to permit ſuch to remain in the iſland, together with their wives and children; and to diſtinguiſh them by any other marks of favour, as his honour in his diſcretion may think proper.

10. That it is the opinion of the joint committee, that the lieutenant-governor, in complying with the matters mentioned and recommended in the preceding reſolutions, ſhould be fully indemnified at the public expence.

Extract of a letter from his grace the duke of Portland to his honour the lieutenant-governor, referred to in the annexed report, dated Whitehall, 8th January, 1796.

'From the cordiality and zeal with which the militia and the inhabitants in general cooperate with your lordſhip, I have no doubt of your being able to take ſuch meaſures againſt the maroons, as will moſt ſpeedily and effectually tend to their reduction.

'The very defence which, from their local ſituation and other cauſes, they have been able to make againſt a very ſuperior force, renders it eſſential that the iſland, in any terms which may be granted them, ſhould be ſecured againſt the poſſibility of a ſimilar inſurrection.

'This will, I conceive, be beſt effected, firſt, by not reſtoring to them their diſtrict, and, ſecondly, by placing them in ſuch a ſituation within the iſland (if it cannot be done out of it, which would be preferable) as will, from its nature, incapacitate them from contriving further miſchief.'

Queſtions propoſed to his honour the lieutenant-governor, and his honour's anſwers thereto, referred to in the annexed report.

Q. 'Whether general Walpole, upon the ſurrender of Palmer and Parkinſon, and other maroons in their party, had promiſed any thing more than ſafety of their lives?'

A. 'Lives only.'

Q. 'Upon what terms were Harvey and Williams, the two brown men, received, and did they ſurrender in the character of maroons?

A. 'They ſurrendered as maroons, without any ſpecial conditions, and after January 1ſt.'

Q. 'Were the runaways ſurrendered by the maroons, and were they received upon any expreſs terms?

A. 'No runaways have been ſurrendered by the maroons; they came in, in the character of maroons.'

Reſolved,

Reſolved, That the conſideration of the above report be poſtponed until Saturday next.

Mr. Cockburn, from the committee appointed for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts, reported,

That they had examined the petition and account of captain Donald Campbell, of Fort-Montego, for the hire and maintenance of negroes to take care of the barracks at Montego-Bay, and to ſupply the detachment of artillery at the fort with wood and water, from 1ſt June, 1793, to 1ſt December 1794, and from thence to the 1ſt December, 1795; for the hire of a white man to take care of the magazine; and for contingent expences, and are of opinion, that the amount thereof, being 306*l.* 14*s.* 7½*d.* ought to be paid:

That they had alſo examined the account of Mac Intyre and Riddell, ſent down to the houſe, in his honour the lieutenant-governor's meſſage of the 19th April inſtant, being for cart-harneſs and ſaddler's work ſupplied and performed for the ſervice of the royal artillery, in Trelawny, by order of his honour the lieutenant governor, and are of opinion, that the amount thereof, being 36*l.* 8*s.* 9*d.* ought to be paid:

That they had alſo examined the account of George French, ſent down to the houſe in the ſame meſſage, being for blackſmiths work performed for the ſervice of the royal artillery, at the Old-Maroon-Town, by order of his honour the lieutenant-governor, and are of opinion, that the amount thereof, being 46*l.* 5*s.* ought to be paid:

And that they had alſo examined the account of Alexander Grant, ſent down to the houſe in the ſame meſſage, being for the hire of a horſe, chaiſe, and mule, to convey an officer to St. Ann's, by order of his honour the lieutenant-governor, and are of opinion, that the amount thereof, being 15*l.* ought to be paid.

Ordered, That the above report be referred to the committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Mr. M'Lean, from the committee appointed to arrange and ſtate the reſpective items or accounts of produce, from the documents preſented to the houſe by the ſecretary of the iſland, on the 1ſt April inſtant, in purſuance of the order of the houſe of the 9th March laſt, reported,

That the committee had inveſtigated, ſtated, and arranged the ſame, and find, there are 606 ſugar-plantations and other properties, under the direction of 193 attornies of abſentees, mortgagees, and truſtees in poſſeſſion, guardians and receivers, or their co-attornies, &c. the annual produce whereof is 76,843 hogſheads and 3987 tierces of ſugar, and 35,891 puncheons of rum, which, at a valuation of 40*l.* per hogſhead, and 20*l.* per puncheon, including the ſales of ſtock and other articles, amount to the ſum of 4,022,466*l.* whereon commiſſions are chargeable by law at the rate of ſix per cent. and produce an income of 241,347*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.* on which the committee are of opinion, a tax ought to be laid of ten per centum, in order to raiſe the ſum of 24,134*l.* in aid of the public taxes.

Ordered,

Ordered, That the above report be referred to the ſame committee that brought it in, to be re-conſidered.

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Murray took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Murray, from the commitee, reported twelve reſolutions; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table, where being again ſeverally read, were agreed unto by the houſe, and are as follows:

1. That it be recommended to the houſe to ſend a meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, expreſſing the grateful ſenſe the houſe entertain of his honour's anxiety to ſecure the perſons of the maroons, and requeſting his honour to order ſuch arrangements as he may think proper, for the ſafe cuſtody of the maroons, and the ſubſiſtence of them and the guards doing duty over them, and aſſuring his honour that the houſe will make good the expence thereof.

I am to requeſt your lordſhip's attention to the ſtate of the accompts of the 20th regiment of light dragoons, between this country and the iſland of Jamaica.

Your lordſhip, I preſume, is in poſſeſſion of the ſeveral official documents relative to that regiment; in particular, a letter from my predeceſſor to ſir Adam Williamſon, dated the 4th September, 1792; my letter to colonel Sanford, of the 3d November, 1794, a copy of which was tranſmitted in one of the ſame date to ſir Adam; and ſir Adam's anſwer to me, dated the 13th January laſt: Colonel Sanford is alſo prepared to give your lordſhip any requiſite information on the ſubject.

It appears, that although the orders from hence were very explicit, for the appropriation of the whole balance due each half-year from the iſland, on account of the 20th regiment of dragoons, to the ſubſiſtence of the other corps ſtationed therein, a few partial payments only have been made on the latter account; and that, at the end of laſt year, there remained in the hands of the receiver-general, the ſum of 10,398*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* ſterling, which ought to have been remitted to this country, on account of the 20th regiment of dragoons, through the medium of the ſubſiſtence for the infantry in Jamaica.

I am not aware of any poſſible reaſon for not diſtributing ſuch balance, regularly at the end of each half-year, among the corps of infantry, except perhaps the unwillingneſs of the regimental regimental paymaſters to receive the ſame, when their bills of exchange on London bore a high premium; and I muſt requeſt, that your lordſhip will cauſe his majeſty's orders on this head to be punctually attended to in future, or that you will ſtate the impediments which prevent the execution of them.

Your lordſhip will obſerve, in the correſpondence referred to, another point of ſome moment, which ought to be ſettled; namely, the exceſs of the forage accompt beyond the proviſion made for it on the eſtabliſhment: That proviſion was calculated at the rate of ſubſiſtence in this country for the dragoon horſes, and as it proves to be inadequate to the maintenance of the horſes in Jamaica, there can be no doubt but that, after taking credit for the 8½*d. per diem*, ſterling, for each horſe borne on the eſtabliſhment, the iſland is to make good the exceſs in the coſt of forage, in like manner as it provides for other local contingencies; and that the ſaid exceſs is not chargeable againſt the balance in the hands of the receiver-general, excluſive of the ſpecial fund above-mentioned; ſuch balance being finally applicable to the purpoſes of the recruiting ſervice of the 20th dragoons, and to the various other articles of expence occurring in this country, as ſtated in ſir George Yonge's diſpatch of the 4th September, 1792.

I have the honour to be, MY LORD, your lordſhip's moſt obedient humble ſervant,

W. WINDHAM.

The earl of Balcarres, &c. &c. &c. Jamaica.

SIR, War-Office, 3d November, 1794.

Having been prevented, by the extraordinary preſſure of public buſineſs, from giving you, before you left England, my ſentiments on the ſeveral matters you had ſubmitted to my conſideration, I now take the firſt opportunity in my power, to acquaint you with my determination thereupon:

The lieutenant-governor of Jamaica has been already informed, that the propoſal for putting the 20th light dragoons upon the ſame eſtabliſhment, in point of officers, as the reſt of the cavalry, could not with propriety originate here; but that, as the change would be of real benefit to the ſervice, it could not fail, if acceded to by the iſland, to meet with his majeſty's approbation: To this I have to add, that ſuppoſing the legiſlature of Jamaica to have no objection to the additional expence, and only to have adhered to the preſent eſtabliſhment, from a deſire of not ſuggeſting an alteration in what has had the king's ſanction, the commander in chief is now the proper perſon, for obtaining and communicating his majeſty's commands relative thereto to general Williamſon:

Upon the next point, the mode of paying the ſubſiſtence of the non-commiſſioned officers and private men, I have to obſerve, that your regiment is exactly on the ſame footing, not only with all the forces in the leeward iſlands, but alſo, as I conceive, with thoſe in Jamaica, ſo far as reſpects the effectives on the ſpot. At all events, I am clear that government would not approve of advancing the ſubſiſtence here, to be replaced at diſtant and uncertain periods, when no parliamentary proviſion has been made for the purpoſe; nor could it in reaſon be required of Jamaica, to bear the expence and riſk of remitting what has been agreed to be received within the iſland:

The third article reſpects the charge of forage for the horſes, which, in my opinion, the iſland is bound to provide for, when it exceeds the fund aſſigned on the regimental eſtabliſhment; viz 8½*d.* a-day ſterling, for the horſe of each non-commiſſioned officer and private man (the half-penny per diem for the farrier being deducted.) It does not appear to me, that the letter of my predeceſſor, dated the 4th September, 1792, has done away the claim of this country for the maintenance of the regiment in that reſpect, more than in many other contingent circumſtances, wherein the iſland bears the charge; and I ſhould therefore hope, that upon a proper repreſentation from the lieutenant-governor to the houſe of aſſembly, no further difficulty will be found on this head: I agree with you in thinking, that that the eaſieſt and moſt equitable mode of ſettling the buſineſs will be, that, from the annual ſum of 13,556*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* ſterling, amount of the whole eſtabliſhment, the receiver-general of the iſland ſhould retain the ſum of 3878*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* ſterling, being the amount of the forage-fund for one year, to be applied in aid of forage which ſhould be furniſhed for the effective horſes, at the expence and under the direction of the iſland, in ſuch mode as they ſhall think moſt adviſable:

It is unneceſſary for me to ſay any thing on the means of recruiting the regiment, it being a matter for the conſideration of the commander in chief, from whom I make no doubt you have received the requiſite information and inſtructions.

I ſhall tranſmit a copy of this letter to general Williamſon, in order that he may take ſuch ſteps as are neceſſary thereupon.

I have the honour to be, SIR, your moſt obedient humble ſervant,

W. WINDHAM.

Lt. colonel Sanford, 20th light dragoons, Jamaica.

Two meſſages from his honour the lieutenant-governor, by his ſecretary, as follows:

Firſt meſſage.

"MR SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe, a copy of a letter from the deputy ſecretary at war, addreſſed to his honour.

'MY LORD, War-Office, 20th March, 1796.

'I have the honour to be, &c. &c. &c.

(Signed) 'M. LEWIS.

"I am

" I am alſo commanded to inform the houſe, that the eighty men, ſo turned over to the 20th light dragoons, were taken by the enemy on their paſſage, and carried into Guadaloupe; and that, as ſoon as the war-office were apprized of this unfortunate circumſtance, the 20th light dragoons were again completed with recruits, who are daily expected to arrive in Jamaica."

Ordered, That the above meſſage do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

Second meſſage.

" MR. SPEAKER,

" I am commanded by his honour the lieutenant-governor to lay before the houſe, the memorial of captain Innes, commanding one of the companies of the black ſhot: And his honour ſubmits the ſame, as alſo the general ſtate of that company, to the conſideration of the houſe.

' JAMAICA, ſſ.

' To his honour the lieutenant-governor and commander in chief,

' The memorial of GEORGE INNES, of the pariſh of Trelawny, in the county of Cornwall, and iſland aforeſaid,

' Humbly ſheweth,

' That your memorialiſt's chief occupation, by which he has heretofore been accuſtomed to make a very ample livelihood and income, is that of a ſurveyor of land; in which employment your memorialiſt had, by his induſtry and application, acquired many reſpectable friends, and had a fair proſpect of ſucceeding to the utmoſt of his wiſhes:

' That your lordſhip (in conſequence of a meſſage from the houſe of aſſembly, recommending the raiſing of two black companies) having expreſſed to colonel Robert Bell a wiſh that James M'Ghie, eſquire, ſhould be the captain of one of theſe black corps, and colonel Bell having communicated to Mr. M'Ghie the tenor of a letter from your lordſhip to the colonel, written ſome little time before the 3d October laſt, by which it appeared that the eſtabliſhment of officers was to be one captain, two lieutenants, and one enſign, to each corps, that the officers were to be allowed Britiſh pay, and were to receive half-pay if the corps ſhould be reduced or diſbanded:

' That upon Mr. M'Ghie's application and recommendation to your memorialiſt, in conſequence of ſuch letters from your lordſhip, and from colonel Bell, your memorialiſt was induced to ſolicit an appointment in one of the ſaid corps, and by the recommendation of the members of aſſembly of the ſaid pariſh of Trelawny, procured from your lordſhip a lieutenancy, and afterwards a commiſſion as captain in the ſaid corps:

' That your memorialiſt, in conſequence of ſuch appointment, has been obliged to abandon his ſaid profeſſion and occupation of a ſurveyor, greatly to his prejudice; and has continually, ever ſince his appointment, done his duty with the corps, regularly, faithfully, and ſtrictly:

' That your memorialiſt has not only been at conſiderable expence for his commiſſions, uniform, arms, and various other matters of that kind, but, finding that no proviſion was made for furniſhing the corps with rations and neceſſaries, your memorialiſt hath alſo been put to conſiderable expence on theſe accounts, and is daily riſking his credit for ſuch proviſions and neceſſaries, in the hopes of being fully reimburſed:

' That your memorialiſt has lately underſtood, that ſuch corps are about to be diſbanded, and is perfectly ignorant as to the proviſion, if any, intended to be made, or recompenſe to be allowed to your memorialiſt, or the officers of the corps, for their ſervices:

' That, in how far your memorialiſt has ſuffered, and is likely to ſuffer, from ſuch appointment, may be calculated or eſtimated from the expence your memorialiſt has already been been at for his commiſſions, arms, and accoutrements, ſupplying the corps with rations and neceſſaries, and chiefly from the loſs he has ſuſtained in his profeſſion, and that which he is likely to ſuſtain in conſequence of his having abandoned it for ſuch a length of time.

'Your memorialiſt therefore humble prays for ſuch relief in the premiſes, as to your lordſhip ſhall ſeem meet, and according to equity and good conſcience.

'And your memorialiſt ſhall ever pray, &c.

'Martha-Brae, 12th April, 1796."

Ordered, That the above meſſage and memorial be referred to Mr. Stewart, Mr. Hodges, Mr. Mathiſon, Mr. Vaughan, and Mr. Quarrell; that they enquire into the allegations therein ſet forth, and report the facts, with their opinion thereon, to the houſe.

Then the houſe adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine of the clock.

By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Veneris, 22° die Aprilis, 1796.

THE engroſſed bill to oblige the ſeveral inhabitants of this iſland to provide themſelves with a ſufficient number of white men, white women, or white children, or pay certain ſums of money in caſe they ſhall be deficient, and applying the ſame to ſeveral uſes; to protect freeholders on the days of chooſing churchwardens and veſtrymen, and to aſcertain who ſhall be duly qualified to vote at ſuch elections, was read the third time:

And a motion being made, that the ſaid bill do paſs;

A debate thereon ariſing, and the queſtion being put;

It was reſolved in the affirmative.

Mr. Shirley, from the commiſſioners of the board of works, reported,

That, finding the great advantages reſulting from contracting for lumber and iron-mongery, they did laſt year advertiſe that they were ready to receive propoſals for renewing ſaid contracts; but owing to the uncertainty of the times, the high price and ſcarcity of lumber, they were not able to accompliſh the ſame; which diſappointment has occaſioned much difficulty to the commiſſioners, and has increaſed the contingent expences conſiderably.

That, in conſequence of this diſappointment, they have delayed building the balcony at the eaſt end of the barracks at Port-Royal, and balcony on the north ſide of the ſoldiers barrack at Stony-Hill.

That all the repairs and additions propoſed in their laſt report to be done, have been completed, but inſtead of erecting a canteen for the artillery barracks at Port-Royal, they have purchaſed and paid for one.

That, in addition to the repairs and alterations mentioned in their laſt report, they have been under the neceſſity of ordering the ſhed-barracks at Fort-Auguſta to be joiſted and floored, at an expence of 928*l.* 10*s.* and of laying out 600*l.* on the government mountain, and 300*l.* by order of the houſe of 30th September laſt, on the admiral's pen.

That, according to their annual practice, they appointed a committee of their board to viſit the different barracks and public buildings, in conſequence of which they have to propoſe to the houſe the repairs, &c. ſet forth in the account annexed, marked A.

That, by the alteration No. 11, A, the public will ſave 120*l. per ann.*

That the ſeveral repairs ſtated in account A, will require a ſum not exceeding 3015*l.*

That the houſe allotted for the commanding officer of the troops, from time to time quartered at Fort-Auguſta, is a wooden building, on the outſide of the fort, and has coſt more in repairs than it is worth: That quarters allotted for the officers ſtationed there are not ſufficient for the uſual complement of officers to a regiment: That a meſs-room is wanted there, alſo an iſland ſtore, the apartment now uſed as ſuch being very old and damp, inſomuch that a great part of the ſtores are deſtroyed; nor is it of ſufficient dimenſions to contain the ſtores expected: Wherefore, they have cauſed the ſurveyor of the public works to lay before them a plan of a new building to anſwer the foregoing purpoſes, the expence of which is eſtimated at a ſum not exceeding 4800*l.* which they recommend to the houſe to grant.

That they have endeavoured, by every means in their power, to keep up and repair the gaol in Kingſton, but find it abſolutely neceſſary to build a new one; for which they recommend it to the houſe to grant a ſum not exceeding 7000*l.*

That they are of the ſame opinion they were laſt year, in regard to the very decayed ſtate of the barracks occupied by the 20th regiment of dragoons; but the new barrack in Spaniſh-Town being now finiſhed, and its being the pleaſure of his honour the lieutenant-governor to order the ſaid regiment to occupy one of the floors of the ſaid new barrack, they recommend it to the houſe to cauſe the theatre to be delivered up to its owners.

That, in conſequence of the petition of John Butter, carpenter, who contracted for building the new barracks in this town with the commiſſioners of forts and fortifications, on the 25th June, 1792, they appointed a committee to enquire into the merits of ſaid petition, whoſe report the board have agreed to, and annex a copy thereof, recommending to the houſe to order payment to the ſaid John Butter, of the ſum of 2805*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.* according to ſaid report, marked D.

That, in conſequence of an act, paſſed the 30th September laſt, entitled, "An act for extending the juriſdiction and powers granted to certain commiſſioners in and by an act entitled, 'An act to appoint certain commiſſioners for the better carrying into execution the ſeveral ſeveral appropriations made, or to be made, for the uſe of the buildings belonging to the public, and the barracks in the towns of Saint Jago de la Vega and Kingſton, and at the Apoſtles-Battery, Port-Royal, Fort-Auguſta, Rock-Fort, and Stoney-Hill;' and for other purpoſes," a board was held at Montego-Bay, for the purpoſe of erecting barracks and other buildings at the maroon-towns, an account of which is hereto annexed, marked B.

That they alſo annex to this report, a general account, marked C, of the expenditure of monies granted by the houſe to the order of the commiſſioners, whereby it will appear that, on the 22d day of April inſtant, there is a balance of 7797*l.* 18*s.* 2½*d.* in the receiver-general's hands, applicable to their order and ſubject to the therein ſtated demands, which amount to 3529*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.* That therefore, if the houſe are of the ſame opinion with the commiſſioners, and approve of erecting a new barrack at Fort-Auguſta, and building a gaol in Kingſton, the ſum of 10,547*l.* 0*s.* 1½*d.* will be required for the ſervice of the public.

That, by a reſolution of the houſe, paſſed in the ſeſſions of 1793, the repreſentatives of the different pariſhes were authoriſed to appoint perſons for taking care of the different barracks capable of receiving troops, but to which no captains were appointed; which authority, the commiſſioners are of opinion, ſhould be veſted in them, in conſequence of the late act extending their juriſdiction; therefore recommend it to the houſe, to transfer the ſaid authority to appoint, to the commiſſioners, with power to place and diſplace as they ſhall ſee cauſe.

Copy report on J. Butter's petition, referred to in the annexed report,

Your committee to whom the petition of John Butter was referred, have examined the ſeveral accounts exhibited by him, on oath, for the purchaſe of lumber, ironmongery, and negro labour, for performing his contract, entered into with the commiſſioners of forts and fortifications, on the 25th June, 1792, and do find, that he has ſuſtained a loſs of 1986*l.* 18*s.* 10*d.* for the particulars before mentioned, excluſive of 538*l.* 10*s.* for the carriage of lumber; and alſo 120*l.* for the ſalary of an aſſiſtant, and 160*l.* for his own labour, making in the whole, the ſum of 2805*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.* all which they are opinion, ought to be paid.

Ordered, That the above report be referred to the committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Mr. M'Lean, from the committee to whom the report made to the houſe on Wedneſday laſt, from the committee appointed to arrange and ſtate the reſpective items or accounts of produce, from the documents preſented to the houſe by the ſecretary of the iſland, on the 1ſt of April inſtant, in purſuance of the order of the houſe of the 9th of March laſt, was referred to be re-conſidered, reported,

That they had inveſtigated, ſtated, and arranged the ſame, and find there are 606 ſugar-plantations, and other properties, under the direction of one hundred and ninety three attornies of abſentees, mortgagees, and truſtees in poſſeſſion, guardians and receivers, or their co-attornies, &c.; the annual produce whereof is 76,843 hoſheads and 3987 tierces of ſugar, and and 35,891 puncheons of rum; which, at a valuation of 40*l.* per hogſhead, and 20*l.* per puncheon, including the ſales of ſtock and other articles, amounts to the ſum of 4,022,466*l.*; whereon commiſſions are chargeable by law, at the rate of ſix per centum, and produce an income of 241,347*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.*

Ordered, That the above report do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland:

Mr. Speaker left the chair.

Mr. Murray took the chair of the committee.

Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair.

Mr. Murray, from the committee, reported five reſolutions; which he read in his place, and delivered in at the table; where being again ſeverally read, were agreed unto by the houſe, nem. con. and are as follows:

1. That it be recommended to the houſe to appoint a committee to prepare an humble addreſs to his honour the lieutenant-governor, congratulating him on the happy and complete termination of the rebellion of the Trelawny maroons, an event in every point of view in which it can be contemplated, pregnant with ſubſtantial benefit and ſalutary conſequences to the country, reſtoring tranquillity, re-eſtabliſhing public credit, augmenting the value of property, increaſing and confirming internal ſecurity and ſtability; and which, by the opportunities it has afforded his honour of diſplaying his energy and fortitude of mind, impreſſes the houſe with the moſt perfect aſſurance, that the zeal, ardour, and activity, manifeſted in his lordſhip's military operations in the field, has only been equalled by the ſound policy and deciſive meaſures which mark the wiſdom of his councils in the cabinet:

Ordered, That Mr. Grant, Mr. Shirley, and Mr. Cuthbert, be a committee for that purpoſe.

2. That it be recommended to the houſe to direct the receiver-general to remit the ſum of ſeven hundred guineas to the agent of the iſland, for the purpoſe of purchaſing a ſword to be preſented to the right honourable Alexander earl of Balcarres, as a teſtimony of the grateful ſenſe which the houſe entertain of his diſtinguiſhed ſervices, diſplayed both in the field and cabinet, and under whoſe auſpices, by the bleſſing of Divine Providence, a happy and complete termination has been put to a moſt dangerous rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons; whereby the general value of property, as well as ſecurity of the iſland, have been highly augmented:

Ordered, That a copy of the above reſolution be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor.

3. That it be recommended to the houſe to requeſt Mr. Speaker to preſent the thanks of the houſe to the honourable major-general Walpole, for the ſignal ſervices performed by him to this iſland, in the late rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons.

4 That it be recommended to the houſe to direct the receiver general to remit to the agent of the iſland, five hundred guineas, for the purpoſe of purchaſing a ſword to be preſented to the honourable major-general Walpole, as a teſtimony of the grateful ſenſe which the houſe entertain of his important ſervices, and diſtinguiſhed merit, in the ſuppreſſion of the late rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons.

5. That it be recommended to the houſe to requeſt Mr. Speaker to give the thanks of the houſe to the brave officers and privates of the regulars and militia, for their gallant ſervices to the iſland during the late rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons; and that the commander in chief, under whoſe auſpices they fought, be requeſted by Mr. Speaker to communicate the high ſenſe which the houſe entertain of their diſtinguiſhed merit.

Then Mr. Murray acquainted the houſe, that the committee had directed him to move the houſe for leave to ſit again:

Reſolved, That this houſe will again, to-morrow, reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Mr. Chief-Juſtice, in his place, moved for leave to bring in a bill for further continuing an act, paſſed in the year 1792, entitled, "An act for the eaſe and relief of jurors and ſuitors of the ſupreme and certain other courts within this iſland," which was received, and read the firſt time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time this day.

The houſe adjourned for a quarter of an hour;

And being met,

The bill for further continuing an act, paſſed in the year 1792, entitled, "An act for the eaſe and relief of jurors and ſuitors of the ſupreme and certain other courts within this iſland," was read a ſecond time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be engroſſed, and that the title be, An act for further continuing an act, paſſed in the year 1792, entitled, "An act for the eaſe and relief of jurors and ſuitors of the ſupreme and certain other courts within this iſland."

Then the houſe adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine of the clock.

By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Sabbati, 23° die Aprilis, 1796.

THE engroſſed bill for further continuing an act, paſſed in the year 1792, entitled, "An act for the eaſe and relief of jurors and ſuitors of the ſupreme and certain other courts within this iſland," was read the third time:

Reſolved,

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill do paſs.

Reſolved, That the conſideration of the report from the ſpecial ſecret committee appointed to join a ſpecial ſecret committee of the council, in a free conference on matters of buſineſs of the utmoſt importance to this iſland, be further poſtponed until Wedneſday next.

Mr. Mathiſon, according to order, preſented to the houſe a bill for making free and rewarding a negro man ſlave named Cudjoe, belonging to Hall, of the pariſh of Trelawny; a mulatto man ſlave named Billy, belonging to Montpelier eſtate, in the pariſh of St. James; and a negro or ſambo man ſlave named Jonathan, belonging to Belvidere eſtate, in the pariſh of Hanover; and alſo for granting annuities to William and François, the reputed ſons of a negro man named Cato, lately belonging to Samuel Vaughan, eſquire, killed by the rebellious maroons; in conſideration of the ſervices rendered to the public by the ſaid ſlaves reſpectively, during the late rebellion, which was received, and read the firſt time:

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time this day.

Mr. Shirley, from the committee appointed, in the year 1793, to collect and reviſe the minutes of the houſe, from the earlieſt records of its proceedings, and to cauſe the ſame to be printed under their inſpection, after the manner of the Journals of the Houſe of Commons, reported,

That the early journals of the houſe being in many places defective, and it appearing from a report made to the houſe in the year 1715, that thoſe defects could not be ſupplied in this country, the committee, conſidering it a deſirable object to be accompliſhed, directed Alexander Aikman, on his departure for England, to make the neceſſary enquiry at the plantation-office, Whitehall; where, in conſequence, he diſcovered many of the ancient minutes of the houſe, and other intereſting documents tending to elucidate the conſtitutional hiſtory of the iſland: He was aſſiſted in his enquiries by Mr. Bryan Edwards, late a member of this houſe, who being converſant in reſearches of that nature, has made an offer of his ſervices to ſuperintend the ſelection and tranſcription of ſuch papers as may be neceſſary, the houſe defraying the expence of copies, which will not exceed the ſum of 200*l.* ſterling: The committee therefore recommend, that the ſaid ſum be granted to their order for that purpoſe:

Reſolved, That the houſe do agree to the report.

Mr. Cockburn, from the committee appointed to examine the ſtate and condition of the Botanic Garden in Liguanea, reported,

That, on Sunday the 3d inſtant, they proceeded to the garden for that purpoſe, and having requeſted doctor Broughton to accompany them, they found, on their arrival, that this gentleman had been there for three days previous to their appointment, employed in examining every plant mentioned in the catalogue which he has favoured the public with: This valuable collection appeared to be kept in the beſt order, and the committee deſiring the opinion of doctor Broughton reſpecting the ſame, he ſtated his thoughts to them as annexed: Your committee having obſerved the deficiency of ornamental plants and ſhrubs, found that the orders given to Mr. Wiles required, that he ſhould devote his time to the propagation of the greateſt poſſible number of uſeful trees and plants for public diſtribution; a great number of theſe have, in conſequence, been diſtributed, and ſome regulations were propoſed propoſed by doctor Broughton, which, if adopted by the ſtanding committee for the care of the Botanic Gardens, will greatly facilitate the further propagation and ſucceſs of our late valuable acquiſitions:

That the committee have enquired into the conduct of Mr. Wiles, and are fully ſatisfied with it.

Thoſe which have occurred on an examination of the preſent ſtate of the Botanic Garden, in Liguanea, and on the advantages which already have been, and are likely to be, derived from ſupporting that eſtabliſhment.

When the country firſt purchaſed the garden in Liguanea, it contained a great number of uſeful trees and ſhrubs, collected from all parts of the world, alſo a great variety of ornamental plants, which were ſo blended as not only to gratify the botaniſt, but the lover of horticulture in general: Since that period, the garden ſeems to have been conſidered rather as a nurſery of exotic trees and ſhrubs; and, in conſequence of the introduction of a great variety of theſe from the South Seas and other parts of the world, the time and care of the ſuperintendant has been employed in propagating them for public diſtribution, and the ornamental part of the garden has not been particularly attended to; this, however, may eaſily be remedied, ſuch plants being moſtly herbaceous annuals, that are readily propagated by ſeed, which may be procured from London at a very trifling expence; and, by a little attention, the ſtock of plants may eaſily be kept up. Whether the houſe of aſſembly will allow a ſmall ſum of money for that purpoſe, or whether they may think the liberal ſalary allowed to their ſuperintendant, enables him to do it, muſt be left to the committee to determine.

Since the firſt eſtabliſhment of the Botanic Garden, in 1794, ſome thouſands of plants have been diſtributed in different parts of the iſland; ſuch as bread-fruits, jaacks, cinnamon, camphor, faſſafraz, ſago, black pepper, long pepper, Guinea pepper, mangoes, Otaheite apples, gum arabic, mangoſteens, olives, tea, &c. &c. beſides a number of leſs uſeful plants; however, notwithſtanding this diſtribution, many people have been diſappointed in their expectations, and have made public complaint of a want of attention to and neglect of their orders for plants: This ſeems chiefly to ariſe from the preſent mode of diſtributing plants, and may be eaſily remedied by the committee, were they to reſolve on ſome meaſure, of which the following propoſals might form the baſis:

1. That all orders given for plants be dated, and that the perſon receiving the ſame be requeſted to forward them to the Botanic Garden, there to remain for one month at leaſt, previous to the plants being ſent for.

2. That ſuch perſons be requeſted at the ſame time they forward the order, to mention whether the plants are intended to be tranſplanted in this country, or to be ſent to ſome other part of the world; if the latter, it ſhould be requeſted, that baſkets, pots, or tubs, ſuch as may be proper, ſhould be forwarded at the ſame time with the order.

3. That the ſuperintendant of the garden be directed to give in to the committee, once in the month, an account of all orders ſent for plants, by whom, and to whom given, and how far he has been enabled to comply with ſuch orders: That, at the ſame time he render in to the committee, an account of all ſuch plants as have, during that time, either been purchaſed or preſented to the garden, and by whom.

From regulations ſomewhat ſimilar to the above, an eſtimate may be made of the advantages which the country has and may, in all human probability, derive from ſuch an eſtabliſhment, and I have not the leaſt doubt in aſſerting that it will continue ſtill to deſerve the eulogium which has been paſſed on it by a great literary character, to whoſe zeal the Weſt-India iſlands, and Jamaica in particular, are much indebted: "I have (ſays he, in a letter to a friend) peruſed the catalogue of plants growing in the Botanic Garden in Liguanea, lately lately published by order of the houſe of aſſembly with great ſatisfaction; it exhibits ſuch a liſt of rare and valuable plants as were never before collected together in any garden in the Weſt-Indies; the noble eſtabliſhment, and the liberal manner in which it is ſupported, will ever reflect infinite honour on the country."

Ordered, That the above report do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

The houſe being informed, that the receiver-general attended at the door, he was called in, and at the bar, preſented to the houſe, according to order, an order, dated "Montego-Bay, March 14th, 1796," ſigned by "Leonard Parkinſon, J. L. Winn, and J. Cunningham," in favour of Sarah Williams, for the ſum of 502*l.* 10*s.*

And then he withdrew:

The ſame being read, is as follows:

' That your memorialiſt, as iſland engineer, is allowed 10*s. per* day for his ſalary, and 10*s. per* day for his travelling expences:

' That ſince making of ſuch proviſion for the iſland engineer, three new forts have been put on the iſland eſtabliſhment, and your memorialiſt has been ordered to take the ſame under his inſpection:

' That your memorialiſt gave unremitting attendance at the Trelawny maroon-town, during the late martial law, under your lordſhip's orders; which, though within the line of your memorialiſt's duty, he humbly conceives was an extraordinary call on him, and whereby he was put to an extraordinary expence:

' That, from the heavy charges in travelling, your memorialiſt finds that, to execute his duty with that ſtrictneſs that the nature of his office requires, by frequently viſiting the forts and fortifications round the iſland, that 10*s. per* day is inadequate, and for which Thomas Craſkell, eſquire, a predeceſſor of your memorialiſt, was allowed 600*l. per annum:*

' That your memorialiſt, being aware of the heavy calls on the public at this juncture, does not ſolicit recompenſe or indemnification for extraordinary ſervice or expence, but has to intreat that your lordſhip will recommend to the honourable houſe of aſſembly to take into conſideration, whether the preſent allowance to the iſland engineer be adequate to the duties of ſuch appointment: And further, to grant unto your memorialiſt ſuch relief for the future, as your lordſhip, or the honourable houſe of aſſembly ſhall deem proper.

' And your memorialiſt ſhall ever pray, &c.

' W. FRAZER, iſland engineer."

Ordered, That the above meſſage, and memorial therewith ſent, be referred to the committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Ordered, That the following meſſage be ſent to the council:

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS,

"We are ordered by the houſe to acquaint you, that they have agreed to the report made by the chairman of their ſpecial ſecret committee, appointed to join a ſpecial ſecret committee of your board, in a free conference on matters of buſineſs of the utmoſt importance to this iſland."

Mr. Shirley, from the committee appointed to ſuperintend the Botanic Gardens, the property of the public, during the receſs of the aſſembly, reported,

That, from the general ſucceſs of the bread-fruit trees imported from the South Seas (as well thoſe which were depoſited under their direction, as thoſe diſtributed by their orders in the ſeveral pariſhes of this iſland), the ſpeedy propagation of this additional ſource of ſubſiſtence, appeared of ſufficient importance to the committee, to induce them to recommend it particularly to the attention of Mr. Wiles, under whoſe care numbers of bread-fruits have been raiſed and delivered: There are now ninety plants ready, and there will ſoon be one hundred more; and as ſuckers begin to ſpring from the plants entruſted to various individuals on their firſt arrival, the committee have ordered that theſe ſhall be diſpoſed of, under the direction of the cuſtos and repreſentatives in aſſembly of the reſpective pariſhes, where they are or may be produced: An advertiſement has been publiſhed to that effect, and to give notice of the regulations neceſſary to be attended to in future for the more general ſucceſs of the plants: Some valuable acquiſitions have been made to the collection in the Liguanea Garden; correſpondences have been eſtabliſhed for the introduction of whatever may be conſidered of importance, in the botanic line, from different parts of world; and Mr. Wiles has been authorized to import ornamental ſeeds and plants, to an amount not exceeding 20*l.* ſterling; and we owe to the patriotic exertion of Mr. Beckford, a plant of the true nutmeg: The committee have examined Mr. Wiles's account of contingent expences for negro clothing, ſalt proviſions, tools, carriage, &c.

to 31ſt December laſt, amounting to 201*l.* 9*s.* 3*d.* in reduction of which he has credited the price of ſome coffee gathered, and ſold for 86*l.* 5*s.* and the ſum of 26*l.* 5*s.* for the hire of negroes belonging to the garden, whom he employed at times when their labour was not neceſſary there; theſe credits reduce the account to 88*l.* 19*s.* 3*d.* which is charged in the annexed ſtatement of the expence for 1795, amounting to 714*l.* 16*s.* 9*d.* which leaves a balance of 85*l.* 3*s.* remaining out of the ſum of 800*l.* granted laſt ſeſſion of aſſembly.

Since drawing up the above, a letter has been received from Mr. Wiles, by which it appears that, inſtead of ninety bread-fruits, there are now one hundred and thirty ready for diſtribution.

The engroſſed bill to amend an act, paſſed in the year 1758, entitled, "An act to aſcertain and eſtabliſh the boundaries of Trelawny-Town, and to ſettle and allot one thouſand acres of land for Accompong's Town, and to aſcertain the boundaries thereof;" and to appoint certain commiſſioners to ſell the lands granted to the Trelawny maroons, with a reſervation of ſo much thereof as may be neceſſary for the uſe of the troops to be quartered there, was read the third time:

The engroſſed bill for making free and rewarding a mulatto man ſlave named Ben, otherwiſe called Benjamin Blake, the property of John Rogers, of the pariſh of Weſtmorland, planter; alſo a negro man ſlave named Bacchus, the property of Mary Lewis, of the ſaid pariſh; and for paying the value of the ſaid ſlaves, was read the third time:

Reſolved, That the ſaid bill do paſs.

Ordered, That the following meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor:

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

"We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to requeſt that you will be pleaſed to poſtpone the ſailing of the packet until Monday ſe'nnight."

Ordered, That Mr. Cuthbert and Mr. Woolfrys be a committee to wait on his honour with the above meſſage; and alſo to carry the above engroſſed bills to the council, and deſire their concurrence thereto; who returning, reported the delivery of the bills; and that, in anſwer to the meſſage, his honour was pleaſed to ſay, he would comply with the requeſt of the houſe.

Mr. Cockburn, from the committee appointed for ſtating and ſettling the public accounts, reported,

That the committee had examined the account ſent down to the houſe in his honour the lieutenant-governor's ſecond meſſage of the 8th April inſtant, being for the expences of making new carriages for four braſs field-pieces attached to the Kingſton regiment, performed, by order of his honour, by ſundry perſons, under the direction of Nicholas Lechmere, eſquire, ordnance-ſtorekeeper amounting to the ſum of 712*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*: That the committee had been informed by lieutenant-colonel Ramſey, of the royal artillery, that guns of that kind might be mounted in England for 30*l.* ſterling each; and, having examined the iſland engineer and ſundry other perſons on the ſubject, are of opinion, that the ſum of 100*l.* currency for each carriage is an ample allowance, and that the ſum of 400*l.* ſhould be paid to the ſaid Nicholas Lechmere, eſquire, for the uſe of the perſons who had been employed in making the ſaid carriages:

That they had alſo examined the account ſent down to the houſe in his honour's meſſage of the 20th April inſtant, for the hire of the ſchooner Mercury, from meſſieurs Atkinſon, Mure, and Bogle, for three months and twenty days, employed in the public ſervice, and are of opinion, that the amount thereof, being 308*o*/. ought to be paid:

That they had alſo examined the account ſent down to the houſe in the ſame meſſage, for lodging-money for the officers of the 13th regiment light dragoons, at Black-River, amounting to 72*l.* 15*s.* 3*d.* which the committee are of opinion, ought not to be paid; as they were informed, formed, by one of the repreſentatives for St. Elizabeth, that there are ſufficient and commodious barracks at Black-River:

That they had alſo examined the account ſent down to the houſe in his honour's meſſage of the 26th April inſtant, being for work done and performed by the artificers and men of the royal artillery in the public ſervice, amounting to 54*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* which they are of opinion ought to be paid:

That they had alſo examined the account ſent down to the houſe in the ſame meſſage, being for the paſſage of twelve privates and four women of the 13th regiment of light dragoons to Black-River, amounting to 27*l.* 10*d.* which they are of opinion ought to be paid:

That they had alſo examined the account of William Duncan, ſent down to the houſe in the ſame meſſage, being for the loſſes and damages of a ſulky and harneſs preſſed by lieutenant-colonel Gould, amounting to 16*l.* 10*s.* which the committee are of opinion ought not to be paid:

And that they had alſo examined the petition and account of Alexander Aikman, printer to the houſe, being for ſundry printer's work done by order of the houſe and in the public ſervice, and are of opinion that the amount of the ſaid account, being 3737*l.* 17*s.* 11*d.* ought to be paid.

Mr. M'Lean, from the committee to whom the petition and account of John Fry, of the pariſh of St. Catherine, architect, were referred, reported, that they had taken evidence as to the allegations contained in the ſaid petition, and are of opinion, the petitioner ſhould be paid the amount of the account annexed thereto, being 238*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*

Ordered, That the above two reports be referred to the committee of the whole houſe to enquire into and take further into conſideration the ſtate of the iſland.

Mr. Shirley, from the ſpecial committee to whom his honour the lieutenant-governor's meſſages of the 19th and 20th inſtant were referred, reported,

That they agree with his honour the lieutenant-governor, that, when his majeſty was pleaſed to concede to the wiſhes of the aſſembly, by ſending a regiment of cavalry to this iſland, he was pleaſed to do ſo under ſpecific terms and conditions reſpecting their eſtabliſhment; and that the aſſembly, by their meſſage of the 5th day of May, 1792, did accede to all the conditions required, but they do not ſee from thence the propriety of the houſe taking into conſideration the papers No. 1, 2, and 3, by way of ſtatement and elucidation of the charges prior and ſubſequent to the new eſtabliſhment of that regiment, for the following reaſon:

That the committee find, in the minutes of the ſeventh ſeſſion of the preſent aſſembly, that, on the 30th of October, 1792, his honour the lieutenant-governor (ſir Adam Williamſon) was pleaſed to ſend to the houſe a meſſage, recommending to their conſideration the copy of a letter from the ſecretary at war, by order of his majeſty.

This letter, dated War-Office, 4th September, 1792, ſays, that, for the more convenient arrangement of the accounts, his majeſty has been pleaſed to order, that the eſtabliſhment of the whole corps ſhould be conſidered as commencing from the 25th June, 1792, and that

Great-Britain is entitled to receive, from the iſland of Jamaica, the amount of the eſtabliſhment of the 20th dragoons; viz. 13,556*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* ſterling:

In conſequence of which, the ſecretary at war directs the lieutenant-governor how to apply this money; and adds, that he hopes that this plan will prevent all confuſion or loſs in adjuſting the accounts of the regiment:

That the committee find alſo, that the houſe, in anſwer to this meſſage from the lieutenant-governor, did, on the 20th day of December, 1792, ſend to his honour a meſſage, containing an engagement to provide the ſum of 13,556*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* ſterling, per annum, in full for the amount of the eſtabliſhment of the 20th light dragoons, from the 25th June, 1792, the ſaid ſum including the ſubſiſtence for the men and horſes; provided the number of men and horſes is kept up to the original eſtabliſhment of the regiment:

And that the committee are of opinion, that this new arrangement, propoſed by government and acceded to by the aſſembly, revokes the firſt arrangement, made in conſequence of Mr. Secretary Dundas's letter of the 7th January, 1792, ſent down to the houſe by ſir Adam Williamſon:

And, in order to prove that ſuch their opinion is founded on the opinion of the then commander in chief, council, and aſſembly, they beg leave to ſtate to the houſe, that, on the 10th May, 1792, an additional poll-tax bill paſſed the legiſlature, whereby it was provided, that the commiſſioners for ſettling the public accounts be authorized to contract for forage for a time not exceeding twelve months, that the receiver-general ſhould pay 19,711*l.* 19*s.* 5*d.* currency, for the pay and ſubſiſtence of colonel Gardner's regiment for one year; deducting from the ſaid ſum, at the rate of 8½*d* ſterling per day each man, being the ſum allowed for forage; the ſum of 2451*l.* 15*s.* currency for horſe furniture and accoutrements, at the rate of 5*l.* 16*s.* 9*d.* ſterling per man; the ſum of 6000*l.* towards the purchaſe of horſes for the ſaid regiment; and the ſum of 7200*l.* for the ſubſiſtence of the horſes of the ſaid regiment:

From whence it is evident, that the aſſembly was of opinion, that the allowance made in Great-Britain for forage would not be ſufficient in this iſland; that they underſtood that, in conſequence of their meſſage of the 5th May, 1792, they were bound to fulfil the conditions required, and to which they had acceded; and that, in conſequence thereof, they provided for the ſame by this additional poll-tax law:

That the committee alſo find, that, in conſequence of ſir Adam Williamſon's meſſage of the 30th October, 1792, and of the aſſembly's anſwer of the 20th December, 1792, it was ſo well underſtood that the firſt arrangement was done away, that, in the poll-tax law paſſed on the 21ſt day of December, 1792, it was enacted, that the ſeveral grants of 19,711*l.* 19*s.* 5*d.* of 2451*l.* 15*s.* and of 7200*l.* made in the additional poll-tax law, paſſed the 10th day of May, 1792, be repealed, revoked, and reſcinded; and that the receiver-general was directed to pay to the order of the commander in chief the ſum of 13,556*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* ſterling, in full for the eſtabliſhment of the light dragoons for one year:

That the committee therefore finding the firſt agreement reſcinded, and the ſecond eſtabliſhed by the conſent of the governor, council, and aſſembly, are of opinion, that any account relating to the eſtabliſhment of the 20th light dragoons ought not to become an object of conſideration for the houſe:

That

That the committee have alſo to report their opinion on the ſubject of his honour's meſſage of the 19th inſtant; they find that, on the 10th day of December, 1794, the houſe ſent a meſſage to ſir Adam Williamſon, that, if his majeſty would be pleaſed to augment the number of the officers of the 20th light dragoons, the houſe would provide for the additional expence thereof: And the committee find, that, in the deputy ſecretary at war's letter of the 25th December, 1794, the whole eſtabliſhment of the regiment amounts to 15,612*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.* ſterling; and as the houſe has already provided for the ſum of 13,556*l.* 19*s.* 9*d.* ſterling, are of opinion, that the further ſum of 2045*l.* 11*s.* 5*d.* ſterling, ſhould be provided for, from the 25th day of December, 1794.

Reſolved, That the houſe do agree to the above report.

Reſolved, That a meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor with a copy of the ſaid report.

Mr. Grant, from the committee appointed to inſpect the journals of the council, reported,

That, on the 8th April inſtant, a bill entitled, "An act for laying a tax on the importation of certain goods, wares, and merchandiſe, and applying the ſame to the public ſervice," was ſent from the houſe to the council, deſiring their concurrence:

That the ſaid bill was read a firſt and ſecond time, at the board, the ſame day, and ordered to be committed to a committee of the whole board:

That, on the 21ſt inſtant, the board reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole board on the ſaid bill; and, after ſome time ſpent therein, the board was reſumed, and the honourable Mr. Lewis, from the committee, reported, that they had gone through the ſaid bill, without making any amendment:

That the queſtion was then put, Whether the ſaid bill be read a third time, and carried in the negative; whereupon, the board reſolved that the ſaid bill be rejected.

Ordered, That the above report do lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

The houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole houſe upon the humble addreſs to his honour the lieutenant-governor:

8. That it be recommended to the houſe to direct a clauſe to be inſerted in the poll-tax bill for paying the ſum of 3737*l.* 17*s.* 11*d.* to the order of Alexander Aikman, printer to the houſe, in full of his account for printing laws, &c. annexed to his petition to the houſe this ſeſſion.

9. That it be recommended to the houſe to ſend a meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, informing him, that, after the experience of four years, it has been found that regular cavalry are not calculated for the defence of the iſland in any proportion adequate to the expence incurred in defraying their eſtabliſhment; which expence, from the very heavy preſſure of the public debt occaſioned by the maroon rebellion, this iſland is at preſent unable to continue; and requeſting that his honour will be pleaſed to notify, to his majeſty's ſecretary of ſtate for the colonies, that this houſe cannot provide for the 20th regiment of light dragoons longer than until the 25th day of June, 1797.

Then Mr. Murray acquainted the houſe that the committee had directed him to move the houſe for leave to ſit again:

A debate thereon ariſing, and the queſtion being put;

It paſſed in the negative.

Then the houſe adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine of the clock.

☞ By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Veneris, 29° die Aprilis, 1796.

THE engroſſed addreſs to his honour the lieutenant-governor was read, in the words following:

" Jamaica, ſſ.

" To the right honourable ALEXANDER earl of BALCARRES, lieutenant-governor and commander in chief of this his majeſty's iſland of Jamaica, and the territories thereon depending in America, chancellor and vice-admiral of the ſame,

" THE HUMBLE ADDRESS OF THE ASSEMBLY.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We, his majeſty's dutiful and loyal ſubjects the aſſembly of Jamaica, beg leave to offer to your honour our moſt ſincere and cordial congratulations, on the happy and compleat termination of the rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons.

" This great and important event muſt be productive of ſubſtantial benefits and ſalutary conſequences to the country, in every point of view in which it can be contemplated:

" Tranquillity and the enjoyment of our civil rights are reſtored:

" Public credit, ſo eſſential to the ſupport of Government, and to the proſperity, if not to the very exiſtence, of the country, is re-eſtabliſhed, and our internal ſecurity greatly increaſed and confirmed:

" From all theſe ineſtimable advantages, we look forward with confidence to the augmentation of the value of property, which is likely to take place; and which, in time, we truſt will compenſate all the loſſes and expenditure of treaſure unavoidably incurred in the proſecution of the war:

" It is with peculiar ſatisfaction and gratitude we acknowledge the lively impreſſion made on us by the energy diſplayed by your lordſhip in difficult operations of war; which afford the moſt convincing proof, that the zeal, ardour, and activity, manifeſted in your military conduct, have only been equalled by the ſound policy, and deciſive meaſures, which marked the wiſdom of your councils."

Reſolved, That the ſaid addreſs do paſs.

Ordered,

Ordered, That the four following meſſages be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor:

Firſt meſſage.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to acquaint you, that, having an humble addreſs to preſent, they deſire to know when you will pleaſe to be attended."

Second meſſage.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to lay before you the copy of a report from a ſpecial committee to whom your honour's meſſages to the houſe, of the 19th and 20th inſtant, were referred, and to which report the houſe have agreed."

Third meſſage.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to acquaint you, that, after the experience of four years, it has been found that regular cavalry are not calculated for the defence of the iſland, in any proportion adequate to the expence incurred in defraying their eſtabliſhment; which expence, from the very heavy preſſure of the public debt occaſioned by the maroon rebellion, this iſland is at preſent unable to continue; and requeſt that your honour will be pleaſed to notify, to his majeſty's ſecretary of ſtate for the colonies, that the houſe cannot provide for the 20th regiment of light dragoons longer than until the 25th day of June, 1797."

Fourth meſſage.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to lay before you the copy of a reſolution of the houſe of yeſterday."

Ordered, That Mr. Grant and Mr. Campbell be a committee to wait on his honour with the above meſſages; who returning, reported the delivery thereof, and that his honour, in anſwer to the firſt meſſage, was pleaſed to ſay, at four of the clock in the afternoon, tomorrow.

Reſolved, That the following meſſage be ſent to his honour the lieutenant-governor:

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to lay before your honour, their reſolutions reſpecting matters of the utmoſt importance to this iſland."

Ordered, That the following meſſage be ſent to the council:

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS,

" The houſe having agreed on a meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, we are ordered to lay the ſame before your honours, and to deſire your concurrence."

Ordered, That Mr. Murray and Mr. Wedderburn be a committee to carry the above meſſage, and alſo the meſſage to his honour the lieutenant-governor, to the council; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

Mr.

Mr. Quarrell, from the committee to whom the letter of the marquis del Real Socorro, concerning the the light-houſe mentioned in the papers ſent down to the houſe in his honour the lieutenant-governor's meſſage of the 5th March laſt, was referred, reported,

That they had taken the opinions of many of the moſt reſpectable maſters of veſſels, now in the harbour of Kingſton, on the ſubject; from which it appears, that it would be of infinite ſervice to the trade and navigation of Great-Britain, if a light-houſe was erected on the eaſt end of the Grand Camanas, where his majeſty's frigate the Convert went on ſhore, with ſeven or eight valuable merchantmen: That the committee have no doubt that, if the erecting of ſuch light-houſe is determined upon by government, the Spaniſh council of the Havannah will readily, on their ſide, recommend light-houſes to be built on Cape-Antonio and Point Jacko:

As for any arrangement with regard to the defraying the expences thereof, by a tax on all ſhips navigating in theſe ſeas, or of a mutual intercourſe of commiſſioners appointed for the management of the light-houſes, between England and Spain, in the event of a war, the committee are of opinion, that this can only be done in Europe, and therefore they beg leave to recommend to the houſe to direct the committee of correſpondence to write to the agent on the ſubject, and to inſtruct him to lay before his majeſty's miniſters the great importance of three ſuch light-houſes.

Mr. Stewart, from the committee to whom the memorial of George Innes, of the pariſh of Trelawny, ſent down in his honour the lieutenant-governor's ſecond meſſage of the 21ſt inſtant, was referred, reported,

That they had enquired into the allegations therein ſet forth, and do find, that, in purſuance of a meſſage, of the 30th September laſt, of this houſe, to his honour the lieutenant-governor, recommending the raiſing of two companies of ſlaves, by purchaſing them of their owners, to conſiſt of fifty men each, to be commanded by white officers, and to be encouraged by a promiſe of freedom in caſe of their behaving faithfully, which would be of great ſervice for quelling the rebellion of the Trelawny-Town maroons; and that, if his honour approved of the meaſure, this or any future aſſembly would provide for the expence thereof; that his honour did, by letter to colonel Bell, of the Trelawny regiment, dated on or about the 3d October laſt, intimate that the eſtabliſhment of officers was to be one captain, two lieutenants, and one enſign, to each corps; that the officers were to be allowed Britiſh pay, and were to receive half-pay if the corps ſhould be reduced or diſbanded; and that captain Innes, by the recommendation of colonel Bell, was induced to ſolicit an appointment in the ſaid corps, and, by the recommendation of the members of aſſembly for the ſaid pariſh, procured from the commander in chief a lieutenancy, and afterwards a commiſſion as captain, in one of the corps ſo propoſed to be raiſed: And that the ſaid captain George Innes has, in conſequence thereof, been put to a conſiderable expence for his commiſſions, uniforms, arms, and other neceſſary matters; and, in conſequence of no proviſion being made for the ſupport of the corps to which he was attached, after the termination of martial law, he was obliged, at his own perſonal riſk and credit, to provide the ſaid corps with rations and other neceſſaries; but as the memorial does not ſpecify the particulars ſupplied by him, nor any account appearing annexed to it of the amount of pay and the neceſſaries furniſhed, for which he prays to be reimburſed, the committee cannot aſcertain the ſum which he may be entitled to receive, but recommend that the commiſſioners of accounts ſhall be directed to receive and paſs ſuch accounts as he may produce, well authenticated, and which they ſhall order the receiver-general to pay, in full of his demands againſt the public.

A meſſage from the council, by their clerk, as follows:

"MR. SPEAKER,

"I am commanded by the council to inform the houſe, that, agreeably to their meſſage of this day, they have appointed a committee of three of their board, to join a committee of the houſe, to wait upon his honour the lieutentant-governor with the joint meſſage immediately."

Then the houſe adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine of the clock.

☞ By virtue of an order of the houſe, I do appoint Alexander Aikman to print theſe Votes, and that no other perſon do preſume to print the ſame.

W. BLAKE, Speaker.

Sabbati, 30° die Aprilis, 1796.

MR. Speaker reported, that the houſe had attended his honour the lieutenant-governor, and preſented their addreſs; to which his honour was pleaſed to return an anſwer, of which Mr. Speaker ſaid he had, to prevent miſtakes, obtained a copy; and the ſame being read, was ordered to be entered, and is as follows:

"MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

"Your addreſs excites in my boſom every ſenſation of pleaſure the mind of man is capable of receiving.

" The picture you have drawn of the future proſperity of the iſland is ſtrong and impreſſive.

" After contemplating the unavoidable calamities of war, a ſentiment ariſes grateful and ſoothing to a feeling heart:

" That, during your conteſt with an enemy, the moſt ferocious that ever diſgraced the annals of hiſtory:

" That, during your conteſt with an army of ſavages, who have indiſcriminately maſſacred every priſoner whom the fortune of war had placed in their power, no barbarity, nor a ſingle act of retaliation has ſullied the brightneſs of your arms.

" I pray that the energy, the vigour, and the humanity, which you have ſo honourably diſplayed, may deſcend to your children, and ſecure to them for ever thoſe bleſſings which you have hitherto enjoyed, under the mild and happy government of the illuſtrious houſe of Hanover."

A meſſage from his honour the lieutenant-governor in council, by the clerk of the council, who brought down the writ of election for the pariſh of Vere; which, with the provoſt-marſhal's return thereto, being read, it appeared that Dutton Smith Turner, eſquire, was returned a repreſentative for the ſaid pariſh, in the room of Richard Batty, eſquire, deceaſed.

Firſt meſſage.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to requeſt that you will be pleaſed to give orders for attaching, as pioneers, the ſeveral negroes raiſed in Trelawny for a black corps, to the different forts in this iſland, excepting ſuch as the owners are willing to take back."

Second meſſage.

" MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR,

" We are ordered by the houſe to wait on your honour, and to acquaint you, that, if you ſhould think proper to diſmount the 20th regiment of light dragoons, the houſe will direct the receiver-general to diſpoſe of the horſes belonging to the ſaid regiment."

Ordered, That Mr. Oſborn and Mr. Fitch be a committee to wait on his honour with the above two meſſages; who returning, reported the delivery thereof.

Mr. Speaker laid before the houſe, a letter he had received from his honour the lieutenant-governor, addreſſed to the ſpeaker and gentlemen of the aſſembly; which being read, was ordered to be entered, and is as follows:

" MR. SPEAKER, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

" The preſent you have made to me, by your unanimous reſolution of the 22d inſtant, is ineſtimable:

" A ſoldier's honour, with emblem and emphaſis, is placed in his ſword; and I ſhall tranſmit your precious gift to my poſterity, as an everlaſting mark of the reverence, the attachment, and the gratitude I bear to the iſland of Jamaica.

Mr.

Mr. Murray, according to order, preſented to the houſe a bill to prevent the return to this iſland of the rebellious maroons of Trelawny-Town, ſentenced to tranſportation; and for other purpoſes, which was received, and read the firſt time.

Ordered, That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time, this day.

I do hereby certify, that doctor James Walker has carefully and diligently attended the priſoners in Kingſton gaol, and adminiſtered medicines to the ſick, giving them every neceſſary their ſeveral caſes required, by which I believe the lives of many of them have been ſaved.
H. FRASER, D. M.

We have examined the different prices charged in the above account, and do find them to be the uſual prices at which negroes are ſupplied with medicines; and we are of opinion, that the charges are ſuch, that doctor Walker could not have ſupplied them for leſs.
